

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

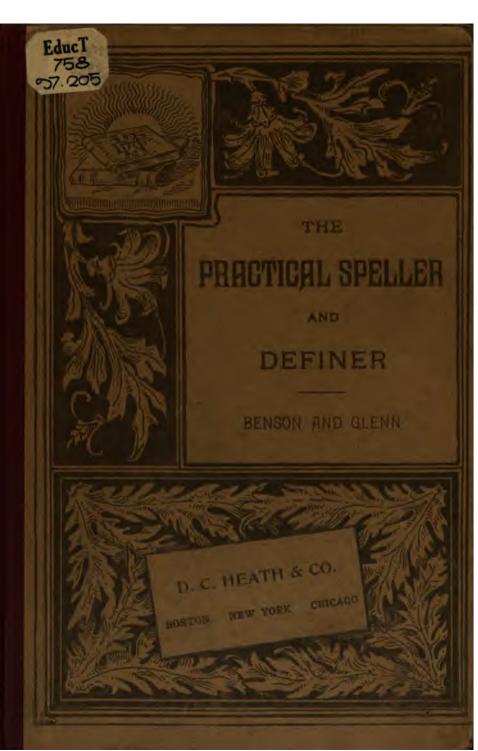

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at http://books.google.com/

HARVARD COLLEGE LIBRARY

GIFT OF THE
GRADUATE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

• .

SEVEN HUNDRED SPELLING AND DEFINING LISTS

THE PRACTICAL SPELLER

AND

DEFINER

BY

B. K. BENSON AND F. A. GLENN

D. C. HEATH & CO., PUBLISHERS BOSTON NEW YORK CHICAGO

Educt 758,97,205

MANYARD COLLEGE LIBRARY
GIFT OF THE
GRADUATE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
21 329

COPYRIGHT, 1897, By D. C. HEATH & CO.

IE8

PREFACE

THE alphabetical arrangement of the words in a dictionary makes gradation impossible; hence the failure of the dictionary as a book for classes.

This book is graded with respect to the difficulties in acquiring words; namely:

I. Difficulty in Pronunciation.

Its correct sound is the less important form of a word; wherever no greater difficulty exists, the work is graded in difficulty of pronunciation.

II. Difficulty in Spelling.

Its letters, in their exact succession, constitute the second, and, to the scholar, the more important of the two forms of a word; hence, the grading has greater regard for spelling than for pronunciation.

III. Difficulty in Definition.

The definitions are simpler than the words defined; difficult words are defined before they are used in definition. The content of a word is its meaning. The chief purpose of the book is to teach the pupil the uses of words; to assist this purpose the words are grouped according to laws of association:

1. The law of similarity.

Words of nearly synonymous meaning, and words with some common relationship, are defined in groups, and with illustrations showing differences in usage. (See Lessons 13, 103, 208, 346, 408, 522, 633, 718.)

2. The law of contrast.

Words of opposite meaning are grouped; their contrast is shown in their definitions. (See Lessons 35, 116, 269, 371, 414, 590, 670, 714.)

3. The law of description.

The noun is preceded by an appropriate adjective, that the definitions of both may be reënforced. (See Lessons 1, 113, 258, 370, 403, 532, 693, 701.)

4. The law of suggestion.

The words of a lesson are so arranged that, when read downwards, they suggest a complete sentence. (See Lessons 29, 161, 201, 301, 465, 567, 696, 716.)

The book rejects colloquial words, scientific and other technical terms rarely used, words too simple to require study, and many derivatives whose meanings are known as soon as their primitives are known. The remaining words—the most serviceable words—are retained, and are divided into lessons of but ten words each. The arrangement and gradation will enable the pupil, in four years of pleasant work, to incorporate the great body of the English language into his own vocabulary.

KEY TO THE PRONUNCIATION

Long Vowels 5, as in day			Shor	SHORT VOWELS a, as in ba		ba t
ē,	66	she	ĕ,	46	bet
ī,	66	high	· Y ,	44	bit ō,	"	no	ŏ,	44	hot
ũ,	66	due	ŭ,	44	hut
莩,	66	by	ў,	44	lynx

OTHER SOUNDS OF THE VOWELS

a, as in care	$8 = \mathbf{A}$, as in there ä, " arm	$\underline{\mathbf{e}} = \mathbf{\bar{a}}, \mathbf{fete}$
å, " ask	$I = \delta$, "machine
a, " talk	$\mathbf{a} = \mathbf{o}$, "what 50, " food	0, " nor ŏo, " foot	$\mathbf{v} = \mathbf{v}$
oo unmarked = ti, as in blood	o = ŭ
1, as in sir	ų, " rude
ē, " her	ų, "full
ý, " myrrh	û, "burn

THE ACCENTED SYLLABLES

At the end of an accented syllable, any unmarked vowel is long, as in ma'son, me'ter, mi'ner, mo'ment, mu'sic, my.

In an accented syllable ending in a consonant, or consonant sound, the unmarked vowel is short, as in bat'ter, bet'ter, bit'ter, blot'ter, but'ter, re lapse', in tense', etc.

Exception

Before r in the same syllable $\begin{cases} \text{unmarked } \mathbf{a} = \mathbf{\tilde{a}}, \text{ as in } arm \\ \text{``} & \mathbf{e} = \mathbf{\tilde{e}} & \text{``} & her \\ \text{``} & \mathbf{i} = \mathbf{i} & \text{``} & sir \\ \text{``} & \mathbf{u} = \mathbf{\hat{u}} & \text{``} & burn \\ \text{``} & \mathbf{y} = \mathbf{\tilde{y}} & \text{``} & myrrh \end{cases}$

SYLLABLES NOT ACCENTED

Any unmarked vowel, which is itself an unaccented syllable, has an obscure sound, as a in $a \ glow'$, e in $e \ vent'$, o in $p \ ar' o \ dy$, u long in $reg'u \ lar$, etc.

At the end of an unaccented syllable the unmarked vowel or diphthong has an obscure sound, as in ma chine', pe ruse', di lūte', ro bust', mas'cu līne (obscure long u), and in the terminations y, ly, ley, etc. Within an unaccented syllable, ending in a consonant sound, the unmarked vowel, when rapidly uttered, has its obscure sound, as in la'bor er, fa'vor, fa'tal, etc. If the full and slow utterance be given, the vowel has a more distinct sound.

SILENT VOWELS

Unmarked e is silent at the end of a monosyllable or syllable containing another vowel, as in therefore, hope, strive, etc., and in any word made by adding s or d to such monosyllable or syllable, as hopes, hoped, strives, etc.

Unmarked e is silent at the end of the syllables ble, cle, dle, fle, gle, ple, etc., and of their forms made by adding s or d, as in multiple, manacles, mangle, bundled, etc.

Diphthongs and triphthongs take the sound of the marked vowel, all the others being silent.

beauty=buty, search=serch, courage=curage, guide=gid, rein=ran.

```
ai
     unmarked = \bar{a}, as in straight 66 ау
                             hay 46 eу
         46
66
                 = ee. " beach
ea.
         66
                    after r or s = u, as in drew, sewer, etc.
ew
         66
                    after all consonants except r and s = \overline{u}, as in few, dew, etc.
AW
         "
                    after r = u in rude, rule, etc.
11
         66
                 = 5, as in road, load, oar
04
                 = us, as in studious, e nor mous, etc.
OUS
                 = aw in fawn, au in haul au j ou.)
                 = ou in foul, ow in foul ow J
```

x = gz

```
unmarked = oi in oil, oy in boy
O¥ ia
                   beginning a syllable = ya, ye, etc., as in pon iard, io
                     pos til ion, in gen ious, etc.
ie
```

MARKED CONSONANTS

```
e, hard, as in cat
                                                 c, soft, as in face eh, hard, as in chasm
                                                 ch = sh, as in chaise
G, g, hard, as in get Ġ, ġ, soft, as in age s = z, as in ease
                                                 su = shu
                               su = zhu
th, soft, as in then n = ng, as in linger, link unmarked
                              is hard before a, o, u 66
        c
                              is soft
                                             e, i, y
                   44
        C
                              is hard at the end of a syllable ch as in chain
                              is hard before a, o, u
        g
                              is soft
        g th
                              as in thin
                              as in when wh
        рh
                            = f gu
                            = gw
                   66
        gue
                            = 2 46
         qu
                            = kw
                   "
                            = k que
```

When unmarked, the syllables

```
tion attention
sion tension cean ocean = shun or shan, as in cian patrician cion suspicion ssion possession, admission
sion = zhun, as in erosion
ceal
cial = shul or shal, as in \begin{cases} official \\ martial, etc. \end{cases} sial
tial
```

tien = shen tian = chun cient, sient, tient = shent

Either g or k before n in the same syllable is silent, as in sign, gnat, known, etc.

Unless otherwise noted, the digraph gh is silent, as in fraught, sigh, etc. See Slough, 78 and 222.

Consonants in italics are silent, as wreck, herb.

THE

PRACTICAL SPELLER AND DEFINER

-

1

Chub'by, short and fat.

in'fant, a baby.

po lite', having good manners; nice and kind.

pu'pil, a schoolboy, or schoolgirl; one who is taught by another bon'ny pretty; as, a bonny girl.

maid'en, a young girl.

grand, great.

he'ro, a brave man; a great man in war.

a'ged, old.

help'māte, a wife; a helper.

2

Na'vy, the war-ships of a country; many ships.

ōar, a kind of wooden blade for rowing boats.chart, a map of the ocean, or of any part of the sea.

har'bor, a safe place, as for ships; a shelter.

beach, the low, sandy seashore, washed by the waves.

sea'port, a safe place for ships; a harbor.

shoal, a shallow place in the sea; shallow water. năr'rōws, a narrow passage between islands or capes.

ves'sel, a ship; a barrel, cup, etc., used for holding water, etc. ca noe' (ca noo'), a kind of small boat.

noo j, a nina or smair

3

Brute, a beast, as a cow, horse, etc.; a beastly person.

kīne, cows.

herd, a number of beasts together; a drove.

swIne, a hog, or hogs.
squab, a young pigeon.
lamb'kin, a little lamb.
fawn, a young deer.
ser'pent, a snake.

ape, a kind of monkey.

asp, a small poisonous snake of Egypt.

4

La'bor, work; toil.

toil. hard labor; work.

serv'ice, work done for another; labor: use.

bur'den, a load; that which is carried or borne; weight. wharf, a bank or platform made for loading ships, etc.

dike, a ditch; a bank to keep out the sea. ware'house, a house where goods or wares are stored.

sam'ple, one of a kind; a piece to show what the whole is like coin, hard money; as, gold coin, silver coin, etc.

mint, a place where gold, silver, etc., are made into coin.

K

Pause, to wait a little; to stop for a while.

hie, to hasten; to go on quickly.

search, to hunt for.

grope, to feel one's way, as in the dark.

trudge, to go afoot; to travel.

whisk, to move quickly; to sweep, as with a small broom.

scud, to run away quickly; to flee.

de lay', ` to wait; to put off. dal'ly, to waste time; to trifle.

tar'ry, to wait; to stay.

Man ly. like a man; not childish. without blame; free from wrong. blāme'less. having no fault; whole; lacking nothing. per'fect. frank. free in speaking one's thoughts; open. grāce'ful, of pleasing movements and manners. beau'te ous. beautiful. right'eous (ri'chus), right in heart; good. meek. not proud; gentle; mild. stur'dy. strong; stout of heart and body. stu'di ous, loving to study.

7

Fear'ful. n aking one afraid; full of fear. a rush forward, as in battle. charge, full of fear or dread; fearful. drĕad'ful. dan'ger, chance of harm or loss. angry; full of anger, as a fierce wild beast. fiērce. en'e my, one who wishes to harm another. stěad'v. not to be shaken: not changing: standing still. cour'age, bravery; boldness. un ceas'ing, not ending; having no pause. din, great noise: unpleasant noise.

Stu'pid. of dull mind; not lively; sluggish. glut'ton (t'n), one who eats too much. foolish; having little sense. sil'ly, boo'by, a dull, stupid fellow. un stĕad'y. not steady: changeable. tip'pler, a drunkard. droll, odd; strange; funny. tricks, etc. buf foon', a low, funny fellow; a man who amuses others by low speech less, not being able to speak. cul'prit, one who has done wrong.

Ω

Foot'man. a man-servant to attend the door, carriage, etc. the driver of a coach. coach'man. pōs til'ion. the rider of one of the horses of a coach. lack'ev. a servant; a footman. hos'tler. one who cares for horses at a public stable. veō'man. a farmer; a sturdy countryman. guīde, one who shows the way, or leads others. one who fishes with rod, line, and hook. ăn'gler, a fool, or buffoon, in a play; a coarse person. clown, clod"hop'per, a plowman; a clown; a rude country fellow.

10

Cut'ler v. tools used for cutting. sa'bre (or sa'ber), a kind of sword used by horsemen. pon'iard. a dagger; a kind of long, sharp knife. lance, a long spear used by horsemen. lan'cet, a kind of knife used by doctors and surgeons. a kind of lancet for bleeding horses. fleam. cut lass, a kind of heavy sword used for cutting. clay more, a large, two-handed, Scottish sword. large scissors. shears, a tool for cutting stone or wood. chis'el.

11

Mal'let. a wooden hammer. môr'tise. a hole chiseled, as in the hub of a wheel. the end fitted for a mortise, as a spoke for the hub. ten'on. sill. a heavy bottom piece of timber in a building. tīre, a rim for a wheel, made of iron, etc. that by which a ship or boat is guided. helm. backbone. the heavy timber at the bottom of a ship; a ship's keel, a spout for emptying a cask or a barrel. fau'cet. spig'ot, a peg to stop a spout or faucet. houses, paving, etc. tīle, a piece of burnt clay, or a broad, thin brick, for covering

Rinse. to wash lightly; to clean by a second or last washing. flag'on. a kind of bottle; a kind of vessel for holding liquor. parboil, to partly cook by boiling. iōwl. the cheek or jaw, as of the hog. [knife. carve. to cut; to cut into pieces; to shape with a chisel or a ven'i son. the flesh of the deer. par tāke'. to take part. rash'er. a thin slice, as of bacon. shâre. to partake with others; to have, or give, part. prov'en der, food for brutes, as hay, corn, etc.

13

Bleat. to cry, as a sheep, etc. bab'ble, to talk idly; to try to talk. squeak. to make a sharp cry, as a mouse, etc. squirm, to twist and wind, as a snake, etc. ģĭg'ġle, to titter; to laugh lightly. from cold. chat'ter. to talk much and rapidly: to strike the teeth together to pant, or catch for breath. gasp, yawn, to gape. gnäsh, to grind or strike the teeth together. fūme, to be hot with anger; to show anger: to smoke.

14

Böll. a pod, as of the cotton-plant, etc. bough. a limb, or branch, of a tree. bulb. a round root, as a turnip, onion, etc. husk, a covering, as of an ear of Indian corn, etc. turf, short, thick grass, and the earth in which it grows. ker'nel. the part of a nut that is within the shell. sprig, a small branch of a larger limb: a little thing. herbs. plants whose stems do not form wood, but die down. sheaf. a bundle of grain in stalks, as of wheat. bole. the trunk, or stem, of a tree.

Mod'est. not proud; not forward or boastful; decent. dwell'ing. a house to live in. co'zy (or cosy), pleasant; nice; warm, as the nest of a bird. cab'in. a small dwelling. nice; very clean. neat. cot'tage. a dwelling nicer than a cabin. rude. rough: coarse: unmannered. shan'ty. a very mean dwelling; a little shelter. not worth much. mean.

out"house', a building near a dwelling, as a barn, stable, etc.

14

to get on a horse: to rise higher; to go up. Mount. to move both legs on a side at once, as a horse; to pace am'ble. scram'ble. to go on all fours; to jostle and push. to stroll; to walk about for pleasure. ram'ble. to live in a place; to dwell. re side'. vis'it. to go to see. to go away; to leave. de part', to go away; to keep away. ab sent'. re turn', to come back. re call', to call back; to bring back to mind.

17

a small piece of meat, as of mutton, pork, etc. Chop, the backbone: a large thorn. spīne, plūme, a pretty feather or bunch of feathers; a quill. coif, a head-dress; a cap; a hood. the skin of the head, on which the hair grows. scălp, wig, a covering for the head, made of real or false hair. the bill of a bird. beak. fang, a sharp tooth, as of a wild boar, serpent, etc. the wool that covers a sheep. fleece, car'cass. the dead body of a brute.

to die for lack of food. Starve. re gāle', to eat nice food in plenty; to feast. pĕr'ish. to die. ex ist', to be; to live. being. to make: to make out of nothing: to bring into cre āte'. to kill; to ruin. de stroy'. com plēte', to end; to finish, as work of any kind. pros'per, to become richer; to grow; to improve. in'jure, to harm; to hurt; to wrong. ward. hin'der, to cause delay; to keep from starting or moving for-Blood"thirst'y, thirsting for blood; wishing to kill. crea'tūres, living beings; things created. jun'gles, thick, tangled woods. to tear in pieces. rend. the hawk is a bird of prey; it preys upon birds; birds prey, anything taken by force: hŏr'rid, fearful; dreadful. are its prey. tal'ons. claws, as of birds of prey. vi'pers, poisonous serpents. in hab'it, to dwell; to live in. fens, swamps; marshes.

18

20

Pon tōōn'. a large flat-bottomed boat in a floating bridge. car'gō, a ship's load. a kind of spear used in catching whales. har poon', the left side of a ship. lar board, star'board. the right side of a ship. a sea robber. show the way for ships. pi'rate, buoy $(bwoy' \text{ or } b\overline{oo}'y)$, a barrel or float anchored near a shoal to hŭlk, the body of a ship; an old vessel. an'ehor, a heavy iron with hooks, for holding ships fast. pen nant, a small flag used on ships.

one to whom property is left. Hêir. that which we breathe. âir. thêre, in that place. belonging to them. thêir. handsome; not dark. fâir. food: price of passage, as on a railway train. fâre, a couple. pâir, a kind of fruit. peâr, a step; a set of steps. stâir, to gaze; to look with fixed eyes. stâre. 22 the handle of an ax, hatchet, etc. Helve, a large nail. spīke, a hollow rod or pipe, as a reed, etc. tūbe, timber, etc. a, fine whetstone. hone. a V-shaped piece of metal or wood used for splitting wedge. a bar or pole used for lifting; a prize-pole. le'ver, steel'yard (steel or stil), a kind of balance for weighing. ing machine, a plow, etc. a little ball or pill. pel'let, something made by man in order to save labor, as a sewma chine', a fastening pin clinched at both ends. riv'et, to delay leaving. Lin'ger, to go on. pro ceed', to come to any place. ăr rīve', to stay. re main', to search for provender for horses or cattle. for'age. to show; to make a show, as troops in full uniform. pa rāde', to move to another country. mī grāte', to go away; to leave through fear of the law. ab scond', to stop business, as a public meeting. ad joûrn', to dwell awhile in a place. so joûrn', Trellis. a kind of framework for vines, etc. lat'tice. a network of slats or rods: a trellis. pan'el. a flat piece in a door or wall, etc. ken'neL a dog-house: a pack of dogs. tun'nel. a passage dug through the earth. flood'-gate. a gate in a dam for letting the water out. Tice. sleigh. a carriage on slides, or runners, for traveling on snow or wind'lass. a machine to lift weights by means of a rope, a crank, etc. hogs'hĕad. a very large wooden barrel. las a mountain range. wa'ter shed, a ridge; a roof; that which divides the rain that falls,

23

25

Moist, damp; wet.

měad'ow, open lowland; grass land.

bleak, cold; not sheltered from the wind.

slope, a hillside; a slant. keen, sharp; cutting.

blast, a strong wind; a puff of wind.
ru'in ous,
drought, long dry weather; want of rain.
having no fruit, as a barren tree.

&'creş (ā'kerṣ), fields. An acre is as great as a piece of land about seventy yards long and seventy yards wide.

26

Tör'rid. very hot.

cli'mate, the heat, moisture, etc., of a place.

vast, very great in size or number.
realm, a kingdom; a country.
home Iv. plain-looking; not pretty.

a part'ment, a room.

peace'ful, quiet; not troubled.
ham'let, a little village.
pa rent'al, belonging to parents.
home'stead, the home; the home place.

Ves'tūre, clothing.

cloth; anything made by man. fab'ric.

garb. dress; clothes. gear, harness; dress.

gar'ment, any one piece of clothing.

lap'pet, a loose part of the clothing, as of the coat, etc. arm'let. a bracelet for the arm: a little arm of the sea.

budg'et, a bag: a stock of goods or of money.

par'cel, a small package.

lug'gage, light baggage of travelers.

28

In'stant ly, at once; now.

to give one thing for another. ex chānģe', odd; strange. queer,

vest'ment, a garment; any covering upon the body.

at tire'.

spotless, without spot or stain.

rōbe, the outer garment; a dress. en vel'op, to wrap up; to cover.

bulk'v. large; great.

con'tents, all that is in anything, as in a bucket, box, etc.

29

Hark. listen.

dole'ful, sorrowful; full of sadness.

moans, sad groans.

sud'den ly. all at once; instantly.

warn, give notice of danger. known. one in a place not known or strange to him; one not stran'ger,

wan'der ing, going about; rambling.

the edge. verge,

aw'ful, dreadful; fearful.

eliff, a steep high rock or hill.

Crest, the top, as of a hill or mountain.

dale, a little valley.

cāve, a hollow place under ground. chink, a narrow opening or crack.

peak, a mountain; the upper part of a mountain.

sum'mit, the highest point, as of a mountain.

for'est, woods; a large wood.
copse, a wood of small trees.
pas'ture, grazing land for cattle, etc.
grange, a farm; a farmhouse.

_ , , ,

De sire', to wish. [telling what to do, etc. in sist', to press strongly, as in speech; to keep on asking or prom'ise, to declare that one will do or give what another hopes for. com plain', to find fault; to speak against.

31

ex plain', to make plain; to make clear to another.

de clâre', to make known; to say, as to declare the truth.

con fess', to own, as to a fault. [or thought about anything. ad vise', to tell what to do or not to do, etc.; to share knowledge re cīte', to tell over; to say again, as a speech.

in struct', to teach; to tell; to advise.

32

Stin'gy, meanly bating to give or spend.

mi'ser, one who saves for the love of money; a mean person.

dôr'mant, sleeping; not watchful; at rest.

slug'gard, a lazy fellow. wea'rv. very tired.

1

slave, a person owned by another.

un hap'py, not happy; full of sorrow or trouble. out'east, one cast out; one driven from home.

shab'by, ragged; mean; low. sot, one often drunk.

hull.

höld,

33

dwellers: those who live within. In'mates. din'gy. stained; soiled, as from smoke, etc. a hut; a small, mean dwelling-house. hŏv'el. gravedigger. one who keeps a church in order; a bell-ringer; a sex'ton. lŏft'y. very high. a tower or place where a bell is hung. bel'fry. hum'ble. not great or proud; modest; lowly. a hotel; an inn; a public house for travelers. tav'ern, merry; full of life; gay. jol'ly, a landlady. hōst'ess. 34 Ca'ble. a large rope.

life'boat,
squall,
barge,
bark,
ship'ment,
voy'age,
bal'last,
a boat for saving life.
a sudden wind: a loud scream.
a large rowboat; a towboat.
samall sailing vessel.
goods shipped by land or water; act of shipping.
a trip or passage by sea.
anything heavy, as stone, sand, etc., placed in the bottom part of a ship to keep it steady.

the body of a ship. [keeping anything. the inside of a ship where the cargo is put; a place for to press; to insist; to push. Urģe, yiēld, to give; to give up. fôr bid'. to order or bid not to do something. con sent', to yield; to be willing. to make angry or sad. dis please', sat'is f₹. to do for, or give, one as much as he wishes. fa'vor, to show kindness to; to help. dis ap point', to fail to do or give something another has hoped for. im plore', to beg; to pray. to yield; to consent; to give. grant,

35

Com mand'. order; lead. (a line of figures: a large post, in the center. cen'tral, such as is used to hold up a col'umn (um), a body of soldiers: to join together. roof, ceiling, etc. u nīte', fast; quickly; swiftly. rap'id ly, to climb by means of ladders; to climb. [to climb. scale, rising sharply; nearly straight up and down; hard steep, in trench'ment, a wall or bank with a ditch; a fort. re tāke'. to take back. bat'ter y, a number of cannon used together.

37

Clum'sy, heavy; unhandy; not moving nicely or quickly; a rough country fellow. poorly made. boor, awk'ward. clumsy; unhandy; of ungraceful movements. a company of soldiers; a few soldiers. squad, ôr'der ly, having good order; quiet. ranks, rows; lines, as of soldiers, plants, etc. order." reg'u lar, by rule; as, "The days follow the nights in regular mo'tion, [as, "Ten cents = one dime." any movement. e'qual, like; like another; of the same size or worth, etc.; val'ūe, the worth of anything.

38

Stream, any running water. cat'a ract, a large waterfall. spray, water flying in small drops, as from a waterfall. ca nal', a large ditch dug for a waterway. rill, a little stream. tŏr'rent, a very rapid stream. sew'er, an underground drain. cis'tern, a large cask for water, either above or under ground. slūice, a narrow, rapid stream, as from a flood-gate. tīde, the regular rise and fall of the waters of the ocean.

Filth'v. dirty; unclean. al'lev. a narrow street. ran'cid. rank; spoiled. o'dor. any scent, or smell. pal'try. worthless; mean. ref'üse. dregs; leavings. brack'ish. saltish. flu'id. anything that flows, as water, etc. pal'lid. very pale.

côrpse, a dead body, as of a man. 40 Leash. a strap or cord for holding dogs, etc. wand, a long rod or staff. teth'er. a long rop with which a horse is tied for grazing. a clasp folded over an iron loop or staple. hasp, caught. las'so. a long rope or strap with which wild horses, etc., are thong. a strap or string of leather. band'age, a band of cloth which binds a wound, sore, etc. ğîr'dle, a belt; a sash. höl'ster. a case for a horseman's pistol. a lasso. lar'i at, a long strap of leather or hide, with a noose at the end;

41

Weigh, to find the weight of something: to think deeply. meas'ure (mezh), to find the size, contents, etc., of anything. gāuge, to measure, as a barrel. deal, to share little by little; to divide. stōw, to lay up; to store away in an orderly manner. gath'er, to get together; to put together. gar'ner. to store, as grain in a barn. glean. to gather what is left, as wheat after the harvest. hoard. to lay up in store: to save without spending, as a miser squan'der, to waste; to spend foolishly.

Un wā'rv. not watchful.

the one who guides a ship; a helmsman. pi'lot, rash'lv. with too great risk.

ad van'ces, goes forward.

dI rec'tion. course; aim; line of advance.

un sāfe', not safe; risky.

reef. a chain of rocks just under the water.

bâre'ly. hardly; scarcely.

a voids'. shuns: keeps away from. ship'wreck. loss of a ship at sea.

43

shot for killing deer. Buck'-shot.

check'-rein. a strap to hold back a horse's head.

fog'-hôrn. a kind of horn or whistle, used to warn ships in fogs.

bill'-head, a printed form for merchants' bills.

let'ter-head, a letter-sheet with a printed form, or heading.

notebook. a small blank book.

clam'-bāke. a baking of clams in the open air by a party.

bird'-seed. small seed used for feeding caged birds. lap'-board. a board used on the lap instead of a table.

light'-wood, wood which gives a bright light; pitch-pine.

Ech'o. the return of a sound. crag, a rough, steep rock or hill.

coast. the seashore.

bil'lōw. a large rolling wave.

breāk'ers. the waves broken by the rocks. Ishape. bowl'der (or boul'der), a large stone washed or worn into a rounded ehasm, a cleft; an opening, as in the earth. cav'ern. a hollow under ground; a cave. cas cade'. a waterfall; a small cataract.

a byss', a bottomless pit; a deep hole or gully.

to wander about : to wander far away. Roam. hov'er. to watch over and guard, as a hen. to dance; to leap; to play. ca'per. to float along; to be driven. drift. plunge. to leap: to thrust: to advance quickly. tack. to change course, as in sailing. to guide, as a boat raship. steer, to change directin; to turn away. veer. to turn suddenly from a straight course; to bend. swerve, shift. to change; to manage.

40

the breaking of the law of the State. Crime, cheating; swindling. fraud. swearing falsely. per'ju ry, stealing. theft. theft of something of little value. lar'ce ny, taking from another by force. rob'ber v. breaking into a house to steal. bur'gla ry, the crime of taking and robbing a ship at sea. pi'ra cy, the crime of house-burning. ar'son. su'i cide, self-murder.

47

to dig; to labor; to work, as at study. Delve, to scatter, as seed. sōw. to pick; to pick out; to gather. cull, to cut and gather, as grain; to get. reap, to fan away, as chaff from the wheat. win'now. to beat, as grain, to free it from chaff; to beat, thresh. to trim; to cut off, as useless limbs of trees. prune, to cut off the outer part; to peel. pâre. to work or press, as dough. knead. to rub into powder with something rough. grāte.

Sly, cunning.

ur'chin, a child; a small boy.

cap'sized, turned over.

cask, a wooden vessel to hold wine, vinegar, etc.

greed'i ly, too rapidly in eating or drinking.

im blbed', drank. ac'id. sour.

bev'er age, any drink, as water, wine, etc.

chas tise', to punish; to whip. mis con'duct. bad behavior.

49

Grov'el (grov'l), to creep; to lie down, as from fear.

fal'ter, to fail; to stop or pause from fear.

al'ter, to change.

sag, to lean, as a post; to sink; to bend; to give way tot'ter, to shake as if about to fall.

wa'ver, to shake; to totter; to falter.
chāfe, to rub; to fret: to make angry.

glide, to flow, or move, gently.
wane, to become less, as the moon.

quake, to shake with cold or fear; to shake.

50

Swift, fast; rapid.

sailing, moving by the use of sails fleets, many ships. skim, glide along. puoy'ant ly (boi), lightly.

sur face, the top, as of water; the outside part. road'stead, a place for ships to anchor in; a harbor.

van'ish ing, passing out of sight. fi'nal ly, at last; in the end.

view $(v\bar{u})$, that which is seen; a sight.

K1

En snâre', to catch, as in a snare or trap. take. to take quickly; to take hold of, as with the hands; to sēize, to place in prison; to shut up; to bind or tie. con fine'. re lease', to let loose; to set free. res'cüe. to take away and set free, as a prisoner from his guard. dis arm'. to take away weapons, as guns, etc.; to weaken. de liv'er. to set free; to release; to get rid of. to get back what was lost: to become well after sickness. re cov'er. re fund', to give back; to repay. wrong-doing. re claim'. to recover, as something lost: to rescue from a life of

52

Ōre, earth or rock that contains metal; earth from the mine. la'va. earth, rock, etc., melted by heat in a volcano. fu'el, firewood; coal; anything used for making fires. fag'ot. a bundle of sticks for firewood. remains of fire; hot coals. cin'ders, em'bers. ashes with fire; coals or wood partly burnt. hearth, a fireplace; a home. kiln (kil), a drying- or burning-place, as a brick-kiln, a lime-kiln, etc. grāte, a frame of bars for a window, fireplace, etc. and'ī rons (īrns), irons to lay wood upon in a fireplace.

53

Be hold', to look; to see. be wâre'. to be wary or careful; to shun; to guard against. to call to mind; as, "I bethought me of my promise." be think'. to speak for beforehand; to show, as by signs. be speak', be troth'. to make a binding promise of marriage. King for help." be tāke', to take or move oneself; as, "He betook himself to the to fit; to suit; as, "It behooves us to study." be hoove'. to happen to one; as, "No harm shall befall the good." be fall', be la'bor. to beat; to strike many times. be stîr', to work or do anything rapidly; as, "The people bestirred themselves to save the city."

Spawn, the eggs of fishes, frogs, etc.

down, soft feathers or hair.

felt, woolen cloth or stuff, for hats, etc.

fur, the soft hair of seals, foxes, and other animals.

ant'ler, the horn of the deer. blub'ber, the fat of the whale.

whey, thin sour milk; the thin part of the milk.

res'in, thickened gum of the pine, etc. pelt, a skin; the skin of a wild animal.

peat, a kind of turf used for fuel.

55

Thrust, to push with force.

pry, to raise with a lever; to look closely.

heave, to lift; to raise; to throw.

ply, to work busily.

tug, to pull hard. [great strength.

strain, to force through, as water through a cloth, etc.: to use grasp, to lay hold of; to seize, as with the hand.

grap'ple, to lay hold, as for wrestling, etc.

wage, to carry on, as war.

buf'fet, to strike with many blows.

KA

Fath'om, six feet; a measure used at sea.

pool, a small body of water; a small pond.

prow, the fore part of a vessel.

seine (sane), a kind of net for catching fish. wreck, a ship ruined, as by a storm, etc.

fount'aïn, a spring; a spout or stream of water, or that which holds it yacht (yot), a pleasure ship.

gard age ropes or cords such as are used on shing côrd'age, ropes or cords, such as are used on ships.

lee, the side opposite the wind.

rud'der, that with which a ship is guided or steered.

Fee'ble, not strong; weak.
riv'u let, a little stream.
de scends', moves downward.

rug'ged, rough, as a mountain, etc.
ra vine', a deep narrow hollow; a gully.

loi'ters, lingers; moves slowly and with pauses.

de'vi ous, winding; crooked.
joûr'ney, passage; travel.
re mōte', distant; far-off.

la goon', a shallow lake or pond.

58

Fôr'mer ly, in times past.

ty'rants, kings who ruled by force, and in their own way.

pos sessed' (zest), held; had; had power over.

en tīre', the whole; all. soil, the land. be stōw'ing, giving.

re wards', gifts for service; payment.

par'ti sans, those who make, or belong to, the party; members.

dis pos sess'ing, taking away from; driving out.

fōes, enemies.

59

to put back; to place again. Re plāce', food. to make fresh again; to give new strength, as by re fresh', re bound', to spring back; to bound back. or strength. to bring to life again; to refresh; to give new life re vīve', re gain', to gain again what was lost. to join after parting: to reply. re join', to keep; to hold; to keep for a longer time. re tain', rē'fôrm", to make or arrange again. to become better; to cease from wrong-doing. re fôrm', re coil', to spring back, as a cannon when fired.

A flow'. flowing. a flāme'. in flames: burning brightly. a stîr'. awake and stirring: moving. a stray'. out of the right road or way: lost. a board'. on board: in a ship, boat, etc. on high; up in the air. a loft'. a miss'. wrong; in fault; lacking. a sun'der, apart : broken or torn apart. a light' (līt), lighted; in the light. a glow'. bright with light; burning.

61

Ti'ny, little: very little. lank, thin; not fat. bux'om. healthy; gay; jolly. sport'ive. playful; full of sport. nim'ble. quick: active. stěad'fast, steady in place; fixed; unshaken. crab'bed. cross; unpleasant in manner. will'ful. stubborn; having one's own way. word'y, full of words; using too many words. mūte. speechless; silent; not able to speak.

62

Shud'der, to shake with fear.

stag'ger, to walk or stand unsteadily; to shake.

mope, to act sleepily; to be dull. lapse, to flow; to fall; to slip.

ca reen', to lay a vessel on one side; to turn on one side, as a ship.

si'dle, to move side; to move side-foremost.

löll, to lean idly; to lie down. daw'dle, to waste time; to trifle.

bask, to lie in a warm or pleasant place, as in the sunshine.

dab'ble, to play in the water, as with the hands.

short: for a short time, as a brief sermon. Brief, not commonly seen; uncommon, as a rare holiday. râre. u'su al. happening often or regularly, as our usual recess. pre'vi ous. before in time, as a previous lesson. quent showers. happening many times; rather more than usual, as frefre'quent, sel'dom. rarely: not frequent. being in plenty; being enough, as a plentiful crop. plen'ti ful, not plentiful; rare; as, "Water is scarce in the desert." scârce, close; solid; thick, as a dense forest. lense. thinly scattered; not dense. sparse,

64

Ăct. to do; as, "Act well your part," to do, as a wrong: to put in charge. com mit', lesson." to aid; to help; as, "No one assisted me with this as sist'. to believe; to hope; as, "I trust you will study well." trust, to trust; to tell, as a secret to a trusted friend. con fīde', re spect', to honor; to think highly of. [help me." to put trust in; to depend upon; as, "I rely on you to re l⊽′, to throw back, as a light from a looking-glass: to think. re flect'. re gret', to be sorry for. fire." to fear; to be afraid of; as, "A burnt child dreads the drĕad.

ak

weak; thin and weak, as cloth. Flim'sv. slug'gish, lazy; moving slowly. not fresh; old, as bread. stāle. pu'trid, rotten; spoiled, as flesh. bloat'ed, swollen, as the body; puffed up. cru'el. fierce; unkind; harmful. bru'tal, like a brute, beastly. lag'gard. slow; lazy; backward. fick'le. changeable; not fixed; not firm. fool"har'dy, foolishly bold; rash.

to shake or best, as milk in making butter. Churn. to steep or boil: to make beer. brew. to cook by boiling, or by hot water almost boiling, seethe. smelt, to melt by heat, so as to get metal out of ore. to drip butter or gravy upon roasting meat. bāste, sim'mer. to boil gently. [them together. weld, to join two pieces of metal by heating and beating crack'le. to make little sharp sounds, as wood when burning. flâre. to give a gleaming or unsteady light. shim'mer. to glitter; to gleam, as a lake in the moonlight.

67

Prof'it, that which is gained in trade, etc. ex pense', cost; charges; money spent. in' come. gain; profit; money coming in. boun'ty. good gifts; great kindness. ben'o fit, kindness; favor; service; use; profit. he therein promises. be quest'. a gift by will or at death. bond, that which binds; a writing which binds one to what bail, a bond for one charged with law-breaking. brīb'er y, hiring one to fail in duty. lending money. pawn, something left with another to make him feel safe in 68

Ö ver tāke'. to follow and catch up with. the front of an army or fleet: a wagon. van. to be sad because of loss. mourn, de feat', loss, as of a battle: failure. shield. to cover from danger. one taken in war; a prisoner. cap'tive, in stall', to put in place; to seat; to place in office. troops holding a fort, city, etc. gar'ri son, coun'ter mand, to make a new order or command, which takes the move'ment, motion; march. place of one made before.

Fond, loving; tender.

bland, gentle; pleasant in manner or speech.

spare, lean; thin.

ma ture', ripe; full-grown; perfect.

bur'ly, bulky; large and coarse, as a burly clown.

wir'y, tough; like wire.

flor'id, reddish; highly colored, as the face. sal'low. of a pale yellowish color, as the face tim'id, not bold; easily frightened.

fe ro'cious, fierce; cruel.

70

a mouthful; a small portion, as of food, etc. Môr'sel, size; the whole, as the cargo of a ship. bulk. size; bulk, as the whole mass of the earth. mass, a number of things alike, as a batch of papers. etc. batch, a pair, as of horses: nine inches: a brief time. span, three together: a piece of music for three. $tr\bar{i}'o (or tr\bar{e}'\bar{o}),$ a flock, as of birds; a company, as of ladies, etc. bev'v, a brood or family, as of birds. cov'ev, a tribe; a race; a family, as once in Scotland. clan.

troop, a body of soldiers.

71

Se cūre', to get; to make sure of.
am'ple, plentiful; large enough.
quan'ti ty, bulk; mass; all there is of anything.
pro vide', provisions for soldiers for their living and fighting.
to make ready; to look out and be ready for.

sufficient, enough; as much as is needed.

sup plies', food, clothing, etc. pre pare', to get ready.

with stand', to stand against; to fight back.

siege, the setting of an army against a city or fort.

Dank, damp; moist and cold.

rank, of large and rapid growth, as of weeds in rich soil.

slack, - loose; not tight-drawn; backward; slow.

chill, cold.

dusk'y, dark; not fair; gloomy.

flab by, soft; hanging in folds, as the skin of an elephant.

scrub'by, mean and small, as stunted trees.

hūģe, very large.

drear'y, causing sadness to see, as fields parching in a drought.

ghast'ly, like a ghost; deathlike.

73

Vex, to trouble; to worry; to tease; to fret. spīte, to act toward another with ill will; to cross.

en'vy, to feel vexed because another is lucky or happy; to grudge an noy', to vex; to trouble.

de cēive', to cause in another a wrong belief.

be tray', to deceive and injure one who is a friend.

swin'dle, to cheat in trade.

pur loin', to take away; to steal.

pil'fer, to steal trifles.

poach, to trap or kill game on another's land without leave.

74

Har'dy, bold; used to a rough life; stout. trap'per, one who catches wild beasts in traps.

law'ful ly, according to law. ob tains, gets; secures. pelt'ry, skins; furs. cunning; sly.

poach'er, one who gets game unlawfully from another's land.

il le'gal ly, unlawfully. tres'pass eş, enters unlawfully.

prem'is eş, lands, houses, etc.

Un grāte'ful, not grateful; giving or feeling no thanks.

scoun'drel, a rascal; a bad fellow.

sim'ple, not great; humble; without pride.

shep'herd (shěp'erd), one who tends sheep.

pert, smart; saucy. dam'sel, a young girl.

port'ly, large; fleshy; great in body, as a man.

ju'rist, a lawyer; a judge.
boun'ti ful, full of bounty; kind.
prince, the son of a king; a ruler.

76

Scorn, to despise; to treat as worthless. slight, to treat as not worthy of notice.

slur, to slight; to soil.

spurn, to push away in scorn; to kick.

scowl, to look angry; to frown.

scoff, to mock; to scorn.

cheer, to shout; to make joyful; to gladden.

mock, to make sport of; to ape; to laugh at; to sneer at boast, to brag.

blus'ter, to boast or talk noisily; to bully.

77

Low'-mind ed, having a low mind; having mean thoughts.

quacks, false doctors; boasters.

base'ly, meanly; in a base or mean manner.

pre tend', to claim falsely.

heal, to cure.

in cur'a ble, that cannot be cured. dis eas'es, all kinds of sickness.

mis lead'ing, guiding wrong; leading astray. ig'no rant, knowing nothing; unlearned. class'eş, orders or ranks, as of people.

Col lect', to gather together.

sep"a rate', to divide.

splice, to join; to tie; to lengthen, as ropes or timbers.

con nect', to join; to unite. [etc.

ab sôrb', to take in; to drink up, as a sponge, blotting paper, slough (sluf), to throw off or let fall, as a serpent sheds his skin.

err, to mistake; to wander; to miss the way; to miss. cor rect', to put right; to make right; to mend.

ef fect', to bring to pass; to bring about.

per'fect, to finish; to complete, so that nothing is wanted.

79

Gal'lant, brave: polite. [nies.

reg'i ment, a body of troops commanded by a colonel; ten compa-dog'ged ly, stubbornly; without thought of yielding.

de fend'ed, withstood attack; fought for.

re doubt' (dout), a small fort outside the main lines.

de spīte', in spite of.

in'ef fect"ive, not causing an effect; worthless. car'tridg es, prepared charges of powder and ball.

bay'o nets, spears for the ends of gun barrels.

breast"work', a low earthwork for troops to fight behind.

80

De cēit', an act of deceiving; a fraud; a cheat. pre tense', the act of pretending; a false claim.

de fense', the act of defending, as the defense of a fort, etc.

es cape', the act of getting out of danger.

ex'it, a door, etc., for leaving; the act of leaving. en'trance, a door, etc., for coming in; the act of entering.

de scent', the act of coming down.
dis sent', the act of differing; a quarrel.
dis con tent', uneasiness; unhappiness.

de ger'tion, the act of quitting one's cause or party.

Por'tal, a gate; a door; an entrance.

wick'et, a small gate or door.

par ti'tion, a wall between two rooms: a part or share.
wain'scot, the inside wooden lining in panels, as of a room.

at'tic, the room or rooms nearest the roof. [room, etc. cēil'ing, the overhead inside lining of wood, plaster, etc., as of a gar'ret, inside part of a house next the roof; the loft. stall, a room for a horse or other beast; a stable.

ga'ble, the upper three-cornered part of the end of a house.

ēaves, the lower edges of a roof.

82

Fil'ter, to strain, as water.

de cant', to pour out, as from bottles.

ebb, to flow back, as the tide toward the sea.

dis solve', to melt; to break up; to scatter.

quench, to put an end to, as fire or thirst, with water. scut'tle, to sink a ship by cutting through the bottom.

thaw, to melt, as ice or anything frozen.

trick'le, to flow in drops.

spat'ter, to sprinkle; to splash.

surge, to rush forward, as the waves.

83

Apt, ready; proper; quick.

spry, nimble; quick.

shy, bashful; afraid; not bold.

brisk, quick; active. prīme, first; first-rate.

firm, solid; strong; steady.

prim, overnice in dress and manners; painfully nice. trim, neat; firm; in good order; ready for use or work.

dap'per, little and active; neat.

pet'tish, fretful; cross; easily angered.

Mi nute'. very small.

little holes, as in the skin. pores.

se'ri ous. not trifling; not gay: not little, as a fault. blem'ish. a flaw; a speck; a stain; a fault, etc.

sol'emn (sŏl'um), very serious.

e vent'. anything that happens. spi'ral. winding upwards. stâir'cāse. a whole set of stairs.

whole'some (hol'sum), healthful; causing health and strength tuber. a root used for food, as the potato, etc.

85

Con sōle', to cheer; to lessen the sorrow of another. re pine', to fret; to complain; to lose courage.

la ment'. to sorrow; to mourn.

a būse', to use ill; to treat one badly. ca ress'. to fondle; to treat one fondly. soothe, to console; to quiet; to give peace. op pose!, to withstand; to act or speak against. to come to the same mind or belief. a gree', to make afraid; to lessen one's courage. däunt, to lose hope; to sorrow from loss of hope. de spond', Im pēde', to hinder; to delay one.

like a master; very able. mås'ter ly, re treat', a going back, as from the enemy.

sur round', to get all around.

förç'eş, numbers of soldiers; the army.

com pel', to force. nu'mer ous, many.

strag'gling, scattered; rambling; not in ranks.

for'a gers, those searching the country for provisions.

sur ren'der, to give up or yield, as prisoners.

Dīre, dreadful; horrid. will try to harm another. thrĕat. any speech or act for the purpose of showing that one hos'tile. unfriendly: like an enemy. slo'gan, a war-cry of the Scotch. môr'tal. that causes death: deadly. pĕr'il. very great danger. se cure'. safe: sheltered from danger. ref'üge. a place that is safe from danger. no'ble. grand; great; like a great man; lordly. hĕr'o ism. bravery: the deeds of a hero.

88

Dōte. to love much. de test'. to hate. mo lest'. to trouble: to annoy: to vex. to save; to yield; to give. spâre, de fīle'. to make filthy: to soil: to stain. de light'. to please; to make glad. en tīce'. to lead astray: to draw toward evil. to push away; to drive back. re pel', com mend'. to praise. con demn' (děm), to blame; to find guilty.

89

Tôrch. a rude light, as of pitch-pine. bon'fīre, a merry-maker's fire; fire made for sport. bea'con $(b\bar{e}'k'n)$, a light made to guide or warn others. ban'ner. as a defense. hel'met, an iron or other covering for the head, once worn in battle an iron or other covering, as for ships or men. ar'mor. bul'wark. a wall for defense. buf'fer, a pad or cushion, to break the force of a blow. ram'part. a wall; the main defense. bat'tle ment, the top of the walls on a fort or castle, etc.

Has'sock. a cushion or thick mat to kneel on in church. cas'sock, a long coat or gown worn by a priest. pan'nier (ver), a basket for carrying fruit, etc., on horseback. pom'mel, the knob or horn of a saddle or sword. vis'or, the front of a helmet, having an opening to see through. viş'ta, an opening through woods, etc., to give a view. the face of the sun, or of the clock; anything round and disc, di'al, a disc for showing the hour by the sun. baw'ble, a trinket; a trifle; a toy.

a sweetmeat; a sugar-plum, etc.

Ac cuse', to charge with wrong. [is accused. plead, to offer excuse; to show reason for an act of which one be rate', to abuse; to scold.
re proach', to cast blame on one; to blame; to condemn.
be wail', to weep for; to mourn.
re late', to tell, as a story: to belong to, or to be akin to.

re mind', to bring to mind.
re mark', to speak or say; to take note of; to notice.

re mark', to spea re quest', to ask.

bon bon.

im part', to share; to give part; to give by word or deed; to tell.

92

Both'er some, annoying; causing trouble.

zig'zāg, having many sharp turns, as a mountainous road, etc.

a thwart', across; on both sides. bare'back, without a saddle. a breast', side by side.

a slant', one end higher than the other; sloping. a fore said (sed), said before; already spoken of.

self'same, the very same.

out'right, at once; without delay; completely.

$ir"-tight', so close that air can pass neither in nor out.

Hap'less, unhappy; unlucky.

for eign (for in), belonging to another country.

rĕf u gee'. one who leaves home seeking refuge. hag'gard, thin and pale, as from trouble, etc.

in sāne'. crazy; mad.

a wanderer; a tramp. va'grant, healthy; strong. ro bust'. făr'ri er, a horseshoer. peace'a ble, not quarrelsome.

peas'ant. a farm-laborer; a countryman.

94

to rise against lawful rulers. Re bel'. re volt' (or volt), to rebel; to rise in rebellion against rulers. to enter a country, as an army for war. in vāde'. to beat off; to repel; to drive back. re pulse'. Itents, etc. to form an army into a camp; to halt and pitch en camp', skir'mish. to fight little battles. strengthen what is weak. re cryit', to add strength to the army with new soldiers; to ral'ly. to get together and stand after retreating. stăm pēde', to scatter in sudden fright and run away. to separate, or break up, as a body of soldiers. dis band'.

95

to go with. Ac com'pa ny, un wel'come, not welcome.

guĕst,

one who is received, as at home or at a public house.

to speak to; to hail.

ac cost', un knōwn', not known. those who visit. vis'it ors, im me'di ate ly, instantly; at once. pur sūe', follow swiftly. au da'cious, bold; fearless. bur'glar, a housebreaker.

Mis chance', ill luck; mishap.

out'look, what seems likely to happen.

rānģe, room: a pasture: a kind of cooking stove.

gait, manner of walking.

bout, a trial; a turn; a fight; a contest.

pāce, gait; a step; a measure.

er'rand, a message upon which one is sent.

chōre, a small piece, or job, of work. [woods.

pic'nic, an outdoor gathering of people for enjoyment, as in the hub'bub, a noise; confused noise.

97

Pa'tient, not hasty; bearing pain or trouble quietly.

plod'ders, hard workers; those who plod, or go step by step.

strug'gle, to work hard; to fight hard.

con'stant ly, steadily; all the time; without change.

a chieve', to win; to gain; to effect.

success', good fortune; the gaining of what is labored for.

tal'ent ed, gifted; bright-minded. drones, those who do not work. up braid', to reproach; to scold.

fôr'tune, luck : chance.

98

A bide', to dwell; to live or stay in a place.

in trude', to enter without right; to come in without being invited dis miss', to send away.

re move, to move.

at tend', to accompany; to wait upon; to listen; to serve.

in tend', to mean; to think strongly of doing. ac cept', to take what is offered; to agree to.

de cline, to fail to accept; to refuse consent. fore go, to give up something hoped for; to quit.

fôr'feĭt, to yield; to lose; to surrender.

Shrill, keen; sharp, as sound.
bag'pIpe, the musical pipe of the Highland Scotch.
calling, bidding; asking to come.

sig'nal, a sign that gives notice. fu'ri ous, mad; raging; full of anger.

out'break, a breaking out, as of the anger of a mob, etc. skil'ful (or skill'ful), able to use well; able to do; having skill.

at tack', an onset, as in battle; an attempt to injure de ci'sive, sure; undoubted. vic'to ry, a winning of a battle.

100

A lert', watchful; on guard; lively.
sen'ti nel, a soldier set to watch; a guard.
sig'nals, uses signals; makes signs.

com pact', close; thick; firm.

squad'ron, a number of ships: a troop of horse.

ap proach'ing, coming; drawing near.
can'vas. cloth of which sails are made.

can'vas, cloth of which sails are made.
in flat'ed, swelled out, as with wind; puffed-up; proud.

fa'vor a ble, friendly; kind; helpful.

gale, a strong wind.

101

Stanch, firm; strong; hardy; steady.

calm (cam), quiet; not troubled. [in the air, as a plumb line, plumb (plum), straight toward the centre of the earth from any point a jar', partly open, as a door.

a wr \overline{y}' (a $r\overline{v}'$), crooked; out of proper place or line, as an eye awry.

sight'ly, pleasing to the eye; not ugly.

dig'mal, sorrowful; unpleasant to eye or ear: dark.

loath'some, causing displeasure, because of ugliness, filthiness, etc.

fright'ful, causing fear or fright; fearful. doing no harm; not hurtful.

Un fôr'tu nate, unlucky; unhappy.

mär'i ner. sailor.

wound'ed (or woond ed), hurt, as in battle. relating to ships; of the navy, na'val. ac'tion.

a battle: anything done.

frac'tured.

broken, as a bone.

limb (lim), am'pu tāt ed, a part or member, as a leg or arm, cut off in order to benefit.

hos'pi tal,

a house or place for the sick and wounded. sur'geon (jon), one skilled in healing wounds; a doctor.

103

Quarters. res'i dence, cot, camps, or houses, for soldiers, a dwelling; a place to reside in.

a cottage : a small bed.

bur'row,

the bed or home of a small animal, as a rabbit.

dom'i cile.

a residence: a home.

ham'mock.

a kind of swinging bed, commonly made of network dôr'mi to rv.

a large sleeping-room.

lâir, hab'it a"tion, the sleeping-place of a wild beast. a dwelling-place; a place of abode lodge,

a shelter; a place to sleep in.

104

Ren'der. con tin'ūe. re düce', pro duce'. äll,

thrive.

to give back; to return; to yield; to make. to last; to remain; to keep on doing. to make less; to change; to defeat. to yield, as in harvest; to make.

to plow; to work, as soil, etc.

to do well, as in business; to grow. pre serve', to take care of; to defend; to keep; to save.

pu'ri fy, to make clean or pure.

to make foul; to taint; to destroy the goodness of. cor rupt', im pâir', to injure; to make worse.

Dell. a little valley; a dale.

dāi'rv. a farm, or place, for producing milk, butter, and cheese pad'dock. a small pasture or lot.

rănch. a large pasture; a farm for raising animals.

man'or. the land of a lord.

do māin'. the land over which one rules.

ā're a. the size of the whole surface, as a farm or state.

ex tent'. size, as of a continent, ocean, etc. frag'ment. a portion; a piece; a part broken off.

vem'nant. what remains after most is taken.

106

Dis o bey'. to fail or refuse to obey.

dis ōwn'. to deny; to cast off.

griēve, to mourn: to sadden; to cause sorrow.

re prove'. to blame; to condemn; to punish by words.

to madden; to make very angry. . en rāge'. dis charge', to get rid of; to dismiss; to unload.

to make strange; to break up friendship. es trānģe'. dis card'. to cast off; to dismiss; to disown.

re ject', to decline, as an offer, etc.

to cast out. e ject',

107

Scrip'ture. the Holy Bible.

chap'laĭn. a priest, or preacher, who serves the army, navy, etc.

a chief priest; the Pope. pon'tiff. suffer.

an animal used as a religious offering: one made to vic'tim, a table used for religious offerings.

al'tar.

the feeling of sorrow caused by another's suffering. pit'y, the feeling of duty toward God. pi'e ty, belief; trust in God; honor. [Christian religion. faith, re l'gion (jon), duty to God; piety; a complete faith, as the happiness; the greatest happiness, as of heaven. bliss.

to hold: to have within: to have. Con tain'. Tauiet. com pose'. to put together, as the words of a letter: to make: to con sist'. to be made of: to be composed of. in clude'. to contain; to have within itself. con ceal'. to hide: to put out of sight. [a yard by a fence. ex clūde'. to shut out; to keep out. en close' (or in close'), to shut in; to place inside; to surround, as en cir'cle. to surround: to put around. [encompassed the city." en com'pass, to enclose; to encircle; to surround; as, "The army to succeed: to obtain: to go around: to surround. com'pass.

.109

Crāve, wish for; desire greatly. af fec'tion. love; good will. en joy', take pleasure in. freedom from pain, trouble, labor, etc. ease, im prove', make better: make good use of. mod'el, a sample; a copy; a small sample of a larger machine. in vent', make something new, as a machine never before made. weap'on, something to fight with, as a gun, sword, etc. dis cov'er. find; find out. rem'e dy, a cure; anything that helps to right a wrong.

110

In crease', to become larger or more. to become smaller or fewer. de crease'. as cend'. to rise; to climb; to become greater, as in wealth, etc. re cline'. to lie down. a bound', to succeed; to be plentiful. ex ceed', to go beyond; to outdo; to become greater. em brāce', to contain; to hold; to surround, as with the arms. oc'cu p₹, to have; to keep; to hold; to be in. cling, to stick to; to hang to. cloy, to fill to fullness, as in overeating

De scry', to see; to discover with the eye.

south'ward, toward the south.

pie tūr esque' (ĕsk'), like a picture; wild and beautiful.

ev'er green, always green.

prai'rles, treeless, grassy tracts of land. swarm'ing, in moving crowds, as bees.

flee'cy, having fleece; covered with wool. flocks, companies, as of birds or sheep.

gam'bol, play; skip. blīthe'ly, gaily; happily.

112

Warp, to bend, as a new board from heat.

with'er, to dry up; to wilt.

char, to burn wood to a black cinder. [in anger or fear. shrink, to shrivel; to become less: to draw away from, as shriv'el, to become smaller by wrinkling, as from heat. mold (or mould), to mildew; to rot: to shape, as to mold bullets.

crush, to break; to break by weight or by pressure. shat'ter, to break into pieces, as with one strong blow.

man'gle, to cut or tear to pieces, as flesh, etc. gnaw, to bite off little by little; to nibble at.

113

De light'ful, highly pleasing.

feast, a great dinner or other meal, as in public.

pal'a ta ble, pleasing to the taste. con fec'tion er y, sweetmeats, as candy, etc.

sūit'a ble, proper; fit for the use to which it is put. re fresh'ment, food or drink for giving fresh strength.

dain'ty, fine; nice, as food or dress.
vi'ands, all kinds of food; cooked food.

ill-got'ten, gotten by force or fraud. boo'ty, plunder; spoil gained in war.

to scoff at; to make sport of. etc. De rīde'. greet. to meet as a friend: to speak to, as "Good morning." af front'. to give offense; to insult. a pol'o gize, to make excuse; to show reason; to beg pardon. to claim, as with right; to ask. de mand'. re tract', to take back what one has said. to ask about; to seek to learn. in quire'. in fôrm', to tell; to teach. re mem'ber. to call to mind: to keep in mind. rec'og nize, to know again.

115

Re sent', to feel anger, as when insulted. a false and harmful report about a person. slan'der. re store'. to give back; to repay; to bring back. vig'or. strength; might; power. to praise : to cheer. ap plaud', prow'ess. great bodily strength; bravery. de feat', to overcome. cun'ning. knowledge; craft; skill: deceit. ac com'plish, to do; to complete; to finish. pur'pose, that which is intended.

116

Gov'ern. to rule : to manage. per mit'. to allow; to consent. en förce'. to put in force; to carry out by force; to compel. an nul'. to destroy the force of; to make of no effect, as a law. al lure'. to invite; to draw towards pleasure; to tempt. threat'en, to show a purpose or readiness to injure. [thoughts. a müse'. to please; to give pleasure to; to cause pleasant con tend'. to fight; to take part in, as a fight or quarrel. in cīte'. to stir up; to urge on; to push forward. quell, to quiet; to put an end to.

Con found', to mix; to puzzle.

dis turb', to vex; to trouble one's peace or quiet.

con test', to fight; to withstand.

pre vent', to hinder; to keep one from doing.

in cense', to anger.

ex pel', to throw out; to drive out.

oust, to drive or throw out; to eject.

way'lay', to lie in wait for, in order to attack; to attack.

mal treat', to treat badly; to abuse; to injure.

e vict', to eject lawfully.

118

Flight, the act of flying; escape.

a larm', sudden fear.

re proof', blame; words spoken for blame and correction.

a buse', ill use, either of act or word.

af fair', business; anything undertaken, whether for good or ill.

af fray', a quarrel; a fight.

pre text', a pretense; false ground for any act.
pur'port, meaning, as the purport of a letter.

brawn, bodily strength; the arm. brawl, a noisy quarrel; a fight.

119

De pûte', to give power to act. [as soldiers for a duty.

de tail', to tell part by part; to relate: to separate and send off.

sur prise', to come upon suddenly; to cause wonder. dis tress', to grieve; to cause trouble or sorrow.

dis lodge', to drive from; to drive out, as from a house, fort, etc. dis train', to seize; to lay hold of, as goods for payment of a debt.

per'jure, to swear falsely; to commit perjury.

dis suāde' (swād), to advise against; to persuade against. per suāde' (swād), to advise so that one acts; to win over.

com ply, to consent; to act as desired.

Breast'plate, a piece of armor covering the breast. quiv'er. a case for arrows.

arrows, etc.

shiëld, a broad piece of armor worn on the arm to keep off row'el, the little, sharp-pointed wheel in a horseman's spur.

cui rass' (kwē răs'), the armor covering the breast and back.

clar'i on, a kind of horn or trumpet.

toc'sin, an alarm-bell; the alarm sounded by the bell.

pi'broeh, the war-music of the Scottish bagpipe. pe tard', a powder box or case, for bursting.

tro'phy, something taken from the enemy, as a flag, etc.

121

Con front', to face; to meet face to face.

as sail', to attack.

ward, to guard; to watch; to shield.

de flect', to turn aside; to bend. [strive. com pēte', to try with another or others for the same object; to sur pass', to outdo; to pass beyond another, as in a race, etc.

a vail', to be of use; to profit; to benefit. [a race, etc. vie, to contend; to contest; to try to surpass another, as in suc ceed', to win; to accomplish: to follow in order. ex cel', to outdo; to surpass; to go beyond.

. ,

122

Ma'son ry, stone or brick laid with mortar. [above the water. cause'way, a road through swamps, etc., raised with stones or logs a heavy post or framework. piēr, a bridge, etc. a prop of stones, etc., formed like a bow, as an arch of arch. lev'ee, an embankment to prevent overflows. of the waves. a bank or wall of stone built in the sea to break the force mõle, cre vasse', a break in a levee.

jet'ty, a wall or mole to govern the course of water. breāk'water, a wall built for breaking the force of water.

dredge, a drag-net: a machine for cleaning rivers, canals, etc.

to cheat; to trick; to swindle; to deceive.
to entice; to entice to sinning.
to dazzle; to stagger; to blind, as with light.
to cause sudden fear.
to hinder; to defeat; to prevent.
to surprise greatly; to cause great wonder.
to puzzle; to disturb; to tangle in thought.
to deceive by soft words.
), to cheat; to trick by low cheating.
to tempt; to entice to loss or wickedness.

Plant'let,	a little plant. [trees.
ar'bor,	a shelter or covered place made of vines or branches of ver'düre,	the green color or freshness of grass, etc. [meadow."
herb'age,	plants; grass, etc.; as, "The herbage covered the gar'land,	a wreath of branches or flowers.
nōṣe'gay,	a bouquet, or bunch of flowers.
wreath,	something twisted, as a garland, etc.
vint'age,	grapes or wine produced in one year; the wine harvest.
pom'ace (pur	m'is), apples or other fruit ground or crushed.
har'vest,	what the fields produce yearly, as the wheat harvest,

Lurk,	to lie hid; to lie in wait.
häunt,	to trouble by going to or staying at a place, as a ghost,
flaunt,	to flutter, as a flag; to make a show.
flout,	to deride; to insult; to mock.
hec'tor,	to play the bully.
coax,	to entice gently; to persuade; to wheedle.
rue,	to be sorry for; to grieve over.
rāve,	to act or talk madly; to be furious.
gall,	to fret; to rub roughly, as the skin. [stick.
goad,	to urge; to press one to act; to drive, as with a pointed

Păr'al lel. lying in the same direction; side by side. tiērs. rows, as of tiles on a roof, etc. becoming smaller toward one end, as a mast, etc. ta'per ing. pil'lars, strong props or columns, as for a house, etc. shapely, well-formed; of nice shape. stat'ūe. the likeness of some one, made of marble, etc. ob'long. longer than broad, as a slate, etc. scaf'fold, a platform to be used but a short time, as on a tower, etc., sta'ble. strong; steady; fixed. quay $(k\bar{e})$, a place for loading and unloading vessels; a wharf.

127

Quōte, to use the words of another. to quote; to call; to name or call, as in proving anything. cīte, de scribe'. to tell or write of anything; to show by words. as sert'. to disclose; to state with firmness. a vow', to declare; to assert. etc. en dôrse', to pledge, as by writing one's name on the back of a note, pub'lish, to tell publicly; to make known, as by printing. dis play', to show; to spread before the view. il lus'trāte, to make plain, as by pictures, samples, figures, etc. com pare', to measure one thing with another; to liken.

128

Chat'tels, any movable property; goods; furniture. pelf, money; riches, in a bad sense. lu'cre, base, or unworthy, gain; profit, in a bad sense. a baser metal mixed with a finer one. al loy', bull'ion, gold or silver in mass. treas'ure, (trezh), riches; wealth hoarded or laid up. re'al tv. real or landed property, as land, houses, etc. med'al, a piece of metal stamped in honor of some event or person. brööch. a breastpin. class or company. a sign or mark; a sign worn by members of the same badge,

De fv', to challenge; to dare; to withstand. fagainst. dis pute', to contest in any way, as by words or weapons, to reason to prove false. dis prove'. de claim', to speak, as to a public meeting. dis claim'. to disown; to deny. af firm', to declare as a fact; to assert; to confirm. a vouch'. to declare earnestly. věr'i fy, to prove to be true. ar'güe. to reason; to dispute. rea'son. to think; to judge; to argue thoughtfully.

130

Drill, a rod for boring holes into stone, etc. flail, a kind of rod for threshing grain. [rail. a rim raised on one side of the tire of a wheel or iron flänge, bel'lows (lus), a machine for blowing the fire. in a fishhook. anything like a beard; a point that stands backward, as barb, the part of a ring in which a stone is placed. bez'el. swiv'el, in a chain, the link which can turn. hal'ter, a rope; a sort of bridle. gib'bet, a scaffold; a gallows. sledge, a rough sled or sleigh: a large hammer.

131

to tell; to recite; to relate. Năr rate', to see; to tell or write in legal form what one has seen. wit'ness, con firm'. to make firm what was doubtful; to strengthen belief. to tell beforehand; as, "He foretold the storm." fore tell'. proph'e sy, to foretell solemnly; to foretell. to see beforehand; as, "God foresees all things." fōre see', to plan; to leave by will. de vīse', dic tāte', to command what to do, as in writing, etc. fendorse. ex act', to compel; to enforce; to demand. guar an tee', to promise payment for another in case of his failure; to Sullen, gloomy; cross; angry and silent.

glum, silent with gloom; cross; sullen.

irk'some, wearisome; tiresome.

im'pu dent, saucy; rude; without sense of shame. im pru'dent, not careful as to the future; careless. in'so lent, insulting; abusing; overbearing.

tes'ty, fretful; easily angered.

pit'i ful, full of pity; kind of heart: mean; paltry.

wroth (rath), angry; showing anger. haugh'ty, high; full of pride.

133

Stint, to stop; to hold back; to keep from using much.

suffice'(fiz), to be sufficient; to satisfy; to supply. sup port', to uphold; to bear; to provide food, etc.

af ford', to give; to spare; to be able to give; to produce.

o blīge', to please: to compel.

en gage', to promise; to bind; to bargain with: to fight.

en treat', to ask; to beg; to pray. en dure', to last; to bear; to support.

suffer, to endure pain of mind or body: to allow; to permit.

sur vive', to live still; to outlive; to continue in life.

134

Dearth, scarcity; want; lack of food on account of drought or in'di cates, points out; shows. [failure of crops.]

prob'a ble, that may be; likely.

fam'ine, great scarcity of food in a country.

lo'cal, in a certain place; of a certain part of the country.

des ti tu'tion, state of being needy.

strīve, to try; to try hard; to struggle.
con vey', to carry; to send; to impart.
tīme'ly, in good season; early; soon.
sus'te nance, that which supports life; food.

State, to say; to tell. a ver', to declare solemnly.

at test', to bear witness; to confirm legally.

vouch, to declare; to bear witness; to guarantee. [wrong. pro test', to declare earnestly; to declare solemnly, as against a pre dict', to prophesy; to foretell. sup pose', to take for granted; to believe.

sur mige', to think; to guess. [professes to know arithmetic." pro fess', to declare openly; to state; to set up a claim to as; "He al lege', to declare openly; to state, as to allege a fact.

136

So'cial, relating to people in company; friendly. cus'toms, ways, as of nations, peoples, tribes, etc.

re quire', need; demand. coûr'te ous, polite; well-bred.

con'duct, behavior; manner of acting.

im prop'er, not proper; wrong.

hab'its, course of conduct; ways, as of one person. fore bode', to come before as a sign of what will happen.

mis'chie vous, harmful; evil.

re sults', happenings; effects; ends produced.

137

Wreathe, to twist; to twine into shape, as leaves and flowers. sheathe, to shut; to put into a case or cover, as a sword.

cleanse, to wash; to clean; to purify. [the sunbleach, to whiten; to cause to become white, as by putting in wran'gle, to dispute in a rough way; to quarrel.

trounce, to beat; to punish.

twirl, to whirl; to turn, as a top.

twin'kle, to shine; to sparkle; to shine unsteadily.

glow, to shine with great heat.
gleam, to shine suddenly; to flash.

Cop'pice, a wood of small trees; a copse.

brāke, a thicket of briers and shrubs, or canes, etc.

crev'ice, a narrow opening, as between bricks or boards in a wall.
crypt, an underground cell or cave. [grave, etc. câirn. a heap of stones to serve of old as a landmark; a lea, a plain; a meadow; a pasture.

niche, a place hollowed in a wall for a statue; a hollow.

grŏt'to, a cavern; a cave.

pa vil'ion, a tent; a pleasure-house.

cul'vert, an arched drain, as under a railroad.

139

A bate'. to lessen: as. "The storm abated." to cease doing; as, "Desist from evil." de sist', to leave out; as, "Omit the third example." o mit', de duct'. to take away: to subtract: as, "Deduct five dollars." to lessen; to make or become smaller or fewer. di min'ish. to send off; to separate, as to detach a ship from a fleet, de tach'. ex tract', to draw out, as a tooth. ab stract'. to take from; to separate; to take, as by stealing, etc.

se clūde', to shut up apart; to separate; to hide. se crēte', to separate, as from the blood; to hide.

140

Out'set. a start; beginning. ness, etc. hĕad'way, a moving or going forward, as of a ship, or as in busiin'road. a march into an enemy's country for plunder. a way, or passage, under an arch. arch'way, hear'sav. what one has heard; a report; a false report. main'stay, that which gives most strength or help. part. ground'work, the bottom or base; the foundation; the important back'ground, the ground farthest away, as in a picture: secrecy. e⊽e'sōre, something that is unpleasing to the sight. hâir'breadth, a very small distance: narrow.

Hes'i tate, to pause: to delay acting because of doubt. re sŏlve'. to put an end to hesitation or doubt; to form a fixed ac cus'tom, to use much; to become used to by habit or custom. dis use', to cease to use; to quit using. Thold. sus tain'. to support; to maintain; to bear; to hold up; to upto give up entirely; to quit; to forsake. a ban'don. to agree with; to agree at all points. co'in cIde. to differ in opinion; to differ; to quarrel. dis a gree', to assist; to incite. prompt, to bear; to endure, as an insult, etc. brook,

142

Das'tards. cowards. trem'ble. shake, as with fear or cold. [arch of England." kings, queens, etc.; as, "Queen Victoria is the monmon'archs. reign, govern: rule. ŭm pīres'. persons chosen to settle differences; judges. de cīde', make up one's mind; make a choice. back bīt ers. slanderers: those who injure by false reports. tra düce', slander; speak ill of another. hyp'o crites, evil persons who pretend to be good. flat'ter. bestow false praise; as, "He flatters the foolish man."

143

Tilt, to fight: to turn, as to tilt a bucket. to stop; to cause to falter, or delay, as to check a horse. check. lull, to soothe; to quiet; to cause to sleep; to put to rest. fend. to guard; to keep off, as to fend off blows. scāthe. to injure; to damage; to hurt. strength." wiēld. to use; to put to full use; as, "He wielded all his stanch. to stop, as a flow of blood. screen. to hide; to shield, as from danger. score. to mark; to keep the number; to count. scotch, to stop, as a wheel with a stone, etc.: to cut.

a stopping-place, as at the end of a race. Goal ha'ven $(h\bar{a}v'n)$, a harbor for ships; a place of rest. a bode'. a dwelling-place for either man or animals. bound'a rv. that which is at the edge; the farthest part. a boundary; a place to which one goes; a journey's end bourn. a church or religious temple. fāne, tem'ple, a grand building for public uses, as a church, etc. font, a pool; a place for baptism; a fount. a religious or public act, as the rite of baptism. rīte. chant. a song; a religious song; a song service.

145

to bend; to crook. Curve. to leap; to bound, as a horse. cur vet'. champ. to bite; to gnaw, as a horse his bit. can'ter. to gallop gently; to lope. dis port', to frolic; to play. dan'gle, to follow; to hang loose, as sails in a calm. me an'der, to run in a crooked or winding way, as a river. mus'ter. to get together, as soldiers. to puzzle: to stand, as a man who wishes to be seen. poşe, säun'ter. to wander around with little purpose.

148

Strict. correct; straight; bound by rules. tu'tor, a teacher; one who instructs a pupil. ed'u cātes. teaches; instructs; trains. o be'di ent, willing to obey. ju've niles, boys and girls; young people. pi'ous, religious; having piety. pås'tor, a preacher in charge of a church. pro cūres', gets; obtains. clothing; garments. rai'ment, pau'pers, very poor people.

De bar', to hinder; to prevent; to keep from. a vert', to turn aside; to ward off. to turn back; to overthrow. re verse'. to use or put forth, as strength. ex ert', to wink at ; to allow. con nīve'. to deceive; to mislead; to cheat. de lūde', to act against; to fight; to be opposed. con flict'. to waylay; to worry; to trouble. be set', ran sack'. to search closely; to search every part. be strew'. to scatter over; as, "The stars bestrew the sky."

148

very fine; more fine. Su'per fine, a garment for the neck or shoulders; a light shawl. scarf. serv'ice a ble, useful; helpful; of service. a kind of loose coat. blouse, of good birth; of good manners; graceful. gen teel', cos'tume, the dress; manner of dress. showy; gay; too showy. gaud'y, ap păr'el, clothing; dress. come'ly (cum), good to look at. the face. viş'age,

149

Bi'fold. twofold; double. an animal with two feet, as man, a bird, etc. bi'ped, a spear or fork with three teeth or prongs. tri'dent, double. du'al, trl'ple (trip'l), threefold. a stool, etc., having three feet. tri'pod, three vowels that are sounded as one, as eau in beau. triph'thong, triv'et. a three-legged stool, etc.; a tripod. tre'foil, a plant with three leaves, as clover, etc. du'et, a song for two; two together.

Found, to cause to begin, as the building of a town, etc.

form, to plan; to arrange; to shape; to make.

fur'nish, to provide; to supply; to give. fash'ion, to shape; to form; to give shape to.

es tab'lish, to fix; to settle firmly. rel'ish, to like; to have a taste for.

lav'ish, to give plentifully; to waste; to scatter.

grudge, to give unwillingly; to envy.

cher'ish, to take care of; to support; to nurse.
nour'ish, to feed; to support; to nurse; to help,

151

Heed'less, thoughtless; careless.

folly, want of sense; a foolish act.

bra'zen (z'n), like brass: impudent. in'so lence, insult; abuse; impudence.

im per'fect, not perfect; faulty.

man'age ment, conduct; way of carrying on business.

tër'ri ble, dreadful; causing great fear.

wrath, anger; fury; rage.

ha bit'u al, become common through habit. vice, wickedness; evil conduct.

152

Snub, to check; to slight; to shame by a word or a look. up'start, one suddenly come into notice; one who takes too dis trust', to disbelieve; to doubt. [much upon himself.]

bus"y bod'y (biz), a meddling person. o'ver look", to look over; to excuse.
ig no rā'mus, an ignorant person.
em ploy', to hire; to put to work.
joûr'ney man, a workman who has a trade.

a bet', to help; to assist. [gether.

part'ner, one who shares; one of two or more in business to-

to look for; to await. Ex pect'. to mistrust; to doubt; to believe guilty; to think. sus pect', to offer; to bid; to make an offer. pro pose', pur'pose, to intend; to have a purpose. of the other. trans pose'. to remove; to put out of place; to put each in the place in'ter pose". to stand or act between, as a friend between enemies. pre fix'. to place before, as in writing. to say or write before the main part. pref'ace, come to an end. ex pīre', to expel air from the lungs: to breathe out: to die: to to draw in the breath: to give spirit or strength. in spīre',

` 154

Dis creet'. careful; sensible. in struct'or, a teacher; a tutor. stirs up; wakes from sleep. a rous'es. in'do lent, lazy; idle. wel'com ing. gladly receiving. slight'est, the weakest; the smallest. thing. a trial; a movement; a motion; a trying to do someat tempt'. be to ken ing (k'n), being a sign; giving promise of. pos'si ble, that may be; that may do or be done. a bil'i ty, power to do anything.

155

Wan, pale, as with illness or pain. hāle. healthy: strong. gray with age; white. hoar'y, taw'ny, of a dark yellow color, as tanned leather. mot'ley, mixed in color; mixed. rud'dy, florid : reddish. swarth'v. dark-skinned; black; dusky. brin'dled (dl'd), streaked; spotted; of different-colored stripes. dap'pled (pl'd), of different spots; spotted. pře''bald', having various colors.

to place before the main speech as a preface. Pre mīse', to play a light piece before the main one, as in music. pre lūde', in ter'pret. to explain; to give the meaning of another language. trans late'. to interpret, as in writing: to remove. tran scribe', to make a copy of a writing. re hearse'. to recite, as when preparing for reciting in public. pro pound'. to offer, as a question. heark'en (hark'n), to listen; to attend. mind. in''ter ĕst'. to engage the attention; to awaken any feeling of the en light'en, to instruct; to teach; to cause knowledge; to inform.

157

Out'lawed, shut out from the benefit and support of the law. head or leader of a body of men. chief, hur'ried ly. hastily; in a hurry. fôr'ti fīed, strengthened against attack, as a fort. pal'ace, the house of a monarch; a splendid house. boldly; strongly. stout'ly, opposed; fought against; withstood. re sist'ed. suc cess'ive, following in order. vig'or ous. full of strength and life; strong.

as saults',

158

fierce attacks; strong attempts to defeat.

Quib'ble. to offer unworthy reason or proof; to avoid truth. ban'ter, to tease; to vex with words; to dispute lightly. to mock; to scoff; to laugh at. ieer. to throw, as a stone, spear, etc. hurl, cow, to frighten: to cause loss of courage. with cold. to break into small pieces, as glass, etc.: to shake, as shiv'er. thrill, to tingle; to feel sharply, as fear, pain, etc. writhe, to twist; to squirm, as in pain. range, to rove; to ramble far; to travel over. rav'en (răv v'n), to plunder; to devour, as prey.

Rank,	the place one has in a class or in life: a row.
grāde,	rank; a step; the standing of any one; height in rank.
de gree',	grade: a measure, as of heat, circles, etc.
zōne,	a belt; one of the five divisions of the earth's surface.
bāse,	the bottom; the lowest part; that which gives strength.
flank,	the side, as of an army.
sōurce,	a spring; that from which anything is produced.
bôr'der,	the edge; the brim; the boundary. [earth, etc.
lay'er,	a row; a coating; a covering, as layers of straw and stāge,	a step; a part; a landing or scaffold; a stage-coach.

Ap ply',	to put to a certain use: to seek or ask, as for help,
al low',	to grant; to yield; to permit. [advice, etc.
ap peal',	to call for help; to carry to a higher power.
in dulge',	to please; to allow; to let one have his own way.
in flāme',	to make angry: to set on fire.
ap peașe',	to quiet; to calm; to satisfy.
a bash',	to make ashamed.
ex tŏl',	to praise greatly.
hăr'ass,	to wrong; to trouble greatly; to beset.
be guīle',	to allure; to amuse; to deceive.

Grōss,	coarse; rough.
flat'ter y,	false praise.
in va'ri a bly,	always; without change.
of fends',	displeases; gives offense.
del'i cate,	not coarse or strong; nicely proper.
tāste,	power of understanding what is or is not pleasant.
ju dľcious,	wise; discreet; having power to judge rightly.
com'pli ments,	praises.
fre'quent ly,	often.
grat'i f y ,	please.

choose; fix upon. Ap point', trust'v. to be trusted: faithful. a guard; a mounted guard. pa trol'. wa'ri ly, carefully; watchfully. pre cēde', go before. a guard; a body of men for a guard; a body-guard. es'côrt, heed'ful ly. with care. se lect', choose; pick out.

nec' es sary, needful; that cannot be spared or done without. en camp'ment, a camp; a resting-place.

163

to go beyond; to get ahead of, as in a race. Out strip'. to catch; to overtake: to ransack. ō ver haul', to pull off a mask; to expose, as deceit. un mask'. pin'ion, to bind; to tie; to handcuff. to bind: to put bandages on. swathe. hood'wink. to blind; to blindfold; to deceive. dum found'. to cause great wonder: to confound. be witch'. to charm; to please greatly, as beauty, etc. to confound; to cause loss of presence of mind. flus'ter. un nerve'. to weaken; to cause loss of strength or courage.

164

Ear'nest ly, seriously; in a manner that does not allow trifling. in a careful and busy manner. dil'i gent ly. riġ'id ly, strictly: firmly; without bending. quickly; fast. speed'i ly. mēre'ly, only: simply. ti'di ly, neatly; nicely. du'ly, at the right time; properly. lŏft'i lv. proudly: haughtily: highly. scant'i ly. sparingly; in small quantities.

scant'i ly, sparingly; in small quantities. [writing or speaking. terse'ly, neatly; strongly; in a neat and strong manner, as in Dif'fi cult. hard to do: not easy. ex'er cise, labor; practice; employment of mind or body. mar'vel ous. very strange; wonderful. something above human power; an act of God. mĭr'a cle, vi'o lent, sudden and strong; having wonderful force. hur'ri cane, a very strong windstorm. dān'ģer ous. full of danger; unsafe. prec'i pice, a high and steep place, as a cliff. au tum'nal, relating to autumn, the season when the leaves fall. twi'light, the half-light before sunrise and after sunset.

166

Em bel'lish, to make beautiful. [hard, glossy surface. var'nish. to cover with a liquid which, when dry, produces a pol'ish, to make smooth and glossy, as by rubbing. flour'ish. to thrive; to grow, as in riches, strength, beauty, etc. to soil; to stain; to dull, as brass, etc. tar'nish, to polish by rubbing with something hard and smooth. bur'nish. fur'bish, to rub or scour to brightness; to burnish; to polish. lan'guish (qwish), to lose strength; to pine away; to fade. to flatter with kind words or affectionate acts. blan'dish, ad mon'ish, to warn; to reprove kindly or gently, but seriously.

167

Prowling, roving; searching about; hunting prey. robbers; gangs of robbers. brig'ands. caught; seized upon. cap'tūred, côr'pu lent, large of body; fleshy. land. con'sul, an officer in charge of his country's affairs in a foreign pil'laged. plundered; sacked. cas'tle (căs'l), a dwelling built to serve also as a fort. held; withheld; kept from leaving. de tained', and honored. dis tin'guished. not common; set apart by reason of being well known ci vil'ian, a citizen, not a soldier.

to call upon earnestly; to beg; to pray. In võke', to call forth, as anger; to displease; to enrage. pro voke', con voke', to call together: to order to come. con věne', to come together; to call together; to meet together. con sult'. to ask one's advice; to advise together; to have regard for, as to consult one's wishes. con fer', to advise together; to consult; to give; to grant. con spīre', to plot; to plan a crime together. con cert'. to settle; to consult; to plan together. con sid'er, to think upon; to think over carefully. tainly. as'cer tain". to make certain or sure to the mind; to find out cer-

169

Lov'al. faithful; true to one's friends or country. mem'ber, one of a class or rank; a part. rĕad'i ly, willingly; quickly; without waiting. pro tect'ed, shielded from harm. pā'tron, one who helps or defends another. ex tend'ing. reaching; stretching; offering. quick; ready; at the right time. prompt, sup pört', help; aid; strength added. im môr'tal, never-dying; having life forever in the future. re nown', fame; great honor.

170

wide-open; staring; gaping with wonder, etc. A gape', in great desire; eager. a gog', unpleasant in manner; forbidding; sullen. grum, [well before attempting anything. ugly; frightful. grim, not headstrong; careful; heedful; given to thinking pru'dent. not willing to be advised; stubborn. head'strong, con'tra ry, opposite; opposed; unwilling. frac'tious, cross; fretful; easily angered. fin'i cal, overnice in small matters; showy. gul'li ble, easily deceived; too ready to believe.

Con strain', to urge by force; to force; to compel. im press', to stamp, as a coin; to fix, as in the mind. con cern'. to interest; to trouble; to make one think. af fect', to concern; to act upon; to pretend. to relate or belong; to belong; to have connection with. per tain', con fôrm'. to bring into agreement; to fit; to be in agreement with. at tune'. to tune; to make musical; to fit, as the thoughts. to join or unite to; to be next to. ad join'. de pend'. to hang upon for support. [your words." ac côrd', to agree; to make agree; as, "Your actions accord with

172

Flur'ry. a sudden shake; a slight gust: a little alarm. ran'dom, done by chance; without aim. glimpse. a rapid or slight view; a glance. a mixture; a muddy state of mind, as from drink. mud'dle, jum'ble, a muddle; a mixed mass, or crowd; a jam. shred. a small part, as of cloth; a strip. gauze, a kind of very thin cloth. mesh. one of the loops, or spaces, of a net. scum : dregs. drŏss. a soft mass, as the soft part of fruit, etc. pulp.

173

Fôr'ward, toward the front, or prow, of a vessel. a báft', toward the rear, or stern, of a vessel. hith'er. to this place. whith'er. to what place. whêre'fōre, on account of which; for which reason. here'to fore, before this time; up to this time. whêre ăs'. as it is so that; since; because. mean'while, in the time; while this was being done. forth'with", without delay; at once. down'right, plain; strong; without pretense.

A noint'. to rub with oil as a religious rite. to give: to give up, as one's self to any cause. de vote'. ôr dain'. to appoint; to order; to establish. to make holy; to set apart for holv uses. hal'lōw. sanc'ti f₹. to make holy: to purify. chris'ten (cris's'n), to baptize; to name in baptism. con'se crate, to declare sacred, as by a religious form. de'i f⊽. to class as a god; to exalt highly. to bear loss or guilt; to repay; to amend. a tone'. chās'ten (chās's'n), to correct; to punish.

175

Ill'-will". hatred, strong dislike. one's own will: stubbornness. self'-will''. ill'-hu''mor $(h\bar{u} \text{ or } \bar{u})$, peevishness; bad humor. want of piety; wickedness. im pi'e ty, king: weight op pres'sion, cruelty; hard treatment, as the oppression of a wicked tôr'tūre, great pain, either of mind or body. knäv'er y, dishonesty; trickery; rascality. re môrse', pain caused by a sense of guilt; self-reproach. hör'ror. dread; great fear mixed with hatred. traġ'e dv. any dreadful event or deed, as a murder, etc.

176

Im plant', to place upon; to place in; to plant, as to implant the seeds of virtue in the mind. in stil'. to put in by drops, or little by little: to teach. to place in office; to install. in state', [etc.: to inclose. in vest'. to give, as power; to place, as to invest money in land, di vest'. to strip; to take off; to take from. to hang or join to; to add afterwards. ap pend', in sert'. to place, or set in, among, as another word in a line, etc. at tach'. to seize legally; to gain over; to win; to fix or join. in hēre', to exist in, as courage, etc., in the mind. im pend', to hang over or threaten, as danger.

Re fer ring, speaking about; relating.

foul, unfair; dishonest; shameful; filthy.

li'bel, a public or printed slander; an injurious lie.

little known; hidden. ob scure', au'thor, a maker, as of a book; a writer.

[ping at many places. nice; trim; proper in dress. spruce, tour'ist, a traveler; one who goes on a pleasure journey, stoput'ters, speaks. de served', merited.

con tempt', scorn; scornful words or actions.

178

furnish again; fit out anew; restore Re fit', dam'aged, injured; having been harmed. war. ar'ma ment, the cannon, etc., of a vessel; a force fitted out for ren'o vāte, make new; mend completely.

wretch'ed, worthless; mean; miserable. rig'ging, the sails or tackling of a ship.

trī um'phant ly, with great joy; proudly; successfully.

dis perse', scatter; cause to scatter. fôr'mi da ble, strong; mighty; dreadful.

flo til'la, a large naval force; a fleet of small vessels.

179

Tinge, to stain; to color slightly. wood. to cover cheap wood with a very thin sheet of fine ve neer'. to make dim; to blot; to stain. blur. to mend awkwardly; to patch roughly. gold. botch, to cover or overlay with thin gold; to make look like ģild, to cover with lumps or swellings, as in leather-work. em boss', wat'tle. to weave together, as twigs or thin slats.

mulch, to cover, as the roots of a tree with straw, etc.

to feed upon, as cattle upon shrubs. browse, quáff, to drink; to drink in large mouthfuls.

Pen'i tent. one who is sorry for sin and will reform. de vout'lv. religiously; in an earnestly religious manner. be seech'.

beg or pray earnestly.

e ter'nal. everlasting; without beginning or end.

cre a'tor. God; one who creates.

mer'ci ful ly, in a merciful, or kind and tender, manner.

par'don (d'n), to forgive.

man'i fold, many; of many kinds.

se'cret. hidden.

of fen'ses. crimes; sins; wicked acts.

181

Ex pert', skillful from practice.

seam'stress. a woman who sews for a living.

ĕarns, gains by labor. [thin.

mea'gre (or mea'ger), poor; small in amount; of poor quality; lean; sal'a ry, regular payment for service.

toil'some, laborious; wearisome.

en dĕav'or. work; a serious attempt; work for a purpose.

at tain'. to gain; to get; to obtain; to succeed in a purpose.

pros pěr'i ty, success; good fortune. com fort. freedom from want or pain.

182

Àr ray', to set in order; to dress.

a dôrn', to embellish; to beautify. change.

dis guīse'. to change one's appearance by dress, etc.; to alter; to de fôrm', to spoil or injure the form of.

dis fig'ure. to injure the form of; to make ugly in form.

trans fôrm'. to change the form, as a caterpillar to a butterfly.

as sume', to take for granted; to suppose as a fact; to take, as to assume a debt or one's manner.

dis sem'ble, to play the hypocrite; to disguise one's feelings.

re sem'ble. to be like; to look like.

con trast'. to compare by showing differences.

Un sound', not sound; imperfect.

un trod'den (d'n), not trodden; not visited, as a wilderness.

un let'tered, not learned; ignorant of the alphabet.

un rea'son a ble, not reasonable; foolish. un com'mon, not common; strange. un will'ing. not willing: opposed.

un com'fort a ble, not pleasant; having no comfort. un al'ter a ble, not to be changed; steady; fixed.

un wield'y, too heavy to handle or wield; large; awkward. un a vail'ing, that does not profit; unsuccessful; useless.

184

Sulk'y, sullen; crabbed; glcomy.

si'lence, absence of sound or noise; the state of being silent, im per'ti nent, rude in manner; insolent: not proper to the subject.

clam'or, a great noise, as of shouting, etc. ut'mōst, the greatest in degree or kind.

pru'dence, discretion; care; the state of being prudent.

nat'u ral, without effort or labor; not pretended; not false.

dis pleas'ure (ezh), offense; disfavor; slight anger.

tre men'dous, very large.

up"roar', clamor; a great noise, as from a mob, etc.

188

Kid"nap', to steal or carry away a person. [out paying taxes. smug'gle, to hide; to bring in or send out goods secretly withsack, to plunder, as a town taken by an enemy.

fet'ter, to tie; to chain; to bind.

shack'le, to chain; to bind; to fetter. [smoke, etc. sti'fle, to choke; to deprive of the power to breathe, as in bri'dle, to hold back; to put a bridle on. throt'tle, to choke, as with the hands.

rav'age, to lay waste; to burn and destroy, as an army.
boy"cott', to unite against, as purchasers against a dealer, etc.

Clev'er, skillful; apt. val'iant, very brave.

gen'er ous, kind; great-hearted; noble; giving freely.

lav'ish, freely spending; wasteful. wise, sensible; not foolish. hu'mor ous $(\hbar \bar{u} \text{ or } \bar{u})$, merry; laughable. im pa'tient, not patient; restless. de ci'ded, settled in mind; fixed. du'ti ful, obedient; mindful of duty.

dâr'ing, fearless; bold.

187

Vile, evil; mean; base.

vag'a bond, a wandering rascal; a thievish tramp. filched, stole, as a small quantity of anything.

trin'ket, a toy; a bawble. [at law. ju'ry, a number of men chosen to try a case in dispute, as con vict'ed, proved, or found, guilty; condemned.

im pōşed', laid a weight upon, as punishment; deceived.

ap pro'pri ate, proper; just; fit; suitable.

pen'al ty, a punishment.

im prig'on ment, confinement in prison.

188

Ag griëve',
de tract',
de prāve',
de prāve',
de prīve',
de bāse',
be līe',
de fāce',
to give sorrow to; to vex; to harass; to injure.
to take away from; to injure another's good name.
to make evil or bad.
to take from; to cause one loss.
to lower; to make of less value.
be līe',
to slander.
[by scratching or marking.
to destroy beauty; to injure; to make foul, as a wall in fest', to harass; to disturb; to plague.

pol lute', to taint; to defile.

cur tail', to shorten; to cut off part.

Pam'phlet, a small book, usually without a strong cover.

man'u al, a small book; a handbook. [to another. pass'port, a written form permitting passage from one country cer tif'i cate, a written form setting forth any fact.

to'ken (k'n), a keepsake; a sign.

mis'sive, the duty upon which one is sent; an errand.

ti'dings, news. lōre, learning.

car toon', a picture or outline on strong paper.

lam poon', written abuse or scorn.

190

Un mind'ful, not mindful; careless.

in'va lid, one disabled by sickness or weakness.

pit'e ous, sorrowful; pitiable.

be reave'ment, loss, as of a relative by death; any loss.

men'tal, relating to the mind. [lowered state, as of trade, etc. de pres'sion, a low place, as between hills; low or poor spirits; a to'tal, entire; complete; whole.

dis may', great fear.
ut'ter, complete; total.
de spâir', hopelessness.

191

Ex pend', to lay out; to spend.

de fray', to pay the expense or cost; to pay.

suc'cor, to help; to assist. sol'ace, to cheer; to console.

re trench', to lessen expenses; to live on less.

re plen'ish, to fill again; to refill; to lay in a new supply.

fam'ish, to die of hunger.

sub sist', to live; to be; to get a living.

ca'ter, to provide food.

nur'ture, to feed; to rear; to train.

Stay, to put an end to, as a quarrel: to remain: to support hos til'i ty. open war: warfare: hatred. sus pend'. to delay; to cause to cease for a time. con'flict. a battle; a fight; a quarrel; lack of agreement. to hinder; to delay; as, "Snow retarded the march." re tard'. pur süit', act of pursuing; following; chase. de fer'. to put off to another time: to yield to another's wish. re venģe'. the returning of evil for evil. post pone', to delay; to put off; to defer. re mov'al. the act of moving; moving from one place to another.

193

Ed'it. to arrange for publication, as a newspaper, etc. sum'mon. to give notice or command to appear, as in court, in'stance. to give as an example; to point out. ex hib'it. to show, as in public. in spect', to look at closely; to look into carefully. in ves'ti gate, to search out; to find out. sim'pli f₹. to make clear; to make plain or simple. de pict', to describe; to paint; to show. de pōrt', to behave; to act: to banish. ex port', to carry out of a country for trade or sale.

194

Prod'uct. that which is made or produced. a price fixed; an amount; a tax: degree; measure. rāte, as sess'ment, what one is charged, as in taxing. pen'ance, any suffering for one's own sins or mistakes. dow'er. a wife's or widow's share of property. a debt. pledge, anything pawned; something left with another to secure trea'ty, an agreement, as between tribes or nations. trib'üte, money yielded by a weak country to a stronger. suf'frage. a vote. cen'sus, a numbering of the people, etc.

Pri'va teer". a ship used by private persons for war. back'woods'man. one living in a newly settled country. bush"whack'er. one who hides in woods in order to kill his enemies. sim'ple ton, a blockhead: one whose mind is weak. out"post', a sentinel posted far to the front. free'-trade'. trade without tax. mills, etc. the product in a given time from mines, furnaces, out'put, cost; money expended. out lay', sea'-lev"el, the level of the surface of the sea. åft'er glow. a glow in the west after sunset.

196

Tram'mel. to entangle, as in a net; to catch; to hinder. ham'per. to entangle; to fetter; to impede. school, etc. tax, to charge, as to tax the people for support of the muz'zle, to bind the mouth, as of a dog. muf'fle. to conceal; to wrap; to cover, as the face. cum'ber, to burden, as with a load; to trouble. be numb' (nŭm), to make torpid; to deaden for a time. smoth'er, to kill by depriving of air. [cause a short stoppage. in'ter rupt", to break into or between, as a conversation; to rup'tūre, to break; to burst, as a blood-vessel.

197

Com'fort a ble, having comfort; pleasant. in a ship. a long, covered passage; a balcony; an apartment galler y, ex ten'sive, large; wide; long; having great extent. ve ran'da. an outside gallery; an open balcony or portico. cir'cu lar. round like a circle. an'te room, a front room leading to another. pro lŏnged', lengthened; made long as to time or extent. aisle (il), a walk or passage, as in a church. e nôr'mous, huge; very large. are kept. mu şē'um, a house or place where strange or uncommon things Furlough, leave of absence for a time, as given to a soldier.

staff, a set of officers serving a general or other commander.

in'fant ry, foot-soldiers of an army.

cav'al ry, soldiers who serve on horseback.

ăm mu ni'tion, powder, balls, shells, etc. [know their friends. coun'ter sīgn, a sign or word given to sentinels, so that they may corps $(c\bar{o}r)$, a body of troops. [for a cannon. căis'sŏn", a chest of bombs or powder; an ammunition wagon court'-mar"tial, an army court to try soldiers.

bre vet', a rank and title above the regular pay of an officer:
a brevet major receives the pay of a captain.

199

Traf'fic, to trade; to buy and sell.

trans fer', to give or send to another person or place.

nav'i gate, to sail; to go by water.

ex plore', to search into, as a cavern or a new country.
ex tôrt', to draw out by force; to compel, as a high price.
ac quire', to get; to earn; to get possession of, as knowledge.

a mass', to collect; to heap; to pile up, as a fortune.

dis burse', to pay out.

en no'ble, to make noble; to dignify. en rich', to make rich; to improve.

200

Fer'tile, rich, as soil; fruitful.

stag'nant, standing still, as a pool; impure; foul.

e rect', standing upright.

numb (num),

prone, lying down; fallen with the face downward.

de l'icious, pleasant to the taste; delightful.
ac'rid, bitter; of a hot, biting taste.
an'i mate, alive; quickened with life.

alive; quickened with life. [cold motionless; stiff; without power to move, as from con cave', rounded inward, as the inside of a saucer.

con vex', rounded outward, as the outside of a saucer.

Pro duc'tive, that which produces; fertile. ag"ri cul'ture, farming; the business of a farmer.

sub dueş', reduces or makes good, as land; overcomes; vanquishes. sav'age, brutal; fierce; cruel; untamed; unsubdued, as land.

waste, a wild tract of land; a desert; a jungle.
fos'ters, feeds; supports; maintains; helps.
com'merce, trade; trade between different countries.
from this reason; from this place or time.

ben'e fits, assists; aids; does good to; helps.

202

War'ble, to sing, as a bird.

mur'mur, to speak low; to complain.

com mu'ni ty, the public; the people.

mut'ter, to murmur; to speak as with closed teeth; to grumble.

ban'dy, to quarrel; to beat back and forth.

gain say', to deny; to say against.

de mur', to raise objection; to pause; to stop.

par'ley, to talk together; to have a talk with an enemy.

jest, to joke; to make fun. va'por, to bully; to brag.

mim'ic, to mock; to act like another in sport or scorn

203

Tep'id, lukewarm; slightly warm, as water.

tôr'pid, still; numb; without motion, as a serpent in winter.

fur'tive, sly; secret; stealthy, as a furtive look.

null, of no force; having no effect; as, "The old law is null."

nude, naked; uncovered; without clothing. [void." void, empty; vain; as, "The earth was without form and pied, having more than one color, as an animal.

pet'it (pět'y), small; little, as a child.

tur'bid, muddy; stirred up; full of dregs, as a river.

tur'gid, swollen; puffed out, as a boil.

Te'di ous, tiresome; wearisome; irksome.

twad'dle, idle talk; nonsense.

spīte'ful, full of spite.

i'ron y (i'rny), saying one thing but meaning another. un found'ed. false; without fact or good reason.

en'mi ty, hatred; hostility.

surly, rough in speech or manner; unpleasant.

de fi'ance, an act of defying; a bold stand.

fell, cruel; savage; bloody; deadly. [a debate. con'test, a struggle for victory; a battle; a combat; a dispute;

205

Mod'ern, not old; of present times; as, "Railroads are modern."

ra'ces, those descended from common forefathers. u ni ver'sal ly, throughout the whole; without exception.

re joice', to be glad, or joyful; to give joy.

prog'ress, a moving or going forward; improvement. a pāce', quick; fast; speedily; with a quick pace. hu'man, belonging to man, as the human family.

ef'fort, attempt; trial; endeavor; work. [of want, pain, etc. re lief', the act of freeing or of being freed, as from any degree des'ti tute, needy, as destitute orphans.

206

Can'cel. to annul; to destroy; to blot out. ex empt'. to free from; to excuse, as from paying a tax. dis pel', to scatter; to drive away, as grief, fear, etc. re peal', to do away with, as one law by another law; to annul. re vert'. to return; as, "The farm reverted to its first owner." sub'sti tüte, to put in the place of another; to exchange. re lapse', to fall back; to lose what was gained, as health. re prieve', to grant delay for a time, as one condemned to death. res'pite, to put off what was appointed; to reprieve. re scind', to call back: to repeal: to countermand.

 $ilde{A}$ r'id, dry, as a desert; parched; barren. pla teau' $(t\tilde{o})$, a high plain; a table-land.

pla teau' $(t\bar{o})$, a high plain; a tablever'dant, green; growing.

o'a sis, green; growing.

o'a sis, a spot of good land in a desert.

im mense', great in size; of great extent.

quag'mīre, a soft bog or marsh.

un whōle'some, not healthful; producing disease. [malaria. mī aṣ'ma, air made hurtful by seeds (germs) of disease; murk'y, dark; gloomy; cloudy.

ex panse', a wide stretch or extent, as of land, sea, or sky.

208

Bludg'eon, a club; a short heavy stick.
brand, a piece of wood partly burnt.

cudg'el, a short stick to strike with.

trun'cheon, a staff; a club.

trow'el, a tool used by bricklayers.

gav'el, a mallet used by presidents of public bodies.

mi'tre (or mi'ter), a headdress used by chief priests.

scep'tre (or scep'ter), the staff of a king, being the sign of his power.

mace, a club or staff used as a sign of lawful power.

be'som, a heavy broom.

209

Smith, a metal worker, as a silversmith, a blacksmith, etc.

coll'ier, a digger of, or dealer in, coal.

huck'ster, a peddler; a retailer, as of provisions.

scav'en ger, one who cleans streets.

min'strel, a musician; a poet and singer.
mer'cer, a dealer in silks and woolens.
chan'dler, a dealer, as a tallow-chandler.

hab"er dash'er, a dealer in small wares, such as articles of dress. com'mis sa ry, an officer who provides food for troops. [troops. quar"ter mas'ter, an officer who looks after the sleeping-places, etc., of Min'er als. what is commonly dug from mines, as iron, coal, etc. ad'a mant. a very hard stone. quar'ry. a place from which building-stone is taken. di'a mond, the hardest and most valuable stone. in'got. a bar of gold or silver. gold. a lump of precious metal just as dug, as a nugget of nug'get. black lead, as in a pencil. graph'ite. mi'ca, a shining mineral, used in the doors of stoves, etc. pe tro'le um, kerosene oil before it is purified. mag'net, an ore of iron which attracts (draws) iron; loadstone.

211

Wam'pum. a belt of shells used as money by the Indians. wages; settled pay; salary. sti'pend. al low'ance. that which is allowed; share or portion granted. as sign'ment, transfer of property by writing; the act of assigning. fund. a stock of money. flong railroad ticket. cou pon', a portion of a paper of value printed in parts, as of a ex pend'i ture, sum expended or paid out. ar rears', amounts unpaid. re cēipt', a writing showing that payment has been made. quit'tance. release or discharge from debt. etc. : receipt in full.

212

Va'cant. unoccupied; having no one in it; empty. berth. a bed in a sleeping-car or a ship. sham. false; pretended. ci vil'i ty, politeness; kindness of manner. un fâir'. not fair; unjust. Tetc. crit'ic, one who criticises or judges of conduct, books, speeches, self'ish. caring for self and not for others. churl, a surly, ill-bred fellow. sense'less. without reason; destitute of sense. ī'dol, an image worshiped as a god.

having fame or renown: celebrated. Fa'mous. happy; successful; having good fortune. fôr'tu nate. be com'ing. fit; proper; suited. de co'rous. decent; well-behaved; becoming; proper; suitable. high; celebrated; holding high rank. em'i nent. un bi'ased. fair-minded; impartial; not leaning to one side. laud'a ble. praiseworthy; to be commended. prě'cious, having great price or value : costly. learn'ed. having much knowledge or learning. pro found', deep; having depth or strength of mind.

214

a swindler: a cheating fellow. Sharp'er. scape'grace, a worthless fellow. men'di cant, a beggar. a rascal; a person of bad morals. mis'erë ant, trai'tor. one false to his country; a betrayer. a foreigner; a stranger. āl'ien, a scolding or quarreling woman. vix'en. cra'ven, a coward. a knave; a low villain. cai'tiff. can'ni bal, a person who eats human flesh.

215

to scold; to reprove; to blame. Chīde. impudent; impertinent; insolent. sau'cy, hoi'den (d'n), a rude, awkward girl. to quiet; to appease; to calm; to cause peace. pac'i f₹, pee'vish. fretful; cross. one whose mind is injured by age; a childish old man do'tard, to drive from one' country. ban'ish. re doubt'a ble (dout), to be feared; formidable; of great strength. trai'tor ous. like a traitor; false to one's country. fra ter'ni ty. a community; a brotherhood; a company of friends.

to force: to urge forward. Im pel', re strain', to hinder: to hold back. a storm." to foreshow; to betoken ill; as, "The clouds portend por tend', to hinder or prevent by fear. de ter'. to cast down, as the spirits; to make sad. de ject', to make low-spirited; to cause loss of hope. dis pir'it, to act cowardly: to yield slavishly. truck'le. to threaten; to show cause for fear. men'ace. [spirit; to cower; to shrink. bick'er, to quarrel uselessly. to give way under trial or fear of danger; to lose quail,

217

In'se cūre". not secure : unsafe. ness. sit'u a"tion, the place in which anything is; any place, as in busiper'ma nent. lasting; not decaying. con di'tion. state; situation. spu'ri ous, counterfeit; false. spe'cie (shi), coin; gold, silver, and copper as money. strong; stout; solid; real. sub stan'tial, the passage. băr'ri cāde. a rude pile or wall across a street or road for defending com mo'di ous. suitable; affording ease; useful; roomy, as a dwelling. bar'racks, large buildings in which soldiers lodge.

218

Ġī gan'tic, like a giant; enormous. côr sâir', a pirate; a pirate's ship. limber; easy to bend; slender; nimble. līthe, ath lete', a wrestler; one of great strength. pī rat'i cal. relating to a pirate or sea-robber; pertaining to piracy. sea"fâr'er, a sailor. of a hero. he rō'ic, highly brave; valiant; fearless; having the qualities knīght, a title of rank; a kind of superior cavalryman of old. de vot'ed, earnest in a cause; appointed; having strong purpose. hĕr'o Ine, a female hero.

Scrawl. to write or draw clumsily. a blow on wood. to notch; to stamp; to make a mark or dent, as with in dent', e rāse'. to rub out : to rub off. [letters on a monument, etc. ef fāce'. to rub out; to make so as not to be read or seen, as the a brāde'. to rub off a part; to scratch. to injure, as beauty; to harm; to deface. mar, to cut off, as with a single blow. lop, to destroy, as a building; to erase. rāze, sun'der, to separate; to divide; to part; to cut off. sev'er. to cut off a part; to cut off from something.

that may be borne; not too heavy to bear. Tol'er a ble, mod'er ate, mild; middling; not violent. that may be passed; moderately good. pass'a ble, con sid'er a ble, deserving notice; not small. con sid'er ate, thoughtful; careful, as of the feelings, etc., of others. pit'i a ble, that should be pitied. lam'en ta ble, to be lamented; mournful. miş'er a ble, unhappy; wretched; like a miser. blām'a ble. deserving blame; guilty. [ful cloud. bale'ful, full of harm or mischief; threatening harm, as a bale

221

Tablet. a small table; a small blank book; a flat surface. $\bar{\mathbf{e}}\mathbf{a}'\mathbf{s}\mathbf{e}\mathbf{l}$ $(\bar{e}\mathbf{s}'\mathbf{l})$, the frame on which a painter's picture rests. pal'ette, a tablet on which a painter mixes his paints. wood'cut, a block of wood carved for printing a picture, etc. a likeness or picture of a person. por'trait, parch'ment, skins dressed for writing on. twenty-four sheets of paper. quire, twenty quires. ream, a book in which each leaf is a quarter of a sheet. quar'to, cop'y right, the right to publish a book, etc.

Im pass'able, slough, a deep, miry place.

tôr'tu ous, cur'rent, a running stream; a course, as the current of one's tow'er ing, veg'e ta"tion, plants of all kinds, as corn, trees, etc.

in'ac cess"i ble, that cannot be entered.

mo rass', a large bog or swamp.
sin'u ous, bending; very crooked, as a river.

in let, a small arm of the sea; a passage; an entrance.

223

fof God. Re vere'. to love and fear, as to revere God. ex alt', to raise; to elevate; to heighten, as to exalt the name ad mire'. to feel more than common esteem. fto think. es teem'. to value; to prize; to set a value on; to regard highly; ap prove', to commend; to assent; to confirm. con grat'u late, to approve another's happiness and wish him joy. to urge earnestly; to incite by words of advice. ex hôrt'. to give courage or hope to; to invite. en cour'age. coun'te nance. to support: to favor: to help. of lower rank. con'de scend". to stoop or descend, as to condescend to speak to one made for the purpose; not general. Spe'cial. a school of higher learning. col'lege, cat'a logue, a list of names, etc., in regular order. publishes; makes known. worth noticing. an noun'ces. ma te'ri al. having body or substance; of worth or value; well ad van'ta ges. things that bring profit or benefit. sen'si ble. not foolish: wise: right-minded. pas'tīmes. plays : amusements. do mes'tic. belonging to the home. hand'i crafts, kinds of work done by hand; trades.

224

De vout'.

pious : religious.

ān'cient.

very old; of olden times.

pil'grims, ig nöred'. those who make religious journeys. gave no notice to; treated as unknown.

dīre'ful,

dreadful; dangerous; dismal.

hard'ship.

that which is hard to bear, as want, exposure, etc.

trav'ers ing.

crossing; journeying across; opposing. in hos'pi ta ble, not disposed to entertain strangers: unkind.

climes. daunt'less.

climates; regions. fearless; bold.

226

Al lav', tu'mŭlt. quiet or put at rest; quell; calm; appease; soothe.

uproar; great disturbance, as of a mob.

a mend'.

correct; reform; mend.

char'ter,

rights granted by a higher power to a lower in a solemn writing, as the charter of a city.

ī den'ti f₹.

prove, or show, to be the same.

ac quaint'ance, a person one knows.

company, etc.

en röll', vol'un teers".

write down, as names upon a roll; receive, as into a those who serve of their own free will, as in the army.

sen 'tence, fel'on, condemn; pronounce penalty upon. one who has committed a great crime.

Re pent', re lent'. trans gress', to be sorry for sin and wish pardon; to give up sin. to soften in temper; to yield; to forego revenge.

to break the law; to sin.

di gress'. de sign',

re dress'.

to turn aside or wander, as from a path or a subject.

to plan; to intend; to purpose; to sketch.

de fīne'. to explain, as a word; to tell, or fix, the boundary. re deem', to rescue; to save; to get again by paying a price. to set right; to enforce correction, as of a wrong.

per sist'. to firmly act as before. fôr sāke'. to leave; to quit; to desert.

Re lent'less, determined not to relent.

des'pot, a tyrant; a monarch who makes his own laws. de creed'. ordered; commanded; passed a law or decree.

hŏr'ri ble, dreadful; shocking; terrible. mas'sa ere (ker), wholesale murder; butchery. prin'ci pal, chief; main; most important.

hos'ta ges, persons placed in the enemy's power as pledges.

hor'ri fled, filled with horror.

neū'tral, not on either side, as in war. [nation. na'tions, people distinct or different from others, as the French

229

So'lar, relating to, or proceeding from, the sun.

brill'ian cy, dazzling brightness.

po'lar, relating to the pole; near the North or South Pole. a part of the country; a picture of woods, fields, etc.

lu'nar, relating to the moon, as a lunar month.

hem'i sphère, half of a round body; half a globe; half a sphere. a e'ri al, relating to the air; in the air, as an aerial journey.

tour, a roving journey.

sul'try, hot and close; warm and moist. at'mos phēre, the air around the earth; air.

230

Curb, hold in check; prevent. un nec'es sary, not necessary; needless.

an'i ma"tion, life; spirits; state of being lively. con trol', govern; rule over; keep in check.

mis guid'ed, wrongly directed or guided, as into danger or harm.

val'or, bravery; splendid courage. kin'dle, set on fire; light; start.

sin cere', not false; true; without pretense. youth'ful, of, or relating to, early life; young.

pa'tri ot ism, love of one's country.

Pre sume', to take for granted; to be forward, haughty, or insolent dis cern' (zern), to see; to discover.

sur vey', to look over closely; to measure, as land. es py', to look about; to watch; to see at a distance.

re view' (vū), to look again; to study; to inspect.

re fer', to mention to another: to belong; to relate.

con cur', to agree in thought or purpose.

in cur', to bring on; as, "By idleness we incur loss." oc cur', to happen; to take place; to come to mind.

ac crue', to be added to, as by growth, etc.; to become greater.

232

Pit'i less, wanting pity; unfeeling.

ban'dit, a highway robber.

in"ter est'ing, that gives interest, pleasure, etc., to the mind.

com pan'ion, a mate; one in company; a partner.

val'or ous, very brave; full of valor.

com'rade (or cum'rad), a companion; a companion-in-arms.

a'mi a ble, pleasing; charming; lovable.

ped'a gogue, a school-teacher; a teacher of children. wor'thy, deserving; having worth, as of mind.

vic'ar, a pastor; a preacher.

233

Re spect'ful, full of respect; not insolent.

mi'nor, one under legal age; one under twenty-one years old.

in firm', feeble; very weak from old age or illness.

a dult', a grown person. re spect'a ble, worthy of respect.

bach'e lor, a man who has never married.

a droit', skillful; cunning. pet'ti fog ger, a petty lawyer.

wist'ful, earnestly wishing; longing.

can'di date, one who seeks office.

Can'ker, to become foul, as brass, etc.

cor rode', to eat or wear away, as an acid does a metal.

de cay', to waste away; to rot; to perish. de com pose', to separate, as by decay; to dissolve.

de cease'. to die.

in ter', to cover under ground; to bury. ex hūme', to dig out of the earth; to unbury.

in hūme', to bury.

em balm' (bam), to preserve a body from decay. [itself.

out crop', to stick out, as coal at the earth's surface; to show

235

Con'quer (ker), defeat; overcome; as, "Conquer yourself."

e'go tism, self-praise; much speaking of self. el'e vate, lift up; make high or grand.

du'ty, whatever one is bound or ought to do.

heed, attend to; take warning.
rep'ri mand, public reproof; blame.
pro mote', forward; advance; help on.

wor'ship, religious service.

a dore', worship with great love; honor as a god.

di vin'i ty, God.

236

Pen'ni less, moneyless; poor; destitute. spend'thrift, one who spends too freely.

be moans', laments; bewails; mourns over.

des'per ate, hopeless; mad; furious. plīght, situation; condition.

oc ca'gion al, happening at irregular times.
pit'tance, a small allowance, as of money.

re lieves', frees, as from any degree of pain, labor, or trouble.

fru'gal, sparing; not wasteful. her'mit, one who lives alone.

De tach ment, a body of troops separated from the rest of the army. plundered; stripped. de spoiled', of great cost; expensive. costly, ed'i fice. a building. de mol'ished. destroyed; torn to pieces. not long since. re'cent ly, con struct'ed. built; put together, as a house, etc. aq'ue dŭet $(\check{a}k'we)$, a water-channel made by man. with drew', . retreated; went away.

238

un mo lest'ed, not troubled or molested, as by an enemy.

weight; heaviness: a handle; a helve. Heft. the force, as of a blow; the heat or main struggle, as of a brunt, weight to one side; a leaning; a direction; a wish. bi'as. desire; a leaning; as, "The bent of his mind gave bent, him a love for study." a stain; a rank or rotting condition, as of fish. taint, a disease, as of plants, etc.; mildew. blight. weakness of body or mind; feebleness. frail'ty, flaw. a fault; a defect. aught, anything. naught, nothing.

239

Ground'less, without ground; unreasonable. future. uneasiness for fear of loss, etc.; trouble about the an xi'e ty (zi), ex trēme'. very great; the greatest degree. worry; great trouble; annoyance. vex a'tion. sickness, etc. anx'ious (ank'shus), uneasy; troubled from fear, as in time of danger, ex'pec ta"tion, act or state of expecting. wea'ri some, tiresome; tedious. com plaints', fault-findings; murmurings; lamentings. a gree'a ble, pleasant; pleasing, as a conversation without dispute. a muse'ment. that which amuses, as sport, etc.

Ġībe, to scoff at; to sneer; to deride. sim'per, to smile foolishly, as an idiot. cowardice cringe, to bend down; to bow before; to submit, as through wince, to flinch; to start, as in sudden pain. to talk too much and idly; to babble; to prattle. prāte, rail, to scold; to complain; to reproach. to find fault in a peevish way. carp, ran'kle, to become rank or rancid; to fester; to heat into anger. foist, to force into another's speech words not used by him. foil, to defeat; to puzzle; to prevent; to baffle.

241

Im pôr'tant, having serious meaning; not petty. ev'i dence, proof; whatever proves; that which shows truth. un līke'ly, more than doubtful. in tel'li gence, news; knowledge; understanding. im prob'a ble, unlikely; not probable. [den loud noise. that which spreads, as news either false or true; a sudre port', witnessed upon oath. swōrn, rec'ord, an account; a book for keeping some kinds of accounts. ac'cu rate, correct; free from mistake. vouch'er, that which witnesses; a writing that is sworn to.

242

Shāme'ful, disgraceful. prŏd i gal'i ty, waste in expenses; the acts of a spendthrift. af flicts', troubles greatly; grieves; puts in pain. in'no cent, those free from guilt. un düe', improper; not right: not suitable. prī va'tion, want; loss of anything. prof'it a ble, affording gain or profit. work; steady or diligent work; diligence. in'dus try, ō ver comeş', conquers. ill luck; evil fortune. mis fôr'tūne.

Out land ish, strange; foreign; not native. [gods. pa'gan, heathen; one who worships or believes in idols or false sup plied', furnished; afforded.

fôr lôrn', helpless; forsaken; miserable.
pe des'tri an, one who journeys on foot.
ôr'di na ry, common; mean; middling.

re past', a meal.

an tique' (teek), very old; old-fashioned.

sa'crěd, holy; set apart for religious use. u ten'sil, a tool; a vessel, as for cooking, etc.

244

Füse, to melt, as ore by heat; to mingle.

förge, to form by heating and hammering, as iron.

iğ nīte', to set on fire; to take fire.

smoul'der, to burn and smoke without flame.

glim'mer, to shine faintly.

sat'u rate, to fill through and through, as a sponge with water.

Ir'ri gate, to water, as a field by means of canals. in'un date, to overflow with water, as a freshet. sub merge', to put under water; to go under water.

im merse', to plunge into a fluid; to put under water; to submerge.

245

O'ver flow, an inundation; a flowing out beyond banks. de poş'its, lodges; places; lays up, as money in bank.

a bun'dant, · plentiful; ample.

al lu'vi al, carried by water; added to land, as mud by the water.

sed'i ment, lees; settlings, as of mud in the rivers, etc. .

re news', makes new; renovates.

wont'ed, of common use; customary; what one is used to see.

fer til'i ty richness, as of soil. mar'gin, the edge; a border.

chan'nel, the bed of a stream; a groove.

Seem'ing ly, in appearance; as it seems.
reck'less, rash; careless; heedless.
ac'ro bat, a rope-dancer; an expert leaper.

ac ro pat, a rope-dancer; an expert lea per forms', does; accomplishes.

re mark'a ble, worthy of note; uncommon.
feats, actions; deeds; difficult acts.

as ton'ish eş, surprises greatly.
spec ta'torş, lookers on; beholders.

start'ling, causing fright or sudden surprise; frightening.

pŏs'tūres, forms or appearances of the body, as in leaping, etc.

247

Stern, of unkind look or manner; hard.

re fuş'al, the act of refusing.

gruff, unpleasant in manner or voice.

as sent', act of agreeing; consent.
gra'cious, kind; good; merciful.

re sponse'. an answer.

fa mil'iar, not strange; well-known. [pression of the face. ex pres'sion, any saying; that which conveys meaning, as the exun gen'tle man ly, low; unlike a gentleman. [good taste.]

slang, low speech; much-used expressions that are not in 248

Vol can'ic, relating to volcanoes; like a volcano; violent. com mo'tion, a tumult; a motion of many parts, as of the seas.

as tounds',
de fënse'less,
mul'ti tude,
viş'i ble,
astonishes; alarms greatly.
having no defense; helpless.
a great crowd; all the people.
that can be seen; within sight.

up heav'al, the act of heaving or lifting up from beneath.

re veals', shows; makes known.

pe cul'iar, unlike others; of a kind by itself.

pet'ri fac"tion, animal or vegetable matter changed to stone.

Ar rānģe'. to put in regular order. as sem'ble, to meet together. farrange into classes or divisions. sôrt. to put together things of the same kind: to arrange: to ex am'ine, to look at closely; to search closely; to question. clăs'si f⊽. to arrange in classes; to class. farmy. ôr'gan īze, to put together, or form, properly, as to organize an as sôrt'. to arrange in order; to sort; to classify. ftion. ap pōr'tion, to divide in just parts; to give out to each his porap praise', to set a price upon; to value. for metals. as say', to try; to make an attempt; to try or prove, as ores

250

Glår'ing. plainly seen; open; not secret; bold. any mistake; a blunder; a sin. ĕr'ror, un seem ly, unsuitable: improper: unfit: unpleasant. a blemish; a flaw; a lack; an imperfection. de fect', wan'ton. reckless; loose; sinful; ungoverned. ğuilt (qilt), sin; crime. sickening; loathsome. mawk'ish. dis gust', great dislike; loathing. dis tress'ing. causing distress; troublesome; painful. qualm (kwam), a sudden attack of illness or pain.

251

Un ground'ed, unreasonable; false. se cu'ri ty. safety; shelter; refuge. not seen, or known, before. ŭn fore seen'. in'ci dent. an event; an occurrence; something happening. ar'dū ous, difficult; laborious; hard to climb, as mountain paths. strug'gle, labor; contest; conflict. lu'di crous, laughable to see. mis hap', an unpleasant accident, as a fall; ill luck. ver'ti cal, straight up and down, as a wall; not leaning. a ditch. trench.

De throne', to deprive of power, as a monarch. the throne. to seize and hold by force without right, as to usurp u surp', ō ver throw', to defeat; to upset; to ruin. power. to dethrone; to displace; to move from office or de pōse', e lect', to choose for office; to select. re şīgn', to give up, as office; to yield without a contest. to charge with wrong, as a public servant; to accuse. im peach', ac quit', to clear from a charge; to set free. [planted Esau." sup plant', to take the place of; to displace; as, "Jacob suppre sīde', to sit in the highest place; to govern as chief officer.

253

Re fresh'ing, making fresh again; giving new strength. slum'ber. sleep; light sleep. wearing loose or untidy shoes; very careless. slip'shŏd, neg'li gence, want of care; lack of attention. aim'less, without aim or purpose. lēi'sūre (zhūr). time that can be used at pleasure. fes'tive, relating to feasts or merrymaking. cheerfulness; merriment; joy. gay'e ty. ma jes'tie, like a king; grand. proud show, as a parade, etc. pomp,

254

Vĕr'i ly, in truth; certainly; really. nāme'ly, by name. for sooth', in truth; indeed; of course. për ad ven'ture, perhaps; maybe. perhaps; by chance. hap'ly, in a manner that merits belief. cred'i bly, plainly; so as to be readable. leġ'i bly, ob scure'ly, in a dark, indistinct, or little-known manner. in a careful or watchful manner. cau'tious ly, swim'ming ly, well; favorably; without hindrance.

Now kind. brutal; beastly. Běs'tial (chal). me'ni al. belonging to servants; relating to duties that are of a ve'ni al. relating to pardonable offenses. un prin'ci pled (pl'd), without honor or principle; base. im pūre', not pure: foul of body or mind. causing grief or sorrow. griev'ous, nau'seous (shus), filthy; foul; causing sickness at the stomach. hid'e ous. dreadful to see; horrible; ugly. un couth'. awkward: strange to look at; clumsy. gaudy, but not strong or good, as dress. taw'dry,

256

San'gui na ry (qwi), murderous; cruel; bloody. on'slaught, an attack. sig'nal, remarkable; striking; noticeable. con'quest (kwest), victory; act of conquering. strong force. sudden; thoughtless, as if impelled or moved by a im pul'sive, chal'lenge, a call to fight a duel; a demand; a proposal or offer to engage in a contest of any sort. spīr'it ed, lively: full of fire; quick. fo ray' (or $for \bar{a}$), an inroad for the purpose of plundering. bar bar'ic. barbarous; pertaining to barbarous tribes or nations. in cur'sion, a coming in; a hostile entering into a country.

257

De sign'ing, planning; having design; sly. ren'e gade. a deserter; one who goes over to the enemy. chose; took as one's own; assumed. a dopt'ed, ar'ti fl"cial. pretended; not natural; made by man. the state of being insane; madness. in san'i ty, shunned; got out of danger of. es caped', mĕr'it ed, deserved. wood. côrd, a rope; a string; a rope for hanging: a measure of sin'gu lar, uncommon; rare; odd; strange. skill; ability; cleverness. ad dress'.

Can'did, outspoken; free; frank; open.

pro pōs'al, an offer; a bid.

curt, short; brief; curtailed; not complete.

re join'der, an answer to a reply.

pic to'ri al, illustrated; having pictures.

pla card', a written notice posted up.

show'y, gaudy; gay; splendid.

la'bel, name or title fastened or pasted to anything.
pas'tor al, pertaining to a shepherd; relating to country life.

bal'lad, a simple song.

259

to study. Trow, to think; to believe. to search deep, as into a wound; to search to the bottom; probe. to study; to learn; to read closely. Idoubt. con, to find out; to explain; to make plain; to clear up, as a solve. to look over carefully, as a book. pōre, to think; as, "He deemed idleness a sin." deem. to put on, as clothing. don, doff. [wards the south." to pull off, as the hat. trend. to stretch in a direction; as, "The mountains trend toto stand out, as a cape or headland into the sea. jut, 260

Pi'o neer"; a settler in a new country; a soldier who goes before to prepare the roads.

arch'er, a bowman; one skilled in the use of bow and arrow.

gra'zier (zher), one whose business is the pasturing of cattle.

coop'er, a maker of barrels, casks, etc. jan'i tor, a doorkeeper; a porter.

a'gent, one who acts for another.

gov'ern or, a ruler; the chief officer of a state.

gov'ern ess, an instructress for the children of a family at their home.

ma rineş', soldiers for service on war-ships.

mi li'tia (sha), citizens serving or ready to serve as soldiers.

Gawk'v. awkward; clownish; of clumsy manners. lively. having quick movements, as a person; smart; showy; jaun'ty. gid'dv. wild: fickle: foolish. [idly : unsteady. diz'zy, having the head become unsteady, as from turning raplôrn, lost; forsaken; forlorn. a ghast'. feeling and showing great fear: astounded. a skänce'. to one side; sideways, as a look. squeam'ish (skweem), easily made sick; overnice. shy; timid; wary. coy, stěalth'y, secret; sly; as, "The Indian's approach was stealthy."

262

Clew (or clue), anything that serves as a guide; a hint; a thread. a track, as the trail of a wild beast. trail. snâre. a net: a noose: a trap. scoûrge. a whip; a lash; punishment. rout. defeat and confused flight, as of an army. raid. a riding into the country of the enemy; an inroad. chāse. a hunt, as with hounds; pursuit. con'tact. a meeting; a touching together, as from a blow, etc. shock. a sudden shake or blow, as to body or mind. tri'umph, a success; joy at success.

263

to thrust into, as with a knife, etc.; to enter. Pierce, to split; to part; to divide; to separate. cleave, to strike, as with stones thrown. pelt. to throw; to shoot; to move rapidly, as a bird. dart. to fly away; to flutter. flit, to lean; to cause to lean; to govern; to rule. sway, va'ry, to change; to differ; to be changeable. elog, to hinder; to load; to burden; to cause loss of time. сбре, to contend; to struggle; to strive. jos'tle (jos'l), to crowd and push: to cause to shake.

Mo'tor. a machine that furnishes force for motion. mis'sIle. that which may be thrown, as an arrow, a stone, etc. gant'let, a punishment, in which one is forced to run between lines of men, who strike him as he passes them. gaunt'let, a long glove; a riding-glove. wheel. pin'ion. a wing; part of a wing; the tooth of a wheel; a small pen'non, a small flag; a banner. badge, etc. ro sette'. a bunch of ribbon formed like a rose and worn as a ro'sa ry, a string of beads on which Catholics number prayers. port fol'io, a case for holding loose papers, drawings, etc. port man'teau $(t\bar{o})$, a valise; a leather bag for carrying clothes, etc.

265

A'ble, skillful; having ability, power, or skill. at tor'nev. a lawyer; one who acts for another. ad dress'ing, speaking or writing to. bench. a court of law; a body of judges. per sua'sive (swā), having power to persuade. ling speech. el'o quence (kwens), the act or power of speaking well; strong, movre pairs', mends; restores after injury. caușe, a suit at law; a reason: that which produces an effect. ap par'ent ly, seemingly; as it seems to the eye. imperfect; having defects or faults; faulty. de fect'ive.

288

Gar'nish. to adorn, as a room; to embellish, as with flowers, etc. sul'ly, to stain; to dim; to soil; to tarnish. bla'zon (z'n), to make known; to cause to shine; to adorn gaudily. be di'zen (or diz'n), to dress gaudily. one's time or attention. to copy, as a legal paper, in a large hand; to take, as en grōss', in lay', to insert; to fix within, as pearl, etc., in cabinet work. punc'ture, to make a small hole; to pierce. [and rubbing with ink. tat too', to make pictures or figures, as upon the skin, by piercing ětch, to draw, as pictures, with but few lines; to sketch. oat'line, to sketch in few, strong lines; to describe briefly.

Glen,	a small valley; a dale.
glēbe,	farming land; land belonging to a church.
thatch,	straw, etc., used for making roofs.
stīle,	a set of steps for passing over a wall or fence.
height,	a hill or mountain: anything high: distance above
cōve,	a small bay; any sheltered place. [the earth.
ledge,	a shelf; a ridge; a shelf of rocks.
ed'dy,	a place where water seems to run up stream, or circles
ōoze,	the soft mud of a swamp.
tilth,	farm land; land that is tilled.

268

Ad mit'tance. the act of allowing one to enter. re cep'tion. the act of receiving, as a guest, etc. thought; that which one thinks. o pin'ion, one's opinion given to another as worth acting upon. ad vice', talk: conversation: a speech: a sermon. dis course'. at ten'tion, the act of attending, or giving heed; care. năr'ra tive. a tale: a story: an account of anything that has pe ru'sal. happened. reading. pe tl'tion, a demand; a request; a prayer. a pol'o gy, an excuse offered; a request to excuse.

269

Lib'er ty. freedom. bond'age, slavery. [dom (in a bad sense). li'cense, permission; written permission in legal form; freelux'u ry (luk shu ry), high living; pleasures beyond mere comforts. pov'er ty. the state of being poor: need; want. chăr'i ty, gifts to the poor; good will to others; love; kindmal'a dy. any disease. ness of thought med'i ca"tion, medicine; the act of giving medicine. do na'tion, a gift; the act of giving. tax a'tion, the act of taxing; a tax.

Gib'bous. swelling toward roundness, as the moon nearly full. stel'lar. pertaining to the stars; star-like; starry. glob'u lar, round, like a globe, or ball, turning, as a wheel. ro'ta ry, square sides, cu'bic, having the form of a cube, or figure with six equal con'ic al. like a cone, or tapering figure whose base is a circle. trans par'ent, allowing light to pass through, as air, glass, etc. o paque' $(p\bar{a}k)$, not permitting light to pass through; not transparent. lu'rid, gloomy; pale; dismal, as smoke in bright sunlight. gôr'ġeous. highly and beautifully colored; showy; fine.

271

to forbear; to keep from: to refuse to do. Re frain'. to grant; to admit; to yield; to allow. con cēde'. in'ter çēde", to entreat for another; to interpose. to appease; to pacify; to dispel anger. pla'cate. e võke', to call out; to call for; as, "The lesson evokes thought." a venge', to punish for crime or wrong-doing. prof'fer. to offer to give; to make an offer. be queath', to leave gifts at death: to will property. to allow; to grant; to give kindly. vouch safe'. deign, to permit; to allow: to condescend.

272

[performed, as the organ of sight. Choir (kwir), a band of singers. a musical instrument: that through which an action is ôr'gan, ped'als. the foot-levers of an organ, etc. dra'ma (or $dr\bar{a}$), a written, or acted, play. a string of a musical instrument: harmony. ehôrd, ten'or. meaning; purport: a part in music. ī′d∀l, a kind of short poem. a musical instrument; the harp. l⊽re. a body, or book, of forms for public worship. lit'ur gy, op'e ra. a play in which the actors sing their parts.

Breach. damage: injury: a wrong, as a breach of the law. a mark; a dent: a stamp; a figure stamped. im'press. stress. force, as upon words or parts of words; strain; weight. rift. an opening, as through the clouds: a break. re'flux. a flowing back, as of the tide, etc. in'flux. a flowing in, as a river into a lake, etc. ef'flux. a flowing out, as of blood from a wound, etc. axle. fric'tion. the act of rubbing, as the friction of a wheel upon an junc'tion. the act of joining: a place where roads, rivers, etc., junc'tūre, a seam; a joint; a point of time. are joined.

274

Some'what, in some degree or manner. joe'u lar, merry, sportive. whōl'ly, completely; totally. re miss', neglectful: negligent: careless. triv'i al ly, triflingly; lightly; inconsiderably. miserly; very stingy. pe nu'ri ous, a bu'sive ly. in an abusive or rude manner. crabbed; severe; rough; unkind, as in manner. harsh, châr i ly, warily; cautiously: frugally. at a distance; far apart. a loof',

275

the act of ceasing or stopping; a rest; a pause. Ces sa'tion. o mis'sion, the act of leaving out or omitting; that which is anything rare or scarce. omitted. râr'i tv. nov'el ty. anything new or strange. va ri'e ty, change: difference. pen'u ry, great poverty: extreme want. a bun'dance. plenty, as of food, etc. in stall'ment, a part of a debt paid at a time; payment of part. smat'ter ing, a little, as of knowledge or learning. a track, as of a footstep: a small quantity remaining. ves'tige, Fal'si f₹. to speak falsely: to forge; to counterfeit. dis'a būse", to correct a false opinion or belief. un'de cēive'', to free another from error or mistake; to disabuse. com'pre hend", to take in: to take into the mind; to understand. ap'pre hend". to catch; to seize; to grasp, as a thought with the mind. con jec'ture, to guess. to feel beforehand; to forebode; to foretell. pre sage', man'i fëst, to show; to make plain to eye or mind. sig'ni f₹. to mean: to make known. pre fig'ure, to foreshow by-a sign or figure.

277

Dis turb'ance. disquiet; an interruption of a state of regular quiet. pro ce'dure, an act of moving forward; conduct; progress; any proj'ect, a plan; a scheme; a design. [action ex'pe di"tion, a sending, as of a company to perform some act: haste. des'ti na"tion. the end of a journey or expedition: an end aimed at an unwelcome entrance. in tru'sion, for desired. in va'sion, a hostile entering, as with an army. cam paign', the marches and battles of an army for an object. on'set. a charge; a rush forward in battle. fast'ness. a strong fort or defense; a stronghold.

278

Im mov'a ble, that cannot be moved; fixed; firm; steadfast. ve rac'i ty, truth; truthfulness. ex cess'ive. beyond proper bounds: of very great degree. greediness in eating; gluttony. vo rac'i ty, pru den'tial. caused by prudence or fear. (anything is not. ne ga'tion, a denial; act of denying: proof or description of what o'di ous. hateful; loathsome; causing dislike. vul găr'i ty, low, indecent speech. not modest; not nice; brazen. [posed to be known. im mod'est. al lu'sion, a hint; act of alluding, or referring, to something supvest.

279

Vend. to sell: to sell as a business. dōle. to deal: to give out in small quantities. sāte. to satisfy; to fill to fullness; to glut. slāke, to quench, as thirst: to satisfy. to value; to put a price upon. supply. rāte. to fill to overfullness, as a glutton; to furnish an overglut. to glut; to feed highly; to feed too much. fat a time. pam'per, to lengthen; to stretch out; to cause to last by using little ēke. low'er, to frown: to be threatening, as the clouds.

280

to clothe: to furnish with power; to put into possession.

a giver; one who makes a gift. Dō'nôr, dō nee'. one who receives a gift. ven'der (or ven dor), one who sells. one who leases to another. les'sor. les see'. one who receives a lease from another. one who holds or occupies a house, etc. ten'ant. tes ta'tor. one who makes a will. rel'ict, a widow. mother. one who responds, as in baptism, etc.; a godfather or godspon'sor, one intrusted with the management of another's property. trus tee',

281

Hail, ice formed in the upper air; frozen rain. I'ci cle, ice formed by drops of water, as from a roof, freezing and flōe. an ice field floating in the ocean. [enlarging the mass. īce'bērg. a hill, or mountain, of ice floating in the ocean. gla'cier (sher), a large mass of ice advancing slowly over the land. a heap or line of stones, gravel, etc., carried by glaciers. mo raine'. bo're as. the north wind. [its direction twice a year. mon soon', a wind which blows in the Indian Ocean, etc., changing māze, a network of pathways: uncertainty. seen on a desert. mi rage (mē räzh'), a false appearance, as of trees, etc., sometimes

Zeal. great earnestness, as in some pursuit. en'er gy, force; vigor; strength. fa tigue' $(t\bar{e}q)$, weariness. lan'guor (gwer), weakness; feebleness. a desert. sol'i tūde, state of being alone; loneliness; a lonely life or place: du'rance. imprisonment. fothers. pri'va cy, state of being away from the company or sight of drudg'er y, hard, slavish work; toil. serv'i tūde, the state of a slave; bondage; the act of serving. em ploy'ment, work; one's work or business.

283

Par'tial, inclined to favor one person or party more than another: on condition. not entire; not total. pro vid'ed, prov'i dent, prudent; caring for the future; providing for what prod'i gal, wasteful: extravagant: lavish. may happen. rue'ful. sorrowful; regretful. fes'tal, pertaining to feasts and festivals; joyous. for nothing; without cost. gra'tis, clem'ent, kind; mild; gentle: pleasant, as the weather. having zeal; full of earnestness. zĕal'ous, po'tent. powerful.

284

Col līde', to strike against each other, as ships, etc. merģe, to meet and mix, as the waters of two rivers. e merge', to come out; to rise, as out of water, etc. con verge', to move towards one point; to approach nearer together, as the meridians. con join', to join; to unite. con sôrt'. to mix: to associate with. an nex', to add to; to write. ad hēre'. to stick to. net work. dove'tail. to join together in the form of a dove's tail, as in cabice ment', to fasten or unite with glue or mortar, etc.

belonging to the woods and fields; pertaining to Ru'ral. a district: a boundary. country life. pre'cinct. fine; graceful; having beauty of form, or of manners. el'e gant. the residence of a pastor. par'son age. pop'u lous. having many people: thickly inhabited. par'ish. the district or precinct of a pastor: the membership of clĕr'ic al, pertaining to ministers, or the clergy. di'o çēse, the district or charge of a bishop. nōt'ed. much talked of; famous. mart. a market: a market-place.

286

Oc ca'sion, occurrence; need; necessity: time for action; proper up'shot, the end: the result. season or time. en clo'sure (or inclosure), space enclosed, as a yard, garden, etc. out'lĕt, a passage outwards. for hinders passage. bar'ri er. defense; boundary; bar; something which prevents but'tress. an outer support for a wall; a prop. in'stru ment. a tool; that by which anything is done. ap pend'age, something joined or added to. ar'ti cle. a single thing. par'ti cle, a little thing; the smallest portion.

287

Im'ple ment, an instrument; a tool. ve'hi cle, that in which anything is carried. in'ven to ry. a list or account of goods. mer'chan dise, wares; the goods of merchants. con sign'ment, a lot of goods sent to another to sell, care for, etc. älmş (ämz), a gift, or gifts to the poor. auc'tion. public sale of property to the highest bidder. lease. possession for a time of house or land; long rent. em bar'go, an order forbidding vessels to leave port. blŏck āde'. the blocking of a port by an enemy's ships.

to raise; to set up; to place upright; to build. E rect', af fix', to join; to add to, as a stamp to an envelope, etc. to unroll, as a flag. un furl', un sheathe', to draw from a sheath, as a sword. to start. läunch, to push forward; to push into the sea, as a ship; be calm' (käm), to become motionless, as a ship when there is no to sound loud and far; to echo. re şound', wind. to burst with loud noise: to come to a sudden end. ex plōde', de vour', to eat greedily. con sûme', to destroy, as by burning, eating, etc.

289

Prōş'y, like prose; unpoetical; dull; tiresome. wordiness; the use of too many words. verbi age, spoken; relating to the mouth. o'ral, mes'sage, something sent, as a letter, note, telegram, etc. cred'i ble, that should be believed; likely. proof; what a witness asserts. [plainly truthful. tes'ti mo ny, straight'fôr ward, going straight at the mark; not round about; what is seriously told or stated. state'ment, charming; pleasant; that wins. win'ning, openness of speech; fairness. can'dor, to quiet; to subdue; to quell. Re press', to limit; to confine; to keep within bounds. re strict'. to trace again; to reverse, as one's steps. re trace', to repeal; to annul; to countermand. re vöke', to withdraw; to go back. re çēde', draw; to retreat. to go from a public place into privacy; to withre tīre', re'com mit", to commit anew. to come back, as to the mind; to return. re cur', re spond', to answer; to reply. re şerve', to keep or hold for future use; to retain.

290

Ĭn or ŭn,	a prefix (Latin); not, or negation; as inactive, meaning not active. [place between.
ĭn'ter,	a prefix (Latin); among, or between, as interplace, to prō (Latin),	for; before; as a prefix, for, forth, or forward, as proceed, to go forward; produce, to bring forth, etc.
con'tra (Latin), against; sometimes used as a prefix, as in contradict.
sĕm'ĭ,	a prefix (Latin) meaning half, as semicircle.
sū'per,	a prefix (Latin), over; above; beyond; more than, as superhuman, more than human.
sŭb,	a prefix (Latin), under; beneath; in a lower degree, as submerge, to put under the water.
trans,	a prefix (Latin), across, as trans-Atlantic, etc.
bī,	a prefix (Latin), two; twice, as biweekly, twice a week.
trī,	a prefix (Latin), three; thrice; as in triangle, etc.

292

loving one's country. Pa'tri ot"ic. stātes'man, one skilled in the affairs of state. sac'ri fīc es (fīz es), offers or gives up, especially for religion or duty. per'son al. of, or pertaining to, a person; one's own. rep'u ta"tion, public opinion, as to a person's character. pro tec'tion, a shelter; a defense: the act of protecting. fel'lōws, companions; mates; equals. en dür'ing, sustaining; bearing: lasting. tem'po ra ry, lasting only for a time. dis cred'it, reproach: want of credit.

293

Ti'tle,	a name; a mark or title of distinction; the name of a book, etc. [pointer; something to guide.
in'dex,	an alphabetical table of the contents of a book, etc.; a pre'fix,	a word or syllable placed before; the first part of a compound word, as pre in prefix.
suf'fix,	a letter or syllable placed after a word, as ly in manly.
ap pen'dix,	an addition or supplement, as at the close of a book.

syl'la ble,

as much of a word as can be sounded with a single impulse of the voice.

diph'thong, two vowels sounded as one, as ai in raillery.

a short mark used to join compound words, etc., as in bear-hunt.

ca'ret, a mark which shows where he read between the a weight of four grains, as used in weighing precious stones.

294

Un fa'vor a ble, not favorable; not friendly; not helpful. test. a trial in order to prove or disprove something. sub mit'ted. laid before; given; proposed; referred; yielded. sleight, skill, as in handling; trickery. ō ri en'tal, eastern; pertaining to the eastern nations. jug'gler. one who practices jugglery or sleight-of-hand. sup'ple, easily bent; submissive. sin'ew, a tendon; the end of a muscle; a muscle. suc cess'ful ly, prosperously; in a manner to cause success or good ful filled', completed; accomplished; did what was needed.

295

Im pōrt',	to mean; to carry, as meaning in a letter: to bring in, as to import goods from another country.
com pōrt',	to agree; to suit; as, "The good pupil's conduct comports with the teacher's wishes."
in scrībe',	to write in or upon, as in a book, etc.
as crībe',	to believe to be caused by; as, "The teacher ascribed the boy's success to hard study."
trans plant',	to take up and plant in another place, as trees, etc.
trans port',	to carry; to carry across, as in ships. [upon an arbor.
in'ter lace",	to put together; to plait; to intermix, as many vines in'ter līne",	to write between lines, as omitted words, etc.
out num'ber,	to be greater in number.
ō ver rāte',	to rate or value too highly; to believe to be of greater number or value than is the case.

Hūe, shade of color : as. "The hues of autumn leaves." tint. a slight color: a shade seen with a principal color. strain. a note, as in music: manner, as of conduct: a quality fea'ture, part of the face; a single part. fôrm. shape: figure: a rite, as a form of worship. fash'ion. manner: the manner of dress, etc. at persons." foi'ble. a petty fault; as, "The foible of thoughtlessly staring hob'by. a plaything: some subject or plan dwelt on too much. a joke that causes annoyance; a trick; a deception. hoax. a do'. disturbance; confusion; trouble.

297

Ob'sti nate, stubborn.

dölt, blockhead; a stupid fellow.
per verse', obstinate; stubborn; wayward.

nig'gard, a stingy fellow.

är'rant, vile; extremely bad.

pŏl trōon', a coward.

scur'vy, bad; mean; worthless. in'grate, an ungrateful person.

rab'id, fierce; furious; mad; raging. ter'ma gant, a scolding, or brawling, woman, 208

In'flu ence, prevail upon; cause; partly cause.

pop'u lar, beloved by the people; pleasing to the people.

dem'a gogue, one who imposes upon ignorant people, and makes himca jole', coax; flatter; deceive. [self a leader for selfish purposes.

way'ward, headstrong; having one's own way.

rab'ble, the mob; the lower classes of the people. in tent', earnest; having strong intention or purpose.

im me'di ate, instant; present; at once.

ri'ot ous, raising an uproar, as with acts of a mob.

ex cess'. too much of anything; going beyond what is proper.

Grāve. serious; solemn; weighty in manner. [President, etc. a public civil officer, as a justice, the governor, the maġ'is trāte. lib'er ātes. sets free. old and feeble. de crep'it. a trader unable to pay his debts. bank'rupt, en joins'. directs earnestly; urges. stopping. the laying hold of, as by an officer of the law: the ăr rest', de ten'tion. the act of keeping; delay against one's wish. dough'ty, brave: valiant. pu'gil ist, a fighter with the fist; a boxer.

300

anything that afflicts or troubles, as disease, death, Af flic'tion. in firm'i ty, weakness of body or mind, as infirm old age. anything offensive or loathsome, as to the public. nūi'sance. a bom'i na tion, anything hateful; the act of hating. trouble. punishment; penalty imposed; pain; a stroke, as of in flic'tion, det'ri ment. injury; harm; loss. de mĕr'it. fault; the state of meriting blame. dis fa'vor, blame: dislike; hatred. discredit; the state of being unfavorably known. dis're pūte", state of being lost; eternal ruin; death. per di'tion, beyond due bounds; wild: wasteful; irregular. Ex trav'a gant, as ser'tions. statements; declarations. concerning. respecting; having relation; regarding; about, or rel'a tive, fic ti'tious. not real; invented, as stories. horrid ghosts. gob'lins, . aroused; stirred up, as in the mind. ex cit'ed. uncertain; unsettled; without form. vāgue, great fear; dread; alarm. tĕr'ror, common; mean; low. vul'gar, pop'u lace, the people.

201

to draw, or cause to tend to; as, "The sun At tract', attracts the earth." to lengthen; to prolong: to delay; to put off. pro tract', fore warn'. to warn beforehand. före stall', to prevent by taking pains in advance. ex claim'. to cry out. known by public announcement. pro claim', to publish abroad; to declare publicly; to make to order positively; to give directions. pre scribe', pro scribe', to condemn; to outlaw; to write against; to tes'ti fÿ, to bear witness. [drive from one's country. fôr swear', to deny upon oath; to swear falsely.

303

Ex traôr'di na ry, uncommon; strange; beyond what is ordinary. nar ra'tion. the telling, writing, or relation of an event. fal'li ble. imperfect; not perfect in thought or conduct; as, a narration of past events. ["Man is fallible." his'to ry, for'ci ble. having force; powerful, as in speech. ŏr'a tor, a public speaker. ŭn ex pect'ed. sudden; not foreseen or expected. ma jör'i ty, more than half of all, as in voting. pri'ma ry, first in order, as a primary book. e lec'tion. choice by vote.

304

Su'per a bun'dant, more than enough. im pen'e tra ble, not to be entered; not to be pierced. forest. bushes, etc., that grow under the large trees of a un'der growth, ob structs', blocks up; bars; hinders. falls in a river, etc. port'age, a carrying-place; the act of carrying boats around lim'it, a border; a boundary; the edge; the end, as the ter'mi nates, limits; puts an end to; ends. limit of a journey. buc'ca neers", pirates. attempts. ex er'tions, efforts; trials, as of strength; trying; strong biv'ouac (biv'wak), encampment without tents or covering.

relating to, or produced within, the tropics. Trop'ic al, fo'li age. the leaves of trees, etc. spa'cious. roomy; extensive; wide; having ample room. struc'tūre. a building; a house; a bridge; anything built. brill'iant, splendid: sparkling: shining. fes'ti val. a day of civil, or religious, joy; a feast. na'tal relating to nativity, or one's birth. an ni ver'sa ry, a day observed on its yearly return, as a birthday. pa la'tial, relating to, or like, a palace.

man' sion. a large, fine dwelling.

306

Plain'tiff, one who brings suit at law; a complainant. re spond'ent, one who responds; one who defends a suit at law. as'sign or", one who transfers, or legally passes, property, etc., as'sign ee", one who receives from an assignor. Ito another. fu'gi tive, one who flees; a runaway. ab'sen tee'. one who is absent; one who absents himself. in vent'or, one who designs something new, as a machine, etc. pat'ent ee". one who receives a patent, as for a machine. ap pren'tice, one who is bound legally in order to learn a trade, etc. ad hēr'ent. one who is bound to another by friendship, service, etc.

307

one from whom a person descends; a forefather. An'ces tor, in hab'it ant. one who lives in, or inhabits, a place. $\operatorname{eit'i} \operatorname{zen} (z'n),$ one of the people living in a city or country. en'vov. a person sent by a government to transact business au'di ence, an assembly of hearers. with another nation. throng. a crowd: many crowded together, as people, etc. ac'tor. one who acts; a stage-player. bard. a poet; of old, a poet who sang his verses. book"worm, a hard student; one who reads much. col'por ter, a peddler of religious books.

De ter'mine. ven'tūre, per'se vēre". en dĕav'or, es sav'. con'sum mate, is'sue (ish'u), con clude', des'tIne.

pre des'ti nate, to decide; to resolve; to settle: to fix; to end. to risk; to dare: to try in face of danger. to continue; to keep trying in spite of hindrances. to try; to attempt; to make trials; to strive; to to make an effort; to try. struggle. to finish; to complete; to bring to success. to proceed; to come out. to determine; to decide in the end: to finish. to appoint; to devote: to mark out or design, as one's end. doom. to appoint beforehand; to predetermine; to fore-

309

de port'ment. un war'rant a ble, pom pos'i ty, le'ni ent, con straint', lax. dis'ci pline, fla'grant, trans gres'sion, Ir're proach" a ble, not blameworthy; not to be reproached. manners; behavior; conduct. without right; improper: without good reason. great pride of appearance or of conduct. not harsh; not strict; mild. force; force that compels; confinement loose; not strict; not firm. manner of governing; training. glaring; open: bold; outbroken. offense; sin; act of transgressing.

Ar'gu ment, ap prov'al, rec'og ni"tion. ac cept'ance, ad'vo ca cy, be hest', in'quest, ver'dict. pre'ăm ble, re hears'al.

attempt to prove; proof, or reasons, offered. the act of approving; consent; support; liking the act of recognizing; assent to a claim. the act of accepting; consent. argument in favor of; action in favor. an order; a command. sudden death. an inquiry; a legal inquiry into the cause of a a decision, as of a jury, etc. tion. a preface, as to a set of resolutions; an introducact of rehearsing; repetition; recital.

Af'fa ble. as so'ci ate. me lo'di ous. vo'cal ist. ef fi'cient. căsh iēr'. in ca'pa ble, as pīr'ant. de spond'ent, ex'ile.

pleasant in manner and speech; courteous. a companion; a partner; an intimate acquaintance. musical; having sweetness of sound. a singer: a vocal musician. results follow. causing effects; usefully active; working so that one who manages the cash, as in a bank, etc. weak : unable : unfit. one who hopes for something, as an office or posinot hopeful; despairing. one who is absent from his native land

312

Pes'ti lence, se di'tion. fel'o ny, ī dol'a trv. per'fi dy. deg'ra da"tion. de lu'sion. pol lu'tion, dis'côrd. col lu'sion, a plague; a disease afflicting great numbers of people. preparations to rebel against the state. agreat crime; a crime punishable by death or impristhe worship of heathen idols. faithlessness; act of being false to a trust. a lowering of rank; loss of good name; baseness. deception; the state of being misled or deceived. uncleanness; corruption: the act of making foul. want of agreement; contention; strife. deceit plotted by more than one; a secret plan to commit fraud.

313

cus"tom house'. au di to'ri um, na'vy-yard, plä za. ar'morv. ar'se nal. dis till'er y, gran'a ry, ten'e ment.

Kin'der gar'ten, a school for very little children. a house where duties, or taxes on goods, are collected. that part of a church, theater, etc., where the audia yard, or place, for building ships. fence sits. a public square in city or town, as in Mexico or Spain. a place where arms are kept. etc., are kept. a place where large quantities of ammunition, guns. a place or machine for making spirits, strong liqa storehouse for grain. uors, etc. a house, or separate part of a house; a habitation.

Rec'on noi"ter (or tre), to examine; to look, as soldiers venturing near the enemy. ske dad'dle, to run away separately, as a few soldiers who find themselves in great danger. coun'ter march", to march back to the starting-place; to reverse direction in marching. pa role', to release a prisoner upon his promise, or bond, not to fight till exchanged. to furnish; to provide, as arms, etc., for war. e quip', ac cou'ter (or tre), to dress; to equip; to equip for war, as with arms, ammunition, food, etc. de ploy', to open; to spread out, as to deploy a body of troops into a line. con voy', to attend in order to protect, as a war vessel accompanying merchants' ships. voyage. to sail in search of the enemy; to make a roving cruise, to steal, either singly or with few comrades, near scout, the enemy for the purpose of observation.

315

E'gress, act of going out. en'try, an entrance; act of coming in. argument. ad mis'sion, act of permitting to enter; act of allowing, as an ac'cess. approach; admission: addition; increase. a vessel carrying blood from the heart; a way, as ar'te ry, a road, river, etc. route (or root), a road; a way or course which is traveled. re lay', horses kept to relieve others, as at several stations or course. upon a long journey. the round or course of business; regular practice rou tine'. the act of moving round; space inclosed; extent: cir'euit, district visited by a judge or body of judges. ôr'bit, the line in which a heavenly body moves, as the earth's orbit round the sun.

Light'sôme, gay; bright; lively. ear'ol, a song of joy.

bois'ter ous, loud; noisy.

sport, play; pleasure; hunting, etc., for pleasure.

triv'i al, trifling; worthless.

prov'o ca"tion, cause of anger; act of provoking. [ing, as in sound. dis côrd'ant, noisy; uproarious; having no harmony; not agreebroil, a quarrel.

in ces'sant, unceasing; never stopping.

strīfe, a contest; discord.

317

Il leġ'i ble, that cannot be read on account of dimness, etc. deed, a written instrument transferring land, etc.: an acad di'tion al, to be added: that is added. [tion; a feat. fee, pay for service; reward. clear; separate; plain. dis tinct', a gree'ment, the act of agreeing: a written bargain. [writing, publishing, etc. ab rupt', sudden; unexpected. information; warning; intelligence conveyed, as by no'tice, in'com plete", not complete; not finished. bal'lot, a vote by balls or tickets.

318

Im aġ'ine, to picture to the mind. hand. to foretell; to foreknow; to know or judge beforedi vīne', to mean; to include in meaning. im ply', to utter; to declare: to press out, as juice. [ment. ex press', to debate; to reason upon; to examine by argudis cuss', to grant; to consent; to permit one to enter. ad mit', to rail; to argue harshly. in veigh', to sing; to speak much of anything. des cănt', re fûte', to prove false or incorrect. rec'on cile, to restore to favor; to cause to agree.

that attracts; charming; pleasant; inviting. At tract'ive. enticing; tempting. al lur'ing. sat'is fac''to ry. giving satisfaction; sufficiently good. [merit. pref'er a ble. to be chosen rather than something else; of greater prē'pos sess"ing, causing favor beforehand; pleasant to look upon. gēn'ial, of agreeable manners; cheerful; gay. se date', quiet; of quiet conduct or manners; composed: unso'cia ble. fond of company; social; friendly. find fault. cap'tious, disposed to complain or make objections; ready to modest; not frank; backward in speech. re şërved', Ob lique' (lik or lek), leaning; indirect; slanting. piercing. per'fo ra"tion, a hole pierced, as through paper, etc.; the act of slånt, sloping; oblique. ap'er tūre, an opening, as a door, etc. de sīr'a ble, pleasing; worthy of desire. situation, as the ground on which a town is built, etc. site. un cul'ti vat ed, rough; rude; unimproved. re'gion (jŭn), a country; a portion of the country. com bus'ti ble, that can be burned. stub'ble, stalks, or stumps, of grain after reaping.

320

321

Sēn'ior. an older person; an aged person. strip'ling, a youth; a lad. fitting of parts together. a proper union, as of the parts in music; right har'mo ny. tur'moil, disorder; tumult; trouble. up'rīş"ing, act of rising, as in rebellion, etc. off'scour"ing. that which is worthless; refuse. cap'i tal, a city or town where laws are made; money used in business: large, as letters. cap'i tol. the building, in the capital, in which laws are made. sort or kind; rank; degree of merit or value. qual'i ty, disposition of mind: quality of metal, as to hardness. tem'per.

Af fecting, moving, as to pity; touching; appealing. a calling to another for help, advice, justice, etc. ap peal', côr'dial (jal). heartfelt; pertaining to the affections. sym'pa thy, that which causes one to feel as another: unity of in'stan ta"ne ous, in an instant; quick; without delay. suc'cor. help: assistance, as to one in danger or great need. sur'plus, more than enough; that which is over and above. rev'e nue, the funds of a state, city, etc.: income. prim'i tive. relating to the beginning: first: unimproved: oldpop'u la"tion. all the people, as of a country or city. [fashioned.

323

Bar'ter. to traffic, or trade, by exchanging goods. to charge with a due share; to tax. as sess'. tant place. re mit', to free from punishment or fine: to send to a dispur vey', to buy or procure, as provisions. name beneath. sub scribe', to agree to give by writing one's name; to write the mo nop'o lize, to have for sale all of anything, as wheat, etc. lev'y, to raise or collect by assessment, as a tax. pat'ron Ize, to give trade, business, etc., to; to favor or support. con'fis cate. to take private property for the use of the state com'pen sate, to repay; to give back equal value.

324

Am bi'tious, desirous of power, office, etc. sub al'tern. an officer of low rank; an under-officer. [mistaken. point'ed ly, distinctly; plainly; with words that could not be rep're hend"ed. blamed; reproved; punished with words. brawn'y, having brawn, or muscle; muscular; strong of body. boat's wain $(b\bar{o}'s'n)$, an officer who has charge of boats, sails, etc., on cul'pa bly, blamably; wrongfully. a ship. neg lect'ing, not doing; slighting; omitting. proper for defense; relating to defense. de fen'sive, prep'a ra"tion, act or state of preparing or making ready.

Cal'dron. a very large kettle of copper, or iron, etc. chăl'dron, a measure of 36 bushels. Dox outside. carbov. a large, heavy, glass bottle, usually protected by a can'is ter. a box for tea, etc.; a kind of can. bra'zier (zher), a worker of brass: a pan for hot coals. an iron block used by smiths to hammer metal upon. an'vil, fur'nace, a place for heating metals, etc. a place where metals are cast in molds. found'ry.

ba rom'e ter, an instrument for measuring the weight and pressure ther mom'e ter, an instrument for measuring heat. [of air.

326

In sure'. to make sure, or secure; to secure, as property against as sure', to insure; to secure: to speak with certainty. [loss. ap prīse', to inform; to give notice; to tell. con cēive', to form in the mind; to comprehend; to know. con'strue (or constru'), to translate; to interpret. o pine', to believe; to suppose. [supposes a Creator." pre'sup pose", to suppose beforehand; to imply; as, "Creation prere'al īze, to feel as a reality; to make; to do. pre'dis pose". to dispose beforehand. in'dis pose", to cause illness; to cause distaste, or disinclination.

327

Ån ģel'ic, like an angel: heavenly. glo'ry, great honor; renown; praise. an ces'tral, relating to ancestors, or forefathers. might; strength; ability; force. pow'er, pa'pal, relating to the Pope. maj'es ty, a title of a monarch: greatness. mag nif'i cent, great; grandly made, as a mountain, etc. cre a'tion, the universe. re'gal, pertaining to monarchs; royal. splen'dor. brilliance: magnificence: great display.

Ob serve', to watch; to see; to attend to; to notice.

pro pri'e ty, proper conduct. ab hôr'. to hate.

vīle'ness, meanness; baseness; wickedness. jus'ti $f\bar{y}$, to prove to be right; to defend.

e con'o my, proper management; care; prevention of waste.
digest', to work up, as food in the body, or thought in the ex pe'ri ence. knowledge gained by practice. [mind.]

fre quent', to visit often.

sanc'tu a ry, a place of worship; a holy place.

329

to divide by lot or other manner; to assign a part. Al lot'. a ward'. to adjudge, as to award to each his rightful part. re quite'. to repay; to revenge; to repay good or ill deeds. as sīgn', to appoint; to allot: to transfer to another. to find out by summing up. com pute', in trust', to give a place in trust; to place in another's keeping. to give credit; to believe. ac cred'it. income upon. en dow'. to furnish with money for support; to settle an main tāin'. to support; to bear the expense of.

330

to make poor; to exhaust strength or productiveness.

Cheer'ful, lively; animated; not sorrowful.

cler'gy man, a preacher.

im pov'er ish,

dis pen'ses, gives; bestows; deals out: spares: leaves off.

lib'er al, free in act or thought; not selfish.

hos'pi tal"i ty, attention or kindness to guests or strangers.

shrewdly, cunningly; slyly.

per cēiv'ing, seeing; discerning; taking knowledge of.

ne ces'si ty, need; want; poverty. [gious affairs. sec'u lar, worldly; civil; pertaining to worldly instead of reli pop'u lar"i ty, public favor; the esteem of the people.

knāve,

231

base; having no honor; depraved; rotten. Cor rupt'. guärd'i an. one who has the care of an orphan, etc.; a protector. wit'less. lacking sense or understanding. one who is deceived or cheated. dûpe, di min'u tive. very small. milk'sop. a womanish or childish man. caring nothing; not interested. un con cerned'. lu'na tic. an insane person. art'ful.

cunning; sly; crafty. a low fellow; a rascal.

332

Hu'mor (or Wmor), state of mind; the quality which causes laughable grav'i ty. weight; heaviness; serious quality of mind. [speech. fri vol'i ty. trifling; trivial play; foolish speech or act. cu'ri os"i ty. the state of being curious; inquiry. ad'mi ra"tion. wonder: love or esteem of something beautiful, etc. cour'te sy. politeness of manners. com pas'sion, pity: kind feeling for those who suffer. am'i ty. friendship; affection; love; goodwill. u'ni tv. the state of being joined, as in the mind; agreement. u'ni fôrm"i ty. likeness; sameness; regularity.

333

Wit'tv. having wit or sense; amusing; laughable. short speeches; portions of sentences. phras'es. com'ic. causing merriment; funny. an'ec dōtes. incidents or facts related; stories. le'gal, according to the law; pertaining to the acts of offiproc'la ma"tion, cers of the law. a notice proclaimed by law. nov'el, unusual; strange; new. prop'o sl"tion. an offer; a thought or question propounded. fôrm'al, solemn; in due form; regular; orderly. cen'sure. blame; reproach; reproof.

Glos'sy, smooth and shining.
sere, dry; withered, as leaves.

sheer, unmixed, as sheer nonsense; mere; simple: sudden,

as the face of an upright cliff.

flush, full, as a river flush with its banks.

som'bre (or som'ber), gloomy; sad: somewhat dark; dull; dusky.

sleek, smooth; glossy.

fer'vid, very hot; boiling; burning.

frig'id, cold; dull: lifeless.

ha'zy, dark; foggy; misty; not clear.

balm'y (bam'y), soothing; refreshing; mild, as balmy breezes.

335

Bădg'er, to tease; to vex; to harass for the purpose of makdis heart'en, to cause loss of hope or heart. [ing angry. suc cumb' (or cum'), to yield; to give over; to surrender.

af fright', to frighten greatly; to terrify.

dis cour'age, to cause loss of courage.

be wil'der, to puzzle; to confuse: to lead astray.
de press', to discourage; to lower in spirit: to lower.

jeop'ard Ize (or jeop'ard), to put in danger; to endanger; to imperil. dis'com mode", to disturb; to trouble; to disquiet.

dis mem'ber, to take apart; to take off, as a limb.

336

Wi'ly, artful; sly; cunning, as a fox. careful; cautious; sly; wary, as through fear. châr'y. easily bent; not stiff; not firm; easy to manage. pli'ant, unskillful; simple; honest. art'less. gay; cheerful. [complaint. jo'vi al, • plain'tive, lamenting; sorrowful; mournful; sad; making vir'tu al. in effect, but not in fact; as good as fact; not vir'tu ous, morally good; honest; upright. [doubtful. sub'tle (sŭt'l), sly; artful; crafty; cunning, as a spider. sŭb'tĭle. thin; fine; delicate, as a spider's web.

1

hardly enough; poor; small; not ample. Scant'v. a place for keeping money. treas'u ry. fit; suitable; useful; proper; handy. con ven'ient. the money of a country. cur'ren cv. prom'i nent, in the front; standing out; noticeable. bro'ker, one who makes bargains for others: a dealer in money. ac cept'a ble, welcome; pleasing. prize. something offered or given for the loan of money; a pre'mi um. comfortable and convenient. snug, pen'sion, yearly allowance paid to a person for past service.

338

Ăġ'île. nimble: quick. quad'ru ped, an animal having four feet. car niv'o rous, feeding on flesh. mon'ster. something horrible or unnatural. nox'ious (nok'shus), hurtful; harmful. ver'min. any small harmful insect, reptile, or quadruped. bāne'ful. hurtful; poisonous. plague. anything harmful; that which pesters or troubles; a pest, pes tif'er ous. hurtful; relating to pests. ro'dent, any animal that gnaws its food, as a rat, a rabbit, etc.

339

Qua'ver. to speak with trembling or shaken voice, as in old age. cav'il. to complain or find fault; to object without good reason. gar'ble, to choose the worst parts, and pretend that they are quöth, said. fair samples, as of a writing, etc. pa lä'ver, to talk idly; to flatter; to speak deceitfully. com ment', to explain by notes or short descriptions on any subad vert', to turn: to notice in speech. ject : to make remarks. pe ruse' to read; to examine. müşe, to think upon; to be absent-minded. ex tilt', to rejoice; to triumph.

Ma'jor, por'tion. nu měr'ic al, mi nor'i ty, nu'mer al, dĭg'it. mem'o ra ble. dec'ade. e vent'ful, cen'tū ry.

greater; larger; older: the title of an officer. a separate part of anything; a share; a part assigned. denoting number; expressed by numbers or figures. the smaller number (opposed to majority): the state of, or pertaining to, numbers. [of being under age. one of the nine figures, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9: a to be remembered long; remarkable. [finger or toe. ten years, as from 1911 to 1921. full of events; important. a hundred years, as from 1801 to 1901.

341

Cov'et. knowl'edge, es pě'cial ly, re lat'ing, justice, rec'ti tūde, dis cretion. re li'ance, no bil'i ty, ehar'ac ter.

to desire; to long for. knows. learning; skill; the act of knowing: what one principally; chiefly. [telling. that relates or belongs; belonging; pertaining: right; legal right; that which is just. uprightness; just conduct. prudence; wise management. trust; the act of relying or depending upon. [rank. excellence, as of the mind, etc.: rank; people of moral worth; personal qualities: a mark: a letter.

Spright'ly, de bate'. ar'dent. ri'val ry, po et'ic, tal'ent, a ward', lively; brisk; gay. a friendly dispute; an argument; a contest. fiery; warm; warmly earnest as to manner. the striving of two or more for the same object, as pertaining to, or partaking of, poetry. [in a race, etc. great ability; power of mind; power or ability, as a un'jus ti fi"a ble, not to be proved just. [talent for governing a judgment, as of an umpire, etc.

mŏr'al, good; relating to the soul. pre'cept, a rule; a commandment.

Söl'der (or söd'er), to join, as pieces of metal with other heated to burn; to scorch; to wither. sear, [metal; to unite. clink, to make a light, sharp noise, as in tapping metal. calk (cak), to fill, as the openings between a boat's planks. rīve, to split apart; to cleave, as to rive boards from a ğird, to bind, as around the waist; to bind tightly. block. to clean, as the inside of a cannon with a kind of swab, to hinder; to stop; to fasten with a bar. bar, mop. balk (bak), to refuse; to be unwilling. skulk. to hide through fear; to act the coward.

844

Ilk, the same name; the same; each. knowledge; sight; the range of knowledge. ken, equal value; equality of actual, or selling, value with par, a lord; a nobleman: an equal. first, or cost, value. peer. the present purpose; the present demand, as, "for nonce, an instant; a short time; a twinkling. the nonce." trice, a track; a small sign, as of the passage of a beast; trace. long ago; in old time. a footprint; a mark yōre, always; forever. āye (ā), aÿ (ī), yes; yea; an affirmative vote.

345

Vol'un ta rv. willing; that is undertaken by choice. by favor. a debt of any kind; a favor which should be repaid ob li ga'tion, par tic'u lar, having quality belonging to itself; one; not general. priv'i lege, favor; right; right and power, as to do what one pec'ca ble, sinful; not right; blamable. wishes to do. pre sump'tion, an act of too great boldness: haughtiness; forwardness. clear; plain; direct; pointed; particular; unmistakex press', sanc'tion, consent; approval. [able, as a promise, etc. con sis'tent, agreeing throughout; not opposed to itself. [ness, etc. pol'i cy, a rule or set of rules, as for conduct, government, busi-to belittle; to speak so as to lessen. De cry'. to abuse; to reproach bitterly. re vile', brow'beat, to frown upon; to cast down by frowning. to slander through hate. count of religion, etc. ma līqn'. per'se cute, to cause to suffer pain from hatred; to harass on acpros'e cute. to follow up; to sue by law. [down. de grāde', to humble; to disgrace; to place lower; to bring to harm or destroy one's good name; to slander. de fame', con temn' (těm), to despise; to scorn. profane a church. pro fane', to curse; to treat holy things with contempt, as to Grad'u al, step by step; not all at once. tran si'tion. a change, as from one subject or condition to another. trav'ers a ble, that can be journeyed over; passable. in'ter val. a space between places, as a valley between mountains, touching, as two countries having the same boundary. con tig'u ous, measures: borders: boundaries. mētes. un'ex plored", not explored or examined; unknown, as a savage in te'ri or. the inner part. country. in ter'nal. within; that is within, an'guish (qwish), pain; misery.

347

348

An'tic, caper; an act of drollery or buffoonery. bal'let (or băl lā'), a kind of stage-dance. a piece of music for funerals. dirge, merriment: gayety; amusement. mirth, van'i tv. selfish pride; worthlessness; nothingness music: sweet sounds. mel'o dy, u'ni son. agreement, as of sounds. several tunes. med'ley. a mixture, as a piece of music in which there are soi ree (swä'rā''), an evening entertainment. or play, etc. mat i nee $(mat i n\bar{a}')$, a morning or afternoon performance, as a song

Wreck,	to ruin; to destroy.
l y nch,	to punish without legal form, as by a mob.
m oo t,	to question; to argue; to doubt.
boot,	to profit; to benefit. [the attention.
stress,	to press; to insist; to urge; to call strongly to feign,	to pretend; to counterfeit; to act.
croak,	to grumble; to complain.
bīde,	to wait; to endure: to abide.
preen,	to clean, as a bird cleans her feathers with her beak.
lurch,	to lean suddenly to one side, as a ship.

350

De part'ment, an office, or separate division, as of business, etc. com part'ment. a separate space, as a box or drawer within another. re pos'i to ry, a storehouse; a place for storage. lab'o ra to ry. a workshop, as of a chemist, etc. lost; a tangle. lab'y rinth, an underground cavern or place where one is easily a s⊽'lum, a place of refuge: a shelter, as from danger or want. căr'a van"sa rv. a kind of inn or tavern in eastern countries. res'er voir (vwär), a place where large supplies are kept, as a cisem po'ri um. a place of commerce; a mart or market. bou"le vard' (or var), a wide street or road.

351

Par"ty-col'ored, having different colors; part of one color, and part tress'es. locks of hair. of another color. va'ri e gāt ed, varying in color; having many colors intermingled. plūm'age, feathers; a bird's covering of feathers. tes'sel la ted. variegated by squares, as a floor laid with colored cor'ri dor, a gallery or passage-way between rows of pillars. in'tri cate. winding in and out; greatly tangled; perplexed. em broid'er y. a kind of delicate needle-work. cas'tel la ted, built in the form of a castle; fortified. ca the'dral, a large church; a principal church.

Môrt gage $(m \hat{o} r \bar{g} a \dot{g})$, to put in pledge for debt, as a farm, etc. to believe: to trust: written evidence that money cred'it. has been paid. in dict' (dit), to charge with a crime in legal written form. in dite'. to write; to compose, as letters; to order. to name: to call: to give a name to. term. to give a right to; to give a name to, as a book, etc. en ti'tle. to reckon: to compute: to set a value on: to show. ac count'. cŏr're spond", to agree; to interchange letters. on the book. to receive or hear an account and place it in order au'dit.

to put together in new form. 353

com pīle',

Văl et (or $v\tilde{a}l'\tilde{a}$), a waiting-servant; a body-servant. pal'ate. the roof of the mouth: the organ of taste. lo'tion. a medicinal wash. po'tion. the medicine, etc., drank at one time; a draught. ten'üre. the manner or time of holding lands, office, etc. ten'sion. the amount of stretching; a strain. [crevice; a break. fis'sūre. a narrow chasm or opening, as in a rock, etc.; a fix'tūre, a piece of furniture fixed to a house; anything fixed col lec'tion. what is collected or brought together. [to a place. col la'tion. a meal: a feast.

354

Re mu'ner a tive, profitable; bringing gain or reward. pro fes'sion, a calling; an employment that requires learning. ē co nom'ic al. saving; not wasteful; careful as to expense. gov'ern ment, control; rule; command. civ'il. relating to the state: courteous. stat'ūte. a law, as of a state. [the body that meets in council. coun'cil. a meeting for consultation upon important matters; su prēme', highest in degree or rank. rov'al. relating to kings and other monarchs. do min'ion. power; extent of power, as the dominion of a king.

Do'tage, weakness of mind from old age. o bes'i ty, a great degree of fatness; state of being too fleshv. the state of an idiot; want of understanding from id'i o cv. dis trac'tion. confusion of mind; insanity; madness. birth. dis ôr'der. want of order: confusion: disease: illness. dis tem'per, a disease or disorder, especially of brutes. ma la'ri a. air filled with some harmful substance, as from choking, as of a road. swamps, etc. con gestion (chun), overfulness, as of blood vessels; crowding or con tu'sion, a bruise upon the body. cie'a trīce. a scar left by a wound that has healed.

356

In fe'ri or. lower in station or value: lower. high rank. quality of mind or manner, etc., that causes respect: dig'ni ty, su pe'ri or. higher or greater in degree of merit, or value, etc. sphēre, rank; range of action, knowledge, etc.: a globe; es sen'tial. necessary: pure, as oil: highly rectified. [a ball. wel'fâre, prosperity; success. chāste. pure; uncorrupt. am bi'tion, ardent desire for superior power, honor, or fame. com'pe tent, able; suitable; of sufficient power. as money, etc. instruments; whatever enables one to do something, means,

357

Thwart, to cross, as a purpose; to oppose; to disappoint or to turn aside, as a blow; to ward off. par'ry. defeat. to prevent, or remove, difficulty in the outset. ob'vi ate, o'ver rule". to control: to decide against. contest, etc. to deceive; to plan better than another in any cîr'cum vent", sup press', to overpower and crush: to conceal or hold back, co erce', to force; to make submit. as the truth. pro hib'it. to prevent; to forbid. in'ter fere", to interpose; to meddle; to conflict. em bär'rass, to perplex; to entangle.

Bib'li cal, relating to the Bible. act of referring or directing attention: relation. ref'er ence. doc'tri nal. relating to, or containing doctrine, as the doctrine of belief; the doctrine of the Church. Tthe Bible. creed. pa ter'nal, received from a father; pertaining to a father. re būke'. direct and pointed reproof. fra ter'nal, from a brother; brotherly; pertaining to a brother. good opinion; affection. re gard', fil'ial, relating to a son or daughter. es teem'. high regard; love as to a parent: opinion as to value.

359

Rec'om mend", to commend to another; to praise to another. nom'i nate. to propose by name; to appoint by name; to propose no'ti f₹. to give notice to; to inform. las a candidate. to give permission or power. au'thor īze. rep!re sent". to show; to describe: to act as a substitute for. im'i tāte. to copy: to pattern after. to cut letters or carve figures on wood, stone, or metal. en grāve', de nöte', to mark; to mean; to imply. description. to paint; to picture; to show, as by a picture or por tray' före shöw', to predict; to discover before it happens.

360

Fil'a ment, a slender thread. [etc.: the essential part. fi'bre (or fi'ber). a small thread; the natural thread, as of cotton, tex'tūre, a web; a thing woven: the manner of weaving. dra'per v. clothwork: cloth: the dress of a picture: hangings. tap'es try, figured cloths for lining walls of an apartment. gŏs'sa mer, a thin floating cobweb: very thin cloth, etc. lig'a ment. a cord: a slight muscle or sinew. teg'u ment. the skin. lig'a ture. a bandage: anything to use in tying; a cord. car'ti lage, gristle, as the frame of the ear, etc.

Un'dis guised', open; unconcealed; plain. condition. de jec'tion. a sorrowful state of mind : lowered spirits : downcast dis lov'al. not faithful, as a friend or supporter; traitorous. de fection, a turning away, as from a friend, or cause. im'ma tūre". not ripe; too early. state of decaying; the process of decay. de ca'dence, re gard'ful. respectful; giving proper regard or attention. a bey'ance $(b\bar{a})$. a waiting; a postponement. scru'pu lous. very careful; having regard to the smallest points. thrift, industry; success resulting from industry.

362

Be reave'. to take away; to deprive as by death. ment, etc. to send upon, or strike with, as a blow, a punishin flict'. to injure; to wrong; to transgress: to break, as a vi'o late. to make one a slave; to reduce to slavery. en slāve'. promise. vĭ'ti āte (shĭ), to make faulty, or imperfect; to spoil. Tbribe. to cause the crime of perjury or false swearing: to sub ôrn', to escape; to avoid; to answer so that the truth is e vāde', to fail in duty, contract or agreement. de fault'. em bez'zle. to cheat; to use public money for private purposes. de nounce', to inform against; to point out as deserving punishment.

363

Dū'el ist (or du el list), one who fights a duel. a soldier sent out to get information of the enemy. scout, zou ave $(zw\ddot{a}v')$ or $zo\overline{o} \ddot{a}v'$, a kind of foot-soldier, as in the French as sas'sin, a secret murderer. army. the murder of, or murderer of, a parent. păr'ri çīde, a scoundrel; a rascal. villain, hea'then (th'n), a pagan; an idolater. one engaged in irregular warfare. guer ril'la, a'the ist, one who denies the existence of God. in'fi del. a disbeliever of Christianity; an unbeliever.

In val'id, not good in law. doc'u ment. a writing, paper, etc., to be used as proof, etc. clear; shining; transparent; easily understood. lu'cid, a thought, or two or more connected thoughts, put into sen'tence. eas'u al, happening without design; accidental. words. anything talked or written of. top'ic, use. cur'rent, common; passing from hand to hand; fitted for general se'riēş (or sē'rī ēs), events connected and happening one after another. en chant'ing, delightful.

ro mance', a sort of exciting novel.

365

to pour in; to steep; to soak. In fūse'. suf füse', to spread over, as with color. ex hāle', to send out, as odor; to emit. ex haust', to empty; to drain; to use the whole of anything. to send forth, as light; to send out. e mit', to make close or thick, as by pressure or boiling, etc. con dense', to become smaller; to tighten; to draw closer: to barcon tract'. to spread out; to enlarge; to grow. ex pand', gain. to press together; to condense; to contract. com press', shrink to draw together; to bind; to cramp; to cause to con strict'.

366

a secret manner of writing: naught or zero. Ci'pher, le'gend (or leg'end), a story; a doubtful narrative, as of a hero's deeds. a question; an inquiry. [enly called a verse. que'ry, a short division of a hymn or poem, sometimes mistak. stan'za, bul'le tin, a bill or paper showing public news or events. banns', a proclamation in church of an intended marriage. [rative, etc. di'a ry, a daily written account of one's doings. sum'ma ry, a condensed account; a short summing up of a long nara story or article in parts, sent to readers one at a time. se'ri al, re vīs'al, a reëxamination; a review; a looking over carefully in order to improve.

Mar'shal. to arrange in due order, as an army. soldiers. en list', to enter on a list, as in an army; to enroll, as new em pan'el. to enroll, as a jury; to form a jury. to another. to give power to act for; to give the management del'e gate, dis pōse', to arrange; to set in order; to deal out: to sell, [give, or get rid of. dis patch', to send away: to kill. to enclose within walls, as a prison. im mūre'. en thrall', to enslave. [ment, etc.: to subdue. sub jěct', to bring or put under, as to subject to heat, punishcăsh iēr'. to discharge in disgrace, as from the army.

368

Fü'tile, useless; of no use. schēme (skēm), a plan : a project. ad'verse, unfavorable. cir'cum stan ces, events; happenings: surroundings. im par'tial, free from bias; just. ences. con'trast, a comparing of two things by showing their differbe fit'ting, suiting; becoming. a part coming after. se'quel, con'se quent, following, as a result. dis as'ter, great misfortune; defeat; loss.

369

Sun'dry, several; different; more than one. sub'stan ces, real things. molt'en(t'n),melted; made of metal. a mixture, or compound, of copper and tin. brŏnze, in an'i mate, having no life; dead. gaseous; any substance. mat'ter. whatever occupies space, whether solid, liquid, or chem'i cal, pertaining to chemistry. several. com'pound, a mixture by which one substance is formed from sa'vor y, pleasing to the smell or taste. de eoe'tion. matter boiled; the act of boiling.

Dī ur'nal, daily. turning, as of a wheel. ro ta'tion. the turning around on its axis, as of the earth; the an'nu al, vearly. sun: a successful revolt, etc. rev'o lu"tion. a great change, as the passage of the earth round the an'nu lar, the passage of another. ring-like. the shutting off of the light of one heavenly body by ē clīpse', ver'nal. in the spring; relating to spring. the time when night and day are of the same length. e'qui nox. belonging to the winter; wintry. hi ber'nal. sol'stice, the time when days are longest and shortest.

371

sober; grave; modest. De mure'. sullen: sour-tempered. mo rose', sorrowful; doleful; dismal. dŏl'or ous. merry : waggish. words. jo cōse', short in speech; brief; saying much in few well-chosen la con'ic, talkative; given to much aimless speech. găr'ru lous, san'guine (gwin), very cheerful; having high hope: red, like blood. de ject'ed. low-spirited; cast down; depressed; humbled. state'ly, grand; lofty; majestic; standing high and firm. foul; filthy from poverty, as squalid alleys, huts, etc. squal'id,

372

In cline'. to lean: to bend; to turn towards, as in thought, etc. to balance, as a spear in the hand: to weigh. poișe', ō ver bal'ance, to outweigh; to throw the balance on one side. vi'brāte, to move to and fro: to quiver; to tremble. sub vert', to overthrow; to destroy. clutch. to grasp; to gripe; to seize. to cripple; to wound; to disable. maim, mu'ti late, to deprive of a necessary part; to cut off, as an arm wel'ter, to roll in blood, water, or mire. ag'o nīze, to feel agony; to be in great pain.

Pomp'ous, showy; proud: splendid. ad'vent. a coming, as the advent of Christ. mar'tial, warlike; bold; relating to war. miēn, manner; look, as of a person. de ri'sive, mocking; scornful; making fun of. gri māce'. a twisting of the face, as in sport or scorn. cau'tious. prudent; watchful against danger; not rash. etc. e va'sion, an avoiding, or getting around, an answer, argument, caus'tic. burning; eating away; biting. rep'ar tee", a smart or funny reply.

374

Sub'ûrb. the outer part of a city. ves'ti büle. a porch or hall, serving as an ante-room to a house. bal'co nv. a platform or porch upon the side of a house. fo'rum. a court; a place for debate, as a courtroom, etc. ros'trum. a stand or platform for public speakers. ob serv'a to ry, a tower; a place from which to observe the stars, etc. ped'es tal. the base or foot of a pillar, column, etc. [a point at the top. lav'a to rv. a bathing-place. p∀r′a mid, a solid figure, usually square at the bottom, ending in mon'u ment, any structure erected in memory of a person or event.

375

causing disaster; ruinous. Dis as'trous, a quarrel, usually kept up, as by families. feud. savage; cruel; brutal. bar'ba rous, věnge'ance, revenge. fa'tal, causing or producing death. meeting. ren coun'ter. a battle or fight that happens suddenly, as by chance syl'van, pertaining to, or relating to the woods; forest-like. ren dez vous (ren'de voo' or ron'de voo'), a place of meeting; a meeting appointed. sa'ble, dark; black: a small fur-bearing animal. pall, cloth used for covering of a coffin.

type in the form of written letters: writing. Script. im'print, a mark made by pressure. something added to a writing, as at the end of a letter. post'script. screed. a long worthless speech or writing on any subject. any writing done by hand, as a written book, speech, etc. man'u script. me'tre (or ter), a measure, as in poetry, by long and short syllables. thēme. a subject or topic on which one writes or speaks. can'to, a division of a poem. from each line, form a name. a cros'tic. a poem in which certain letters, taken in order, one syn'o nym (or nyme), a word having the same, or nearly the same, meaning as another, as vest, waistcoat, Ex act'. perfectly correct; accurate. an outline; a sketch; a drawing as in geometry, etc. di'a grăm, splendid; elegant; grand. su perb'. [kind are. a sample; one to show what the others of the same spec'i men, ex ter'nal, outward: pertaining to the outside part. re sem'blance, likeness. ab"stract'. existing in the mind only. ī de'al, one's idea of a perfect thing. so'ber. serious: grave: not drunken. re al'i ty. that which is real; a certainty.

377

378

one skilled in the arts; one who practices painting, Art'ist. sculp'tor, a carver of wood or stone figures. for some other art, al'der man, one of a body of town or city officers. another. am bas'sa dor, one who with full power acts for his own country in mil lion âire. one with a million or more dollars. loss by fire, etc. un der wrīt'er, an insurer; one whose business is to secure against ac'tu a ry, an officer of an insurance company; a clerk. sāģe, a wise man; a grave or prudent man. mar'tyr, one put to death for truth or belief. mis'sion a ry, a person sent, as a preacher to spread religion.

Stand'ard (*4j.), recognized as proper; tested and found worthy to be regarded as a rule or guide, as a model, a pattern, etc.

ver'sion, a translation; an account or description.

ab'so lute, not limited; sufficient in itself; whole; unalterable.

stand'ard(noun), that which is established as a rule or model.

mass'ive, heavy; weighty; bulky.

lex'i con, a dictionary.

ob'so lēte, out of use, as a word, etc.

code, a collection or orderly arrangement of laws in a book.

pon'der ous, heavy; having weight.

tome, a book.

380

In ter'ro gate, to examine by asking questions; to question. challenge, to dare another to fight; to offer any contest.

so liç'it, to ask; to request. sup'pli cate, to beg; to entreat.

with hold', to keep back; to hold back: to refuse. a bol'ish, to cancel; to annul; to do away with.

ac çēde', to assent; to comply with; to yield to a request.

çēde, to give up; to resign; to yield, as land, etc. in"ti māte', to hint; to convey a hidden meaning.

al lude', to refer; to make allusion.

381

Mark'ed ly, noticeably: pointedly.

touch'ing ly, with words or acts that touch the feelings. ccv'ert ly, secretly; in a hidden or covered manner.

pry'ing ly, with impertinent curiosity. sole'ly, singly; only; separately.

ac'tu al ly, really; in act.

ac'tive ly, in an active manner; with action. strict'ly, exactly; in a strict manner; rigidly.

civ'il ly, politely; courteously; in a well-bred manner.

heart'i ly, cordially; sincerely.

In'dis tinct", not distinct; vague; not clear.

un"der tone', a low tone of the voice; a low sound.

ex plicit, plain; clear; direct. [mand. dic ta'tion, the act of telling what to write: an order or com-catch'pen ny, made only for selling.

ad ver'tise ment, a public notice, as in a newspaper.

ear'nest, serious; eager; intent.

em'pha sis, force of voice, as pleced on some word or words.
el'o quent, speaking with beauty or power; having beauty or en treat'y, an earnest petition or prayer. [power, as a speech, etc.

383

Con'di ment, a sauce; a seasoning, as vinegar, pepper, etc. fla'vor, that which affects smell or taste, or both; taste. con fection, any sweetmeat. pleasing to the taste. rel'ish. something to aid appetite or to make food more an egg fritter or pancake. om'e let. bar'be cue. a kind of roast of a whole animal, as a hog or ox. choc'o late, a preparation or drink made of the cocoa-bean. fete (fat), a feast; a holiday of pleasure for the people. tab'leau (lō), a scene pictured by arranging persons in a group.

car'ni val, a Catholic feast or season of pleasure.

384

In differ ent, neither good nor bad; middling: not distinguished.
mor'als, the practice of the duties of life; just habits that un'der hand" secret; unfair. [spring from duty.]

vil'lain y (or villany), wickedness; baseness; crime.

ig no'ble, not noble; mean; low. [etc.

pas'sion, a movement of the mind or feelings, as love, anger, in vet'er ate, fixed by habit or age. mel'an ehol v. sadness; gloom.

Ir're sist'i ble, that cannot be resisted; too strong to be controlled.

vi'o lence, any violent act; force; an injury.

a cramp; a sudden illness; a convulsion. Späsm. tre'mor, a trembling; a quivering or shaking. ca rous'al. a drunken or noisy feast. rap'Ine, pillage; act of plundering. butchery; great destruction of life. slaugh'ter, a fight; a contest. [squandered; act of scattering. com'bat, dis'si pa''tion, a wasteful life, in which money, health, etc., are an unforeseen accident, event, or misfortune. cas'u al ty, cap tiv'i ty, the state of a captive, or prisoner; bondage. man'a cles, chains or irons for binding the hands of a captive.

386

Al'cōve, a retired part of a chamber, etc.; an arbor in a garden. ar cāde'. a small arch; a course of arches, with a walk under a re'na. a space or field for fighting, or for any contest. av'e ntie. a wide street; a passage; a way of entrance. a covering over a throne or bed, or over the head; a can'o py, cāse'ment. a window-sash opening upon hinges. covering. quad'ran gle, a space or enclosure having four right angles. tab'er na cle. a tent or pavilion used for religious worship, etc. the cookroom of a ship; a railway car used by trainca boose'. cal'a boose". a prison : a jail. hands.

387

O'ver whelm", to crush underneath; to overpower; to cover, as the ex tin'guish, to put out, as fire; to quench; to destroy. Sea. en cumber. to clog; to impede: to load. pros'trāte, to lay flat; to throw down. frus'trāte, to defeat; to foil. confuse. dis'con cert". to throw into disorder or confusion; to abash; to to baffle; to defeat. dis com'fit, to throw down, as walls; to strip; to render useless, dis man'tle, as ships, etc., by destroying the guns. de nüde'. to strip; to pull off, as clothing, etc. de plēte', to let blood; to exhaust; to empty.

elegant; courteous; civil; polite. state. Ur bāne'. min'is ter, a preacher; a pastor: one who serves: an officer of im pos'ing, making a show; striking to the eye or sense. a religious form, as of baptism, marriage, etc.; social cer'e mo ny, cus'tom a ry. common; usual. form, etc. ha bil'i ments, dress; clothes; garments. pro vin'cial, relating to a province; pertaining to the manners of bor ough (burro), a town. people far from the center of fashion, etc. ex clu'sive, excluding or shutting out: selfish. so ci'e ty, companionship; company.

389

Birth"right', the right to which a person is born. property descended from one's father. pat'ri mo ny, in her'it ance. the property that is given or bequeathed to any one. lï en (lēn or le'en), legal claim of a creditor to property. leg'a cy, money or property given by will. death. property which a wife is to use after her husband's joint'ure. her'it age, inheritance. [inheritance. hêir'lōōm, any movable or personal property which descends by cap'i tal, amount of money invested, or put into business. in vest'ment, money or property put at interest, or in business.

390

Toi'let, a dressing-table: act or manner of dressing. bou doir $(b\overline{bo} dw \delta r)$, a small private room or apartment. cam'e ō, a stone or shell so carved that the figures are above di'a dem, the crown of a monarch, etc. [the surface (in relief). tin'sel, anything showy and of little value, as brass jewelry, pinch'beck, an alloy of copper and zinc: cheap jewelry. etc. e lix'ir, a medicine. cos met'ic, a wash, etc., to beautify the skin paint; colors for painting. pig'ment, part of teeth. en am'el, a kind of cosmetic for the skin, etc.; the hard outer

Un cer'tain, not certain; doubtful.

ink'ling, a hint; a slight degree of knowledge. vap'id, spiritless; weak: dead: having no value.

smirk, an affected smile. poign'ant, keen; severe; painful. twinge, a short, sharp, sudden pain.

plain; apparent; that can be seen. ev'i dent, discernment; knowledge of the interior parts. in'sīght.

staid, sober; grave; steady.

moth'er-wit'. common sense.

392

Vault. to leap; to jump; to tumble. to boast; to display boastingly. väunt, to insult; to jeer at; to revile. taunt, rant, to rave in violent language.

to sink by bending the knees, as in fear. his gold. cow'er, gloat, to stare with desire or satisfaction, as a miser upon loathe, to regard with disgust or strong hatred. věarn, to feel troubled by pity or desire.

bōde. to forebode; to portend; to foreshow.

wreak, to inflict; to perform, as an act of vengeance.

393

Es'ti ma ble, good; worthy; to be esteemed. one to act. mo'tive, a moving-power; any feeling or thought that moves mon'e ta ry, relating to money.

in cen'tive, that which encourages. [what is required. in com'pe tent, not competent; not fit; not being able, as to do re source', that on which one depends for support or supply. un'pro duc"tive. not productive; not fertile; not yielding.

re search', earnest search or examination for facts, truths, etc. hu māne'. kind; having good will. onward with sudden force. im'pulse. a sudden influence or motion to act: the act of driving skillful; clever; creative; inventive. In ģēn'ious, ref'u ta"tion. successful denial: proof to the contrary. im pôr'tū nate. pressing: persevering, as in request or prayer. re mon'strance. earnest speech in opposing. un chăr'i ta ble. not given to charity; unkind in judging; harsh. sus pi'cion, distrust; the act of suspecting. not graceful; ugly in manner, form, etc. un grāce'ful. căr'i ca tūre, an overdrawn likeness intended to cause amusement. en'vi ous, full of envy: pained by another's happiness. cal'um ny, a false charge made in order to injure one's good name.

395

Def'i ni"tion. the telling of what a word or term means. rec'i ta"tion, the act of reciting or repeating what is learned. the act of describing. [done, as in public debates, etc. de scrip'tion. pro"gramme' (or pro"gram'), a paper showing briefly what is to be a command; a precept. man'dāte. com pul'sion, the act of compelling: force. blan'dish ment. soft words; kind treatment. per sua sion $(sw\bar{a})$, the act of persuading: opinion; belief. advice; direction; consultation: an attorney-at-law. coun'sel. cov'e nant, a solemn agreement; a written promise; a bargain

396

Pri'or. former: before in time. later; after. pos te'ri or, măs'cu line, manly: male. ef fem'i nate. womanish. un'a wâre", not seeing, observing, or heeding, viģ'i lant. watchful. in ju'ri ous, causing injury; hurtful. praise wor thy, worthy of praise; deserving praise. in tel'li gent, informed: having knowledge. ac com'plished. well educated: polished in manners.

Fas tid'i ous, squeamish; difficult to please; overnice. gour'mand, one who takes great pleasure in eating.

rev'els, enjoys greatly; feasts upon. [many persons. ban'quet, a grand occasion for eating and drinking; a feast for con sum'ing, eating: destroying; wasting; spending.

va'ri ous, different; manifold.

fa'vor Ite, beloved: person or thing beloved.

tid'bits, dainties; delicate and choice pieces of food.

un num'bered, not counted.
po ta'tions, drinks; draughts.

398

Al $1\bar{y}'$, to unite by kindred or friendship, as in war against a com prise', to include; to contain. [common enemy, etc.

aug ment', to make larger; to increase.

se çēde', to withdraw from fellowship; to retire.

sub'di vīde, to divide again into smaller parts.

con'gre gate, to collect together; to assemble. [to keep apart. seg're gate, to put to itself; to prevent from uniting with others;

Ig'o late, to set apart; to separate; to put to itself.

ex'tri cate, to free from difficulty; to release; to disentangle.

e man'ci pate, to set free; to liberate, as from bondage.

200

Nau'sea (shěa), sickness at the stomach: loathing. věr'ti go, giddiness; dizziness; headswimming.

hys těr'ics, a peculiar disease of the nerves. hem'or rhāģe, discharge of blood from the nose, lungs, etc. ep'i dem"ic, any disease attacking many at the same time.

pa ral'ÿ sis, loss of motion and feeling in the body or a part of it ca t arrh', cold in the head.

con ta'gion (jun), any disease which spreads by contact, or touch.

lu'na cy, a kind of madness. bed'lam, a hospital for lunatics.

Re nounce', to forsake; to give up.

im mor'al, not moral; wicked; dishonest.

oc cu pa'tion, a trade; a business: the act of occupying.

de plore', to lament; to bewail.

re môrse'less, without remorse or pity. [storm, etc.

dev'as ta"tion, waste; destruction caused by force, as by an army, a re lin'quish, to abandon; to quit; to withdraw a claim to.

un wor'thy, not worthy or noble; base.

re vënge'ful, full of revenge; having vengeance at heart.

in ten'tion, a purpose; an aim.

401

The'a tre (or the a ter), a room or house where plays, etc., are acted; tra ge'di an, an actor or writer of tragedies. [an arena. com'e dy, an amusing play. [orchestra.

ôr'ehes tra, a band of musicians, as in a theatre: a place for the spec'ta cle, a show; a sight; a display.

au'di to ry, an audience: a place for an audience.

tour'na ment, a mock fight, etc., engaged in by horsemen.

as sem'blage, a collection; a group; a gathering of people, etc.

ab'bey, a convent; the church of a convent.

mosque (mosk), a Mohammedan temple.

402

Ex ist'ence, per sist'ence, firmness to keep on in spite of failure; prolonged enlo ca'tion, lo co mo'tion, lat'i tūde, lon'gi tūde, in'te ger, life; being; state of being. [deavor.
place; situation; the place in which anything is.
the act or power of moving forward or changing place.
distance north or south of the equator: breadth.
distance east and west from a given meridian.
a whole number.

in teg'ri ty, honesty; uprightness; wholeness of character.

em'i grant, one who goes away from his country to live in another.

im'mi grant, one who comes into another country to live.

Ca pa'cious, large; wide; holding much.

vol'ume, a book : size; bulk.

ca'pa ble, able; intelligent; having ability. em'is sary, one sent for a purpose, as a spy, etc.

co'pi ous, plentiful; abundant. [of words. vo cab'u la ry, the sum or stock of words used: an alphabetical list in suffi'cient, not sufficient.

ca pag'i ty, extent of room or space: ability. im mod'er ate, not moderate; extravagant. re ple'tion, the state of being too full.

404

In hale', to draw in, as with air. stu'pe fy, to make stupid; to benumb.

waft, to float, as through air; to cause to float. bran'dish, . to wave, shake, or flourish, as a weapon.

re spīre', to breathe.

dis tend', to swell; to expand.

quiv'er, to quake; to shudder; to shake. pal'pi tate, to beat rapidly, as the heart.

as pire', to desire earnestly; to hope for something higher. di late', to spread; to swell; to expand, as in speech.

405

Il lu'sive, deceitful to the eye. [seeing. vi'sion, a strange sight; a dream: the act or faculty of môr'bid, not sound and healthful; sickly. [an expression. thought prompted by passion or feeling: a thought; not credible; beyond belief.

in cred'i ble, not credible; beyond belief. ru'mor, a flying or common report.

un prom'is ing, not promising good; unfavorable.

ad ven'ture, a taking of risk; risk; a going into danger: an un spar'ing, not sparing; severe; unkind. [extraordinary event.

rid'i cule, what excites contempt with laughter.

Trans mit', to send; to transfer.

trans mute', to change; to alter, as in chemistry.

con coct', to fully arrange, as a scheme; to plan together.
trans fig'ure, to change to the form or figure of; to transform.

pet'ri $f\bar{y}$, to change to stone. os'si $f\bar{y}$, to change to bone.

lubricate, to make smooth, as by oiling; to oil.

co ag'u late, to curdle; to run into masses, as a liquid; to thicken. co here', to stick together, as particles of the same kind.

con'cen trate, to bring together, or to a center; to condense.

407

Be lea'guer $(\bar{g}er)$, to try to capture, as a city.

se ques'ter, to seize and hold for a time; to set apart.

in'ter cept", to seize on its journey or passage.

in'ter sect", to divide; to cross: to meet and cross each other.

in'ter ject", to throw in between; to insert.

en croach', to intrude on another's rights. [as enemies.

en coun'ter, to meet face to face, or suddenly: to meet, especially em pow'er, to give power or right to act; to give legal power to.

ap pall', to smite with terror; to terrify.

van quish, to conquer; to overcome.

408

Con'fla gra"tion, a great or general fire.

man"slaugh'ter, unlawful killing of a person, but without hate.

bar bar'ı ty, savageness; cruelty. [greediness.

ra paç'i ty, the quality or act of plundering; ravenousness;

au daç'i ty, boldness; reckless daring; bold impudence.

ca lam'i ty, great misfortune; great distress.

de prav'i ty, corruption; wickedness.

in iq'ui ty (in ik'wi ty), sin; unrighteous conduct; vice.

men daç'i ty, the habit of lying; falsehood.

ex'e cra"tion, a curse uttered from strong hatred.

Tru'eu lent, savage; barbarous; cruel.

ma raud'er, a roving plunderer.

mus'cu lar, strong; relating to the muscles.

ad'ver sa ry, one who opposes, as an enemy.

tu mult'u ous, disorderly; unquiet; causing tumult.

mass"meet'ing, a large assembly of the people.

ri dic'u lous, worthy of being laughed at; to be ridiculed.

ehol'er, anger; rage.

ma li'cious (lish'us), having at heart hate or illwill.

in'flu ence, power; a directing or impulsive power.

410

Un däunt'ed, not frightened; fearless. [a messenger. he'r'ald, an officer who formerly proclaimed war and peace;

in hib'i to ry, restraining; prohibiting.

re stric'tion, a keeping within limits or bounds; an exception. ar'bi tra ry, bound by no law; depending on one's own will.

en act'ment, a law: the passage of a bill into a law. ir res'o lute, not firm; not resolved; wavering.

ad min'is tra"tion, management; the head of the government, as the president and his cabinet.

com mer'cial, relating to commerce or merchandise.
côr'po ra"tion, many persons united by law for business under a common name.

411

Fa'ble, a fictitious story intended to convey truth, usually by the mouths of animals, etc.

farce, a ridiculous comedy; a low comic play; any ridiculous show or sight. bur lesque' (lĕsk'), a composition in prose or poetry in which some bur lesque' (lesk'), a composition in prose or poetry in which some one is ridiculed.

fic'tion, an invented story; a tale; fictitious writing; a dic'tion, manner of speech; language; words used. [of shoe. brōgue (brōg), par'lance, id'i om, an expression peculiar to a language. ax'i om, a truth so clear or plain that it needs no proving.

412

a wise saying; a truth well-worded and much used.

Ar''chi tect'ure, the art or science of building. cu'po la, an arched roof; a small observatory upon a house.

cit'a del, a fortress in or near a city.

bal'us ter, a small pillar to support a rail, as on the stairway, gallery, etc.

col on nade', a row or range of columns with roof, etc.

bal"us trāde', a row of balusters.

prov'erb,

pal'i sāde", a strong, long stake with one end in the ground, and the other sharpened: a fence made of palisades.

pōr'ti cō, a colonnade in front of a house.

çen'o taph, an empty tomb or monument in honor of some one buried elsewhere.

pin'na cle, a small tower; a summit; a high point.

413

parties carrying on war; fighters. Bel lig'er ents, mon cause. ăl līes', those united by treaty, etc., and engaged in a comwar'ri or, an active soldier; one whose trade is war. bail'iff, a minor officer of the law. dep'u ty, one appointed to act for another, as deputy sheriff, etc. back'slīd er, one who by degrees abandons the faith and practice of his religion. hĕr'e tic, one believing a doctrine contrary to the common faith or teaching.

claim'ant, one who claims, especially at law. au'di tor, one who hears and audits accounts.

ap pel'lant, one who appeals.

ugly; deformed; not pleasing to the eye. Un sight'ly. causing joy or pleasure; merry; cheerful; gay. win'some, fixed; steady; unchanging. con'stant. un stable, not fixed; inconstant. in flam'ma ble. that may be set on fire. in'de struc"ti ble, that cannot be destroyed. Ining. in I'tial (in ish'al), a beginning, as the first letter of a word: beginbeing the last; farthest; extreme. ul'ti mate, mean; base; low. ab'ject, haughty; assuming. ăr'ro gant, to divide into two equal parts. Bi sect', to cut in pieces, as an animal body. dis sect'. to cast through; to throw. [through. tra ject', im pāle', to put to death by fixing on a stake; to pierce trans fix', to pierce through, as with a pointed weapon. per'fo rate, to make a hole through by boring or driving. trun'cāte, to cut off; to lop; to maim. dis'lo cate. to put out of joint, as the elbow, etc.; to displace. in'su late, to place so as to prevent having anything to do with rus'ti cāte, to go into, or live in, the country. [what is around.

415

A 1 A

Ba zäar'. a market-place; a fair for the sale of fancy wares. men ag'er le $(men \, azh'er \, y)$, a collection of animals, usually wild. am phi the a tre (or ter), a circular building with rising tiers of seats. em'pīre, all the region governed by an emperor. es tate', one's property; fortune, as in land; condition in ex cheq'uer (chěk er), an English court of law; a treasury. mag'a zïne", a storehouse, as for gunpowder, etc.: a series of pamphlets published regularly. her'mit age. the abode of a hermit; a dwelling. sem'i na ry, a school of high grade; a fixed school. me trop'o lis. the chief city of a country.

Punc'tu al. exact: prompt: accurate, as to time. pre cīse'. correct; accurate; formal; nice. pos'i tive. real: certain: undoubted: not negative. di rect'. straight; straightforward; outspoken; sincere. neg'a tive. relating to negation, denial, or inaction. păs'sive. inactive; doing nothing; receiving action. strong. re li'a ble. trustworthy; to be relied or depended upon; true; af firm'a tive. relating to assertion: not negative: positive. sim'i lar. like: resembling closely. ī den'tic al. the very same.

418

Ro tund'. round; circular; globular; like a sphere. hōst, a landlord; one who has a guest. ea'ger, keenly desirous; earnest; zealous. cli'ent, one who employs a lawyer: one helped by another. pug na'cious, inclined to fight; quarrelsome. a brawling or quarreling woman. shrew. gloom'y, melancholy; downcast; dismal; cloudy. reg'i cīde. a murderer, or the murder, of a king. be nig'nant, kind; gracious; good. saint, a person of great piety.

419

Al ter'nate ly, happening or acting by turns; interchanging regu larly: one after the other. u'ni fôrm ly, without difference; in a similar and regular manner. ut'ter ly, fully; complete; perfectly. thor'ough ly, completely; fully; through and through. u'su al ly, commonly; ordinarily. ģen'er ally. commonly; most frequently. spě'cial ly, particularly; chiefly. mi nüte'ly, exactly; having regard to small points. sig'nal ly, remarkably; with great effect. plainly; in direct terms: particularly. ex press'ly,

Cov'et ous. ac com'plice, sea'son a bly. dis clōsed', hei'nous, du pliç'i ty, per förce'. ac knŏwl'edged.di vulg'ing, mys'ter y, eager for gain; desirous beyond reason. an associate, as in crime. in proper time; at the right season or time. told; made known; revealed. very wicked; criminal. deceit; deception; double-dealing. by force; by violence. confessed; admitted knowledge of. making known; revealing. secret; something secret.

421

Con vince', re eant', sug ģest', rē as sūre', con'tra dict", re tôrt', re it'er āte. im'pli cāte, pal'li āte, ab sŏlve'.

to satisfy, as by proof. to recall; to take back a former declaration. to hint; to intimate; to partly inform. to assure again; to free from fear. to speak against; to deny; to oppose in words. to reply; to throw back, as one's words. to assert again. charging with crime. to imply; to mix up with; to entangle as by to soften; to excuse; to show reason for, as an to pardon; to pronounce innocent. offense.

422

Pe'nal. a tro'cious. out'rage, ma lig'nant, se věr'i ty, of fi'cial, çī ta'tion, sum'ma ry, con vic'tion.

pertaining to punishment, as for crime. etc. trans'por ta"tion, carrying from one place to another, as in banishment, very wicked; heinous; outrageous. a horrible deed; any act of great wickedness. moved by hate; malicious; fatal. harshness; sternness; cruelty. relating to public office. quoted: a call. summons to appear, as before a judge; a passage brief; short; in short course. the act of convicting or proving guilty.

to disorder; to disarray; to disturb; to throw out De range', to cause confusion; to trouble; to mix. con fuse', of rank. to allure; to entice away; to deceive. de coy', to lead away by force or fraud, as a person. ab duct'. to trouble in mind; to disquiet. per turb'. to perplex; to bewilder. mvs'ti f₹. to inflict great pain of mind or body. tôr ment', to make miserable; to cause great wretchedness. ac curse'. des'o late, to ruin; to lay waste, as a country. ex ter'mi nate, to put an end to all; to slay every one.

424

the act of coming into sight; seeming; looks. Ap pēar'ance, com plex'ion (plěk'shun), the color of the face or skin. con fu'sion, disorder; want of regularity: astonishment. harmony; agreement; union. con'côrd, confidence; certainty; the act of assuring. as sur'ance. in'for ma"tion, news or knowledge given; instruction. attention and respect, as to a ceremony, a law, etc. ob serv'ance. ob'ser va"tion, notice; remark; attention or study. In tro duc'tion, a preface; a first knowledge. con clu'sion, the end; the close; an opinion or judgment formed upon what has been heard or read.

425

Ma ter'nal, pertaining to a mother; motherly. interest; care; anxiety. con cern', in di vid'u al. pertaining to one particular person or thing. be hoof', benefit; interest; profit; advantage. un'so liç"it ed, unasked. pat'ron age, help; aid, as in giving one's trade or custom. sec'ond a ry. of second importance; not of first importance. u til'i ty, usefulness; benefit. le git'i mate. lawful; according to custom; proper. van'tage. superiority; advantage.

Ex pose'. crim'i nate. at trib'ūte. con trib'ute. en act'. trans act'. in vert'. con vert'. di vert'. cap'ti vate.

to open to view: to put in danger. to accuse; to charge with crime. [sider as belonging. to attach in the mind, as an effect to a cause; to conto give to a common stock; to aid; to help. to establish, as a law; to decree: to perform, to manage or conduct, as a business affair. to turn upside down; to reverse. to change, as from one religion to another. to turn aside, as a blow; to amuse, and thus turn to please greatly. [away gloomy thoughts.

427

Fa ce'tious. cro'ny, lo qua'cious, gos'sip. dig'ni fīed, spin'ster, hos'pi ta ble, ma'tron, hon'or a ble.dow'a ger, lively; gay; witty. a bosom-companion. talkative. an idle tattler; trifling talk. stately; having manners that cause great respect. a woman who has never married. of a good host. kind to strangers or visitors; having the qualities an elderly married woman; a mother.

having honor; high-minded; worthy of honor. a widow who has a dower or income; a widow,

428

Ce les'tial. o'men, phan'tom. mys te'ri ous, rev'e la"tion, heavenly; pertaining to the sky or heavens. anything that foreshows good or bad fortune. gro tesque' (těsk), odd in shape; formed in a ludicrous manner. a vision; a ghost. [beyond explanation. too strange for easy explanation; secret; above or that which is revealed or made known.

un'en light"ened, ignorant. per plex'i ty, embarrassment; anxiety; doubt and worry.

com'plex, e nig'ma,

of many parts; not simple. a puzzle; a riddle, etc.

42Ω

Ant arc'tic. relating to the regions near the south pole. landscape: the place or objects in view. scēn'er v. sŭb ter ra'ne an. beneath the earth's surface. cav'i ty, a hollow: a hollow place. re splen'dent, bright; shining; splendid. au ro'ra, light, as of the coming dawn. shining; bright; giving light, as the sun. lu'mi nous. Tair. me'te or. a "shooting-star"; a luminous body passing in the in'fi nite. extending without end in all directions: boundless. u'ni verse. the whole of the creation; the world.

430

Fal'con (faw'kn), a kind of hawk. fal'chion (fawl'shun), a short, broad, crooked sword. product. a merchant's agent: one of the multipliers of a fac'tor. fac'tion, a party opposing the government: one of the opposfau'na. the original animals of a country. ing parties. flo'ra, the original plants of a country. meet. fo'cus. the point where rays of light passing through a lens the center about which matter is collected; a cennu'cle us. ra'di us. the half-diameter of a circle. Itral point. a part of the circumference of a circle; a bow. arc, 421

In sig nif'i cant, having no meaning; worthless; not to be considcox'comb(com), a fop; a dandy. ered. rus'tic. pertaining to the country, or country life. ver'dan cy. greenness; ignorance; inexperience. wōe'be gŏne, sorrowful; full of sadness. re cruit'. a soldier newly enlisted; a fresh supply. vil lain ous. like a villain; mean; base; vile. he is not. im postor, one who, in order to deceive, pretends to be what fac'tious. disorderly; given to faction or party spirit. zĕal'ot. a person overfull of zeal.

Un wont'ed, ūs'age, in flex'i ble, will. am'i ca ble, friendly. dis'pu ta"tion, un wa'ver ing. res'o lu"tion, em phat'ic, dec'la ra"tion.

unusual: unaccustomed. treatment; habit of many; common practice. that cannot be bent. solves or decides. capacity to choose; that power of the mind which rereasoning; dispute; argument. not wavering; steady; fixed; firm. Tbody. fixed intention: firmness: declaration of a public uttered with emphasis. anything declared: any strong assertion.

Or'i gin. ho ri'zon. ehron'i cle. pan'o ra"ma. pan'to mime. am'bu lance. am'bu la"tion. am'pli tūde, al'ti tude.

the first, or beginning, of anything: cause; source. the line where earth and sky seem to meet. a history: a record: an account of events. ehro nom'e ter, a watch; a clock; a sundial; an hour-glass. a complete view; a kind of large picture. a dumb show, as by shadows falling on a curtain. an army carriage to convey the wounded. a walking; a jaunt for the purpose of seeing the Country, etc. extent: largeness: capacity. height; elevation above the sea-level.

434

Pet'u lant, men'ace, ver'bal, au thor'i tv. u nan'i mous, pro'test. ur'gent, prot'es ta"tion. au then'tic, war'rant, fretful; peevish; inclined to complain. a threat. relating to words spoken. [ence; testimony. power; rightful or legal power or government; influwithout a minority of even one; of one mind. a solemn declaration of opinion against some act. with pressing need or haste. ing; a protest. a strong and repeated assertion; the act of protesttrue; having proper authority; not fictitious. a legal paper commanding the arrest of some one; an order; legal power or right; a right.

mountain.

485

to move off, as from a camp. [the river into the sea. De camp', de bouch' (dā boosh'), to march out into open ground; to flow into, as to form in line, as troops; to place in proper ranks. a lign' (a line'), to cannonade; to shell; to throw bombs, as into a bom bard'. re'en force", to add to strength; to bring fresh help. fort. be siege', to persist in attempting to take a defended place; to ō ver pow'er, to conquer by means of greater strength. de sert', to quit; to leave; to abandon a cause. to rebel, as soldiers or sailors against their officers. mu'ti ny, en'fi lāde", to fire upon a line of troops whose flank or end is presented.

436

In cl'sion. a cut; a gash. the act or effect of rubbing off. ab ra'sion, a stroke; the act of striking; effect of sound in the per cus'sion. com bus'tion (chun), the act of burning. ear. a sudden loud discharge; the act of exploding. ex plo'sion, e rup'tion. the act of bursting forth, as of a volcano. tôr na'do. a violent whirling wind. e ro'sion, the act of eating away, as of land by water. av'a länche, a vast body of snow, ice, land, etc., sliding down a 437

a flood.

del'ūġe,

In dom'i ta ble, not to be mastered; unyielding. in'de fat"i ga ble, untiring; never wearying. Ir're pres"si ble, not to be repressed or ended. īr're triēv"a ble, not to be helped or amended; ruinous. Ir're me"di a ble. not to be remedied. in es'ti ma ble. so valuable that its worth cannot be estimated. in tract'a ble, unteachable; stubborn; that cannot be led or guided. in al'ien a ble, not to be taken away; that cannot be transferred to in vi'o la ble, that may not be injured; sacred. another. im preg'na ble, that may not be taken, as a fort.

to heat as water, and then cool and catch the vapor. Dis til', to change, as dough with yeast in it. fer ment'. com pound'. to mix in one mass. foment strife. co'a lesce" (les). to grow together; to unite. to apply washes for medication: to encourage, as to fo ment'. ef'fer vesce" (věs), to boil gently. to make or become thin or rare, as air when heated. răr'e fy, [jelly. dif fūse', to spread; to scatter, as odor, etc. to freeze; to thicken; to stiffen, as gelatine into con geal', so lid'i fy. to make or become solid or compact, as water into ice.

439

Col'league, an associate in the discharge of some duty. a'ġen cy, action; that through which power is extended: the business of an agent. a number of persons appointed to act. com mit'tee. syn'di cate, a body of persons or firms joined in business, etc. com'bi na"tion, a number of persons combined for business, etc. con spir'a cy. a number of persons conspiring against government. con ven'tion, a number of persons assembled to consider important con'stel la"tion, matters. an assemblage or cluster of stars. con fed'er a"tion, a combination of tribes, states, or nations. com"mon wealth', a republic; a state; a community.

440

Ap pur'te nance, that which belongs, as buildings pertaining to a ac cou'tre ments, trappings; equipment, as of soldiers. farm, etc. re ga'li a, the badges, dress, or signs of office or order. re gat'ta, a race in which a number of boats engage. ôrd'nance. cannon; heavy artillery. ôr'di nance, a law; an established rule; a decree. a'pi a ry, a place or house where bees are kept. a'vi a ry, a place or house where birds are kept. cones. sta lac'tīte, lime, as in a cave, hanging like icicles or inverted sta lag'mīte. cones, etc., standing on the floor of a cave.

to jut out, as a headland or cape; to shoot for-Pro ject', pro pel', to shove forward; to force on. ward. clus'ter, to get together in groups; to group. cir'cu late, to move round; to spread. to turn as a wheel, or as the earth around the sun. re vŏlve', to travel from place to place; to rove. pĕr'e gri nāte, to land, as from a ship. dis'em bark", to walk around; to rove about. per am'bu lāte, ret'ro grāde, to go back; to withdraw; to retreat. world. cir'cum nav''i gāte, to make a voyage around an island or around the O'ver run"ning, running over, as a river its banks. mouth. the mouth of a river; an arm of the sea at a river's es'tu a ry, dī ur'nal ly, daily; every day. lāveş, washes. du'ra ble, lasting; permanent. port. foun da'tion, the base; that on which anything stands; a supvery large; of enormous size. of a building. co los'sal, a building; a roof; a rounded roof over the middle dōme, that can be heard. au'di ble, an unchanging sound; a single tone. mon'o tōne,

442

443

a low kind of speech, as the cant of thieves. Cant, humbug; empty talk: a ham: a game. gam'mon, confused talk; gabble; cant. jar'gon, ğib'ber ish, unmeaning words; chatter; gabble; a noise like speech, such as monkeys, etc., make. bal'der dash, a senseless mixture, as of words; nonsense. doğ'ğer el, a poor attempt at poetry; low verses. bad'i någe (nåzh), a jesting manner of speech; teasing talk. scan'dal, shame; disgrace: slander. [lesque; ridicule. sat'īre, talk or writing in which one is ridiculed; burplat'i tūde, dullness, as of speech; commonplace talk.

Con'tract. a bargain; a written agreement. amount deducted from interest, etc.; allowance made. dis'count. ra'ti o (shio), the relation one thing has to another, as in numbers. me'di um, any matter or substance in, or by which, anything acts or moves; as, "The medium of trade is money," etc.: a middle state. an office; a department of business or of governbu'reau $(r\bar{o})$, a particular thing to be noted down, as in an account, i'tem. age of man, etc. a middling value, amount, or quality, as the average av'er age. dráft, an order for money: a drawing of men for the army. sun'dries. various articles, as of merchandise. stock. an amount of capital in business, as of money, merchandise, cattle, etc.

445

Ef fec'tive, that which has, or continues to have, effect. a watch, as at the bedside of the sick, etc. viģ'il. that which has had effect. ef fec'tu al. quest, a search. in ter'mi na ble, unending; lasting. watchfulness. vig'i lance, ŭn de ni'a ble, not to be denied. [trayal. treach'er y, traitorous conduct; breach of faith; perfidy; bein ex cu'şa ble, not to be excused; very wrong. per ver'sion, wrong use; a turning from right to wrong.

446

A dapt', to fit; to suit; to make suitable; to change in order to suit another purpose.

col late', to collect; to fit by collecting suitable parts; to compare one part with another, as in examining a book. to inclose as in a shrine; to preserve; to cherish. em bod'y, to collect or to form into a body; to unite; to form de vel'op, to grow gradually toward a perfect shape; to form. e vŏlve'. to unroll; to open; to grow; to develop from a lower state; to expand. to imply. in vŏlve'. to roll up; to envelop; to entangle; to embarrass: de völve'. to roll down upon; to become one's duty; as, "The government of the school devolves upon the teacher." ap per tain', to belong; to relate; as, "Harshness should not appertain to the schoolroom." ac'tu āte. to cause or move one to act; to impel.

447

In'di vid"u als, persons; particular things of a class or kind. one given to luxury, especially in eating. ep'i cūre, a ris'to crăt, a person of the extreme high class; one who believes in the rule of the upper classes. au'to crat. an absolute monarch; one whose word is law. court'ier, one who frequents royal courts; a nobleman. liēģe, a ruler; a lord. [in Congress, etc. pāġe, a youth who serves in a high place, as in a court, or dem'o crat. one of the people; a believer in the rule of the people, instead of rule by a monarch or by the upper ple be'ian, one of the common people; low; common. knight'-ĕr'rant, a knight wandering in search of adventure.

448

De lu'sive, deceptive pros'pect, expectati per fid'i ous, dep'ri va''tion, de lib'er ate, per'se cu''tion, re şist'less, tyr'an ny, in'fa mous, spo'li a''tion, deceptive expectati per full of policy desprise ou intention the act to be tyr'an ny, the gove dishonor spo'li a''tion, the act of the sector of the s deceptive; misleading. [view. expectation; view of the future; a look ahead; a full of perfidy or treachery; false. [ment. loss; want; the state of being deprived; bereave-intentional; not impulsive; well-considered. the act of persecuting; distress; the act of troubnot to be resisted; irresistible: hopeless. [ling. the government of a tyrant; cruel power. dishonorable; shameful; lost to honor. [bery. the act of plundering or pillaging; destruction; rob-

Měr'i to''ri ous, rep'u ta ble, re pu'ted, rep're şent"a tive, self'-ev'i dent, re ver'si ble, in ad vert'ent, in con vert'i ble, ob ject'ive, sub ject'ive, having merit; praiseworthy.

honorable; well spoken of. [of. spoken of; known, or supposed; commonly talked being a sample, or specimen; having likeness. needing no proof; containing evidence in itself. capable of being turned, or reversed. careless; negligent; accidental. that is not capable of change. relating to the object of thought; material. relating to thought; felt consciously but not known as an object.

450

Re quīt'al, re ṣērve', re ṣērt', ret'ri bu"tion, re bāte', re mis'sion, re mit'tance, re prīş'al, rev'er ence, re demp'tion, a return, good or bad; the act of repaying.
something kept behind: modesty; caution.
a place for assembling; a meeting.
a return of good or evil; requital; paying back.
a diminution or lessening, as of a payment; disrelease; pardon; forgiveness. [count. money sent in payment. [for something lost. recapture; the seizing of something as payment honor; esteem; the feeling had for the old and safety; salvation; recovery from ruin. [honorable.

451

E liç'it, e düçe', in duct', in düçe', scru'ple, pal'ter, trăn scend', ab stain', re şūme', pre vail', to draw out; to bring to light, as to elicit truth to bring out; to cause to appear. [by discussion. to lead into; to introduce; to bring in. to lead by persuasion, etc.; to persuade. to doubt; to be careful; to be nicely honorable. to act falsely; to evade or suppress the truth. to go beyond; to excel; to exceed. to refrain; to forbear; to relinquish, as a habit. to begin again; to recommence; to occupy again. to overcome; to have power; to persuade.

In den'ture, in"voice', reg'is ter, cod'i çil, dow'ry, cap'tion, re vi'sion, joûr'nal, e di'tion, so lu'tion, a written agreement binding both parties.

an account with prices of goods shipped; a bill.
a regular account of proceedings kept in a book,
a clause added to a will. [etc.; a record.
a wife's or widow's portion of an estate; a dower.
a heading or title, as to a chapter in a book, etc.
the act of revising or improving, as a book, etc.;
a daily account: a daily paper. [a reëxamination.
the number of copies of a book published at one time.
an explanation; the act of solving or explaining.

453

Fault'less, tran'script, ger'ti fleş, gen'u îne, sig'na tūre, be nev'o lent, leğ'a tee", re'im bur"seş, in ju dī'cious, kin'drěd, perfect; having no fault.
a written copy of an original paper; a copy.
attests, makes certain; vouches for.
real; true; pure; not false.
a person's name signed; a sign.
kind; humane; generous.
one to whom property is left by will. [pays back.
replaces, as money; repairs a loss, as of money;
not judicious; unwise; imprudent.
those bound by kinship; relatives.

454

Mood'y, gloomy; peevish; sad; given to changes of feeling. en dür'ance, firmness under pain; power to endure. in'dis pen'sa ble, necessary; that cannot be dispensed with. sac'ri fice $(f\bar{\imath}z)$, a giving up of something; an offering for duty or in au'di ble, not to be heard, as a low whisper, etc. religion. res'pi ra"tion, a breathing out, as from the lungs. ques'tion a ble (chun), doubtful; that may be questioned. san'i ty, health, or soundness, of mind. fran'tic, wild; unbalanced: foolish with rage, etc. ma'ni ac. a mad person; a fierce lunatic.

Griëv'ance, for bear'ance, dis'ad van"tage, in'a bil"i ty, dis'a bil"i ty, pas'si bil'i ty, in'ci vil"i ty, com'i ty, ap'pre hen"sion, dis'af fec"tion, sense of injury; a wrong felt. the act of forbearing, or declining to avenge; mercy.

injury; loss; damage; hurt. lack of ability; want of power. weakness; loss of ability.

the act or quality of feeling or suffering.
rudeness; impoliteness; an act of discourtesy.
courtesy; kindness; fair dealing.

fear; expectation of loss or hurt: the act of captur-dislike; lack or loss of affection.

456

Dis dain', dis hon'or,
dis'a vow",
dis'in her'it,
dis'o blige",
coun'ter act",
re'tro act",
dis'con tin"ue,
e līde',
dis gôrge',

to scorn; to despise; to regard with contempt. to cause shame or disgrace; to bring reproach upon. to refuse to own; to deny; to disclaim; to assert to deprive of an inheritance. [to the contrary. to cause offense by unkindness; to refuse to please. to oppose; to hinder; to act against; to defeat. to act backward; to act in return; to act on the to put an end to; to leave off; to stop. [past. to cut out, as a syllable from a word. to throw out, as of the mouth; to surrender, as illgotten property.

457 weak; having no strength.

very vulgar in speech.

Im'po tent,
ire,
man'i fest,
scorn,
un'ac count"a ble,
prej'u dIce,
in cred'u lous,
sneer,
rib'ald,
vi tu'per a"tion,

anger.
plain; evident.
evident contempt.
not to be accounted for; hard to understand.
opinion formed without reason or proof: injury. unbelieving; not easy of belief; showing lack of a scornful movement of the mouth or face. [belief great blame; scornful reproach; abuse.

to descend, as an estate from one to another: to fol-En tail', sa'vor. to have a taste or smell. low. au'gur, to foreshow by signs. e vince'. to show; to prove. ed'i f₹, to teach; to enlighten; to instruct and improve. en li'ven. to cheer; to make lively or gay. fluc'tu āte, to rise and fall, as the waves; to waver. re lax'. to slacken; to loosen; to ease; to unbend. tol'er ate. to permit; to allow; to bear; to endure. al le'vi āte. to lighten, as distress; to lessen.

459

wise; prudent; grave; judicious. Sāģe, de lib'er a"tion, consultation; thought; the act of deliberating. important; weighty; of great consequence. mo men'tous, act of deciding; conclusion; resolution. de cl'sion, pertaining to the end; the last. fi'nal, op'por tu"ni ty, suitable time; occasion and means; a chance. un shrink'ing, firm; fixed; unyielding. rig'or. sternness; severity; harshness; hardness. res'o lūte. steady; firm; unwavering. per'se ver"ance, persistence; act of persevering or persisting.

460

Pro ba'tion. a state of trial; time of trial, as the present life. ad'o ra"tion, the act of worship; great reverence, as toward God be at'i tude. extreme happiness; the joy of the saints. a sacred ceremony, especially the Lord's Supper. sac'ra ment. a tone'ment. amends; reparation, or satisfaction for injury or damage, especially the death of Christ. e ter'ni ty. unending time; time without beginning or end. in fin'i ty, unlimited extent; boundlessness; never-ending space; du al'i ty, the state of being two; two in one. the universe. trin'i ty. the state of being three; three in one. de'i ty, God; the Creator; a divine being.

Ven'ti late. suf'fo cate. pen'e trate. per'co late. ag'i tate. ĭr'ri tāte, op'er āte. cul'ti vate, ag'gra vāte, ex ag'ger ate. to let in air. to smother; to suffer from want of air.

to enter into, as the mind, etc.; to go in; to pierce.

to pass through, as water, etc.; to filter. to shake; to disturb; to excite; to consider.

to rub; to fret; to excite; to anger; to tease, or vex. to perform, as a work; to act; to exert power.

to care for, as a plant or as a power of the mind, etc. to make worse; to make less bearable; to add weight. to increase; to enlarge; especially to go beyond the truth.

462

worthy of note; striking; remarkable. Not'a ble, in'ter view $(v\bar{u})$, a meeting; a conversation for a purpose. un ruf'fled, unshaken; calm; not disturbed. calmness; quietness. com po'sūre, un tīme'ly, unsuited as to time; not at the proper time. ar'dor, warmth of conduct; eagerness. severe; harsh; exact; accurate. rig'or ous. completion; performance. ful fil'ment, firm; unbending; precise; unwavering. rig'id, věr'i fi ca"tion, proof; fulfilment of test; act of proving true.

463

Re ten'tion, res'to ra"tion. hin'drance, fur'ther ance. col ll'sion, in frac'tion. at trac'tion, re ac'tion. e mis'sion. trans mis'sion, the act of sending from one to another person or place.

the act of keeping or retaining; withholding. the act of giving back, or returning, as to a rightful claimant. anything that hinders. anything that helps; the act of helping. the act of colliding, or striking together of two bodies. the act of breaking; the breaking of any law or rule. the act of attracting or drawing. opposition; resisting; a rebounding. sun, etc. the act of sending out, or emitting, as light from the Por'ous, cu'ti cle. vo'cal, im ped'i ment. cu'li na ry, a dept'. red'o lent. sa'vor, san'i ta ry, pre cau'tion, having small holes or pores, as in the skin. an outside covering, as of the body; the skin. pertaining to the human voice. a hindrance; a stumbling-block. relating to the kitchen or cookery. one skilled in an art or trade; an expert. odorous; sweet-smelling; spreading odor around. taste; smell; the quality of the taste or odor of relating to health of mind or body. anything. care taken beforehand; an act to prevent the occurrence of evil.

465

In trep'id, cou'ri er, sa ga'cious ly, cir'cum spect, sur mount'ed, en vi'ron ing, ob'sta cles. e lūd'ed, treach'er ous. am'bush, very brave; daring. an army messenger; a runner. wisely; prudently. watchful all around. went over and beyond; passed over. surrounding. difficulties in the way; impediments; hindrances. slipped away from; escaped. deceitfully prepared; faithless. for the enemy a trap, as in war where troops hide and lie in wait

Jäunt, feint, strat'a ġem, strat'e gy. in trigue' $(tr\bar{e}g)$, em prīse', ex cur'sion, tour'ney, sôr'tĭe, a short journey; a pleasure trip; a ramble. a pretense, as of attack; that which is feigned. a plan for deceiving an enemy in war. the science of army movements in war. re con"naïs sance', an examination, as in war; an advance in order to gain knowledge of the enemy. a secret plot. a bold attempt; a noble undertaking. a journey; a going out, as of numbers of people. a tournament; a mock fight. siegers. an attack made outside the walls upon the beto render difficult; to entangle. Com'pli cate, to suit; to fit; to put in proper order. ad just'. blend. to mix or mingle into one body. fetc. ram'i f₹. to separate and spread about, as the roots of trees, dis join', to separate; to disunite. from a hub, etc. ra'di āte, to send out in lines, as rays from the sun, or spokes to cause order; to arrange according to rule or law reg'u lāte, to twist into wrong shape; to exaggerate. dis tôrt'. to make longer. e lon'gate, ab bre'vi āte. to shorten, as words, etc.

468

En thu'si as"tic, eager; zealous; full of ardor; having great hope or a coming together, as of the people. con course', con gen'ial, having the same nature; similar, as in thought; of like minds. u'na nim"i ty, agreement of all; the state of being unanimous. ăl ter'nate, one after another by turns. gress, etc. ses'sions. sittings, or prolonged meetings, as of a court, a conad vi'so ry, having the right to advise; giving advice but not con'fer ence. a meeting for consultation. [command. ad vīs'a ble, proper to be done; prudent; desirable. trans ac'tion, anything done; business accomplished.

469

Faç'lle, easy; yielding; pliant; not difficult. willing. fain, suave (swāv), of a soft, pleasant manner. arch, sly; waggish; cunning; sportive. quaint, curious; odd; unusual; singular. crude, raw; unworked; in a rough state. frag'ile, easily broken; very brittle. frail, weak; easy to fall and be destroyed. curled; brittle; short. crisp, cum brous, cumbersome; burdensome; troublesome.

Vic'ious, having some quality or qualities of vice; wicked; evil. character: reputation. re pūte', in ev'i ta ble. not possible to be shunned; unavoidable; certain. de tec'tion, discovery of guilt or wrong. in tol'er a ble, not to be borne; unbearable. re straint'. a holding back; a being held back or restrained. weird, pertaining to witchcraft or mystery; unearthly. proph'e cy, a prediction; the foretelling of what will come to pass. trag'ic, pertaining to tragedy; dreadful; fatal; mournful. de mīşe', death; departure from this life.

471

Ves'per, the evening star; evening. yūle, Christmas. me rid'i an, midday; a line of longitude. an'ti pode, a place or person on the opposite side of the earth. na'dir. the point in the heavens directly underneath our feet. ze'nith. the point in the heavens directly overhead. wel'kin, the concave sky; the vault of heaven. ver'tex. the highest point; an extreme point; a summit. vôr'tex. a whirlpool; a whirlwind. gal'ax v. the Milky Way: a brilliant collection.

472

to look into closely; to examine carefully. Scru'ti nīze, to disentangle; to solve; to explain. un rav'el, to think deeply; to think; to reflect. cog'i tate. to examine; to look upon: to divide into feet, as verse. scan. med'i tate, to think on; to intend; to plan. draw a conclusion. in fer', to understand from something done or said before; to es'ti māte, to place a value on; to esteem. value. ap pre'ci āte, to place a just value on; to judge accurately as to pon'der, to weigh, as one subject in the mind; to think deeply upon. sides of the question. de lib'er ate, to weigh, as two subjects in the mind; to ponder both Friv'o lous. trifling; petty; worthless. de mean'or. behavior; conduct; manner, ex te'ri or. outside: on the surface. el'e gance, beauty; grace; refinement; politeness. gaunt, thin: lean: lank: slender. phy sique $(s\bar{e}k)$, the body; the structure of the body. im pen'i tent, not penitent; unrepentant; stubborn. at'ti tūde, position; posture; gesture. in'dis creet". unwise; imprudent; not discreet. pet'u lance, peevishness; fretfulness; ill temper.

474

the highest point; the greatest degree. Ae'me. the smallest letter in the Greek alphabet: a little ī ō'ta. thing; a particle; a jot. del'ta. the Greek letter Δ : the triangular space between two mouths of a river. e'ra. a period of time reckoned from some particular date or noted event, as the Christian era; a date; an ze'ro. naught; the figure 0. [age; a succession of years. plea. an excuse or reason presented; a verbal defense. ve'to, the act by which a ruler, president, governor, etc., forbids that a bill which has been passed should become a law. fi'at, a decree; an order; an absolute command. knell, the ringing of a funeral bell; a death signal. thrōe. great pain; sharp agony.

475

In clu'sive, inclosing or embracing; as, "from 1897 to 1900 inclusive," means the whole four years.

con sec'u tive, following in order; successive; uninterrupted, as the twelve consecutive months.

re spec'tive, relating each to each; as, "John and James went to their respective homes."

in sep'a ra ble, di ver'gent, ad ja'cent, that cannot be separated; closely united, as in friend-separating, as lines from a point. [ship, etc. lying very near; as, "England and France are adjacent, though they do not touch."

cir'cum ja'cent, joining or bordering on every side, as the states by which another state is surrounded.

ad join'ing, ter'mi nal, ae çes'si ble, joining to; touching, as an adjoining state or county. relating to an end, as of a journey, a road, etc. that may be approached or entered, as a mountain top, a cave, etc.

476

Con serve', to keep from change; to protect; to save. sub serve', to help; to serve; to promote. [to our future good." to result; to have effect; as, "Study will redound re dound', con düce', to further; to help; to advance; to promote. to reach a conclusion by reasoning; to infer. de duce', to effect; to have effect; to redound. in ūre', to follow, as an effect; to occur in consequence. en sue'. to supply with, as power or authority. en due', to spread through; to affect the whole. per vāde', to pass through, as light; to go through every part. per'me ate,

477

Ca priçe', whim, wile, ma'ni a, craft, tact, de vice', mot'to, a sudden notion or start of the mind; a fancy.

an odd notion of the mind; a sudden fancy.
a trick; a stratagem; a deceit; a decoy; a snare.
madness; a violent or unreasonable desire.
cunning; fraud; art; skill: small sea-vessels.
skill; expertness; nice management; wise management.
an aid to work; a plan; a scheme; a design.
a word or collection of words used as a sign of quality, etc.; as, "E pluribus unum is the motto of the United States."

freak, waif, a whim; a childish notion or act; a departure from anything astray, as a lost child, etc. [rule.

deceitful; dishonest; misleading. De cep'tive. Spirits. the supposed art of witchcraft; power to act on maġ'ic. id'i ot"ic. like an idiot; having no power of mind. mum'mer v. a nonsensical show; folly; buffoonery; foolish form. re pellent. having power to repel: repulsive. vain'glo"ry. haughty vanity or pride; pomposity. re me'di a ble. that can be cured or remedied. de range ment. disorder; confusion; disease, as of the mind. ab surd'. unreasonable; opposed to plain fact or truth. ar'ro gance. haughty manners or conduct; pride; insolence.

479

Ax'is. the line around which a body rotates. e clip'tic, the path of a heavenly body. cv'cle. a period of time; a circle of years. cy'clone. a whirling or circling wind of great violence. cvl'in der. a long round body of equal size throughout. cal'en dar. an almanac; a book or card containing the dates for the chan'de lier", a frame for holding many lamps or other lights. lu'mi na ry. anything that gives light, as the sun, moon, etc. lu na'tion, the revolution or change of the moon. lus'trum. a period of five years.

480

Cal'cu late. to count; to reckon; to compute; to estimate. con'tem plate. to think about; to study; to design. com mu'ni cate, to correspond; to impart; to reveal; to tell. dis sem'i nate. to scatter; to sow; to spread. Tupon. e lab'o rāte, to make thought clear, as with great labor; to labor u'til Ize. to make useful; to employ useful things. col'o nīze. to send out a colony; to settle in colonies. tem'po rīze, to defer; to gain time. văc'il lāte. to waver in opinion; to hesitate; to shake. spec'u lāte, to reason upon the future: to buy and sell in the hope of gain.

modest; making no pretense. Ttion. Un'pre tend"ing, a short sketch of the life of some person; a descrip $mem'oir(w\check{o}r),$ revengeful; given to revenge. vin dic'tive, a public speech or address. o ra'tion. sen'ti men"tal. relating to the feelings or sentiment. a letter. speech. e pis'tle, uncertain; doubtful; of doubtful or deceitful e quiv'o cal, a heathen divinity consulted as to future events; ŏr'a cle, having value; precious. one famed for wisdom. val'u a ble. mem o ran'dum. a note to help the memory; a notice; a record.

482

Er rat'ic. wandering; singular; erring. a course of life; a race; a course of conduct. ca reer'. absurd; foolhardy; foolishly self-sacrificing; like quix ot'ic, Don Quixote. hood. chiv'al ry. the customs of knights in the middle ages; knightun preç'e dent ed, new; remarkable; unlike anything before. ôr'de al. a severe trial; any severe trial of a person's bravglo'ri ous, grand; great; relating to glory. [ery, strength, etc. an adventure; a daring act; an achievement. ex ploit', tri bal. relating to a tribe. of the United States. a figure full of meaning; the eagle is the emblem em'blem.

483

Lus'tre (or lus'ter), splendor; brightness; brilliancy. the filth and misery of great poverty. squalor, glory. ha'lo, a bright circle around the sun or moon; a circle of stig'ma, a mark of disgrace; a brand of shame; a blot. reputation; renown; honor amongst men. fāme, o'di um. shame; disgrace; hatefulness; hate. fru I'tion, possession; enjoyment; harvest. doom. a sentence; judgment; ruin; end; final condition rap'tūre, great happiness; bliss. awe, dread; fear; reverence.

Nom'i nal, pro ver'bi al, dis tinc'tive, op'tion al, na'tive, nă'tion al, fed'er al, gen'er al, u ni ver'sal, cath'o lic, relating to a name; in name only; not in reality. frequently mentioned, as a saying in common use. showing difference; having strong difference; peculiar depending upon choice; not compulsory. pertaining to birth; not acquired, but natural. pertaining to a nation; common to a whole people. pertaining to agreement, treaty, or union, as of nations. pertaining to a class or order; not peculiar; common. relating to the whole; not peculiar to a part. general; liberal; not narrow; pertaining to the Catholic Church.

485

Req'ui site (rěk'wi), necessary; that which is required. guăr'an ty, warrant; surety; allowance. in'de pend"ent, free; not dependent.

pos'tu late, a supposition; a position taken without proof.

im pres'sive, earnest; forcible; effective.

mor'al, serious instruction derived, as from a fable, etc.

per'son al ly, in person.

re spon'si ble, accountable; answerable.

jus'ti fi"a ble, right; to be justified or approved. ac quit'tal, act of acquitting; discharge.

486

In fect', to corrupt; to pollute, as with disease. clar'i $f\bar{y}$, to make clear or pure; to cleanse. liq'ue $f\bar{y}$ (lk'we), to melt; to dissolve into liquid form.

pul'ver Ize, to grind or reduce to powder or dust. [that is cut. ex ūde', to flow out; to sweat; to come out, as sap from a tree fil'trate, to strain; to filter.

di lute', to make thin, as by adding water; to weaken. e vap'o rate, to become vapor; to pass away in vapor.

pu'tre fy, to become corrupt; to rot.

dis'in fect", to purify from infection; to cleanse.

Ec cle'si as''tic, a church official of any degree. the superior or governor of an abbey. many. ab'be. a priest of the ancient religion in England and Gerdru'id, a member of the Catholic order The Society of Jesus. ies'u it. rab'bī, a priest or religious teacher (Jewish). Pope. leg'āte. an ambassador, especially an ambassador from the a member of the Church of England or Anglican an'gli can, [Mark, Luke, and John; a preacher. Church. either of the four authors of the gospels, Matthew, e van'gel ist, a person living in retirement or seclusion; a hermit. re clūse', cen'te na"ri an. a person one hundred years old.

488

faithfulness; honesty. Fi del'i ty, the duty one owes to a ruler; loyalty; fidelity. fe'al ty, service and submission to a ruler; duty; respect. hom'age, a bow; an act of respect or reverence. o bēi'sance, de co'rum. decency; propriety; proper ceremony. of mind. fôr'ti tūde. strength and patience to endure; courage; strength calmness; quietness; peace. se ren'i ty. be nev'o lence. goodness; charity; almsgiving. the quality of being steady or stationary; fixedness. sta bil'i ty, kindness; mercy. clem'en cy,

489

In'ter mit"tent, ceasing at times, as a fever. an'te ce"dent. going before in time or order. sub'se quent, following in time or order. years. bi en'ni al. occurring once in two years; continuing for two tri en'ni al. occurring once in three years; continuing for three years. quad ren'ni al. once in four years; lasting four years. per en'ni al. enduring without regard to seasons; eternal. in con'stant. changeable; not firm; fickle; unsteady. dil'a to ry, slow; given to delay; lingering. skirmishers. des'ul to ry, disconnected; having irregular pauses, as the fire of

Fu'mi gate. vac'ci nāte, in oc'u late. tit'il late. lac'er ate. cas'ti gāte, sub'iu gāte. in car'cer ate. do mes'ti cate. hi'ber nāte, to smoke; to purify or disinfect with smoke. to insert, as small-pox (vaccine) matter into the blood. to insert, as a graft into a tree, or as foreign matter to tickle; to cause to laugh. [into the blood. to tear in pieces, or shred, as the flesh. to punish by beating; to chastise. to subdue; to fully conquer, as a nation. to imprison; to confine in jail; to shut up. to tame; to accustom to a home. to winter; to go into winter-quarters; to become dormant during the winter, as bears, etc.

491

Bur gla'ri ous, dep're da"tion. dis rep'u ta ble, pec'u la"tion, ad'e quate, re mu'ner a''tion. mu nif'i cent, rec'om pënse, res'ti tu"tion, having the nature of the crime of burglary. the act of gaining by despoiling; taking away by dishonorable; disgraceful. mitted to one's care. dishonesty, especially as to public property comsufficient; ample; complete; enough for the purpayment; compensation; award. pose. liberal; generous with money; of costly kindness. reward for service; repayment. un'con di'tion al, without condition; absolute; unreserved. [storing. the act of giving back something taken; the act of re-

492

Ba'sis,	foundation; base.
ģist,	meaning; the real point; the substance.
ġerm,	a seed; a bud; an origin.
guile,	craft; cunning; fraud; deceit.
bāne,	a pest; an evil; ruin.
guīșe,	dress; appearance; seeming; manner.
st y le,	fashion; manner, as of dress, conduct, etc.
scōpe,	space; room; extent; extent of design; intention.
gāuģe,	a measure; a rule of measure.
meed,	a reward; a recompense; measure of reward.

Pen'dent. hanging; overhanging, as icicles, etc. tan'dem. lengthwise: said of two or more horses, attached one before another to a vehicle. pend'ing, hanging; not decided; yet doubtful; depending. pen'sile, suspended; hanging, as boughs that hang downward thoughtful; with head bowed in thought: serious. pen'sive, tem'per ate, mild; medium; not extreme. tem'po ral, relating to time; not eternal. dī verse', different; opposed. con'verse. on the opposite side; opposite, trans verse', on the side across; across.

494

the mouth or opening of a volcano. Cra'ter. sep'ul eher, a grave; a tomb. [volves around a larger body, plan'et, a heavenly body, as the moon or earth, etc., that refir'ma ment, the sky; the upper regions; the arch overhead. ŏr'i fice, an opening; a perforation. an"te chām'ber, an ante-room; a room that leads to the main hall. cha teau' $(t\bar{o}')$, a castle; a mansion in the country, as in France, etc. can'ton ment. quarters for soldiers. hab'i tăt, the home or region in which a plant or animal lives. vi cin'i ty, nearness; neighborhood.

495

Dra mat'ic, relating to plays on the stage, either tragedy or comedy far'ci cal, relating to farce; ridiculous; laughable. relating to romance; wild; adventurous. ro man'tic, fan'ci ful, relating to fancy; full of fancy; unreal; odd. com'i cal, droll; causing laughter; ridiculous. con cīse', short; condensed; using few, but strong, words. graph'ic, well written: clearly described; relating to writing. pro lix', very long; extending beyond reasonable limit, as a pro füse', bountiful; liberal; extravagant; lavish. hack'neyed, worn-out; in too common use, as a phrase often repeated.

At'om. the smallest particle; an extremely small quantity. a very small particle of matter; a spot. mōte. moat. a ditch for defense, as around a castle wall, etc. a space made by splitting; a crevice. cleft. repetition: repeating things in a circle. rōte. fashion; manner; method; form. mōde. weal. welfare; happiness; wealth; enjoyment. t⊽pe, a model; a pattern; a specimen; a stamp. phāse, appearance; form; change of form. tīthe. a tax; a tax of the tenth part, as of a crop, etc.

497

Pre med'i tate, to think, or determine, beforehand, ful'mi nate. to utter, as a threat; to denounce: to explode. ru'mi nāte. to think upon; to meditate: to chew the cud, as an ox pro mul'gāte. to make known; to publish; to proclaim. cō op'er āte. to work together; to help in work. in au'gū rāte, to place in office with proper ceremony. re cip'ro cate. to repay kindness; to give and take; to act mutually. con cil'i ate. to modify one's anger; to pacify; to win over; to lit'i gāte, to go to law; to sue; to try by law. reconcile. ad ju'di cate. to adjudge: to adjudge legally.

498

Ben'e fac"tor, one who confers a benefit. ben'e fi"cia ry, one on whom a benefit is conferred. tacles. glad"i a'tor. a fighter; a fighter with the sword, as in ancient speccav'a lier", a horseman; a knight; an accomplished cavalry soldier. com'mandant", one who commands; a commander of troops. one who fights; one of the parties to a fight. com'bat ant, ăl'mo ner. an officer, or upper servant, employed by princes, etc., to deal out alms to the needy. är'mor er. one who makes or sells arms; a weapon maker; a ad'mï ral, smith. the chief commander of a fleet. ad'mĭ ra ble, worthy of admiration; to be admired.

S∀s'tem. parts combined into a whole; a complete body; a usage; custom; habit. wont, scheme. et'i quette (ket), the system of polite conduct. eq'ul ty (ěk wi), justice; equal dealing; honesty. the work of the mind or hand; trade; skill, art, meth'od. a manner; a way; a rule; a regular order. a sample; a copy; a pattern; a model. ex am'ple, an arrangement; a class; a rank: a rule. ôr'der, act of applying: a device; a machine. ap pli'ance, a way or method of acting; a progress; an act, or a prog'ess, succession of acts.

500

to deal out; to bargain; to transact business. Ne go'ti āte, pec'u late. to steal; to defraud, especially the public. lig'ui date (lik'wi), to settle, as a debt: to clear up; to make clear. to pledge, as for a sum borrowed; to mortgage. h♥ poth'e cate, dep're dāte. to injure by pillage; to despoil; to plunder. e rad'i cate. to destroy utterly; to pull up by the roots. to render weak; to enfeeble. de bil'i tate, become. ap prox'i mate, to draw near; to approach; to come near: to nearly pre dom'i nate, to rule; to have greater strength or influence; to be re du'pli cate, to repeat; to redouble; to multiply. superior.

501

In vis'i ble, that cannot be seen. tan'gi ble, that may be touched or felt. leģ'i ble, that may be read; plain, as handwriting. in tel'li gi ble, that may be understood; clear to the sense. in vin'ci ble. that cannot be vanquished; unconquerable. in vul'ner a ble, that cannot be wounded. in fal'li ble. that cannot err; not capable of mistake. im mu'ta ble, unchangeable; steadfast. common measure. in'com men"su ra ble, not capable of being measured; having no ap pre'cia ble, large enough to be measured or appreciated.

Lev'i ty, brev'i ty, bom'bast, bra va'do, blas'phe my, a nath'e ma, ti rade', ha rangue', flip'pan cy, flu'en cy, lightness of speech; frivolity; want of gravity.

shortness of speech; briefness.
puffed-up speech; high-sounding talk.
boasting; threatening; bluster.
sinful speech or conduct concerning holy things.
a curse; a curse pronounced by the church.
a violent speech; a long and loud complaint.
a speech or oration more marked by noise than sense smart levity; pertness of talk.
flowing speech; readiness of speech.

503

Cat'e ehīşe, ex cul'pāte, im'pôr tūne", pro pī'ti āte, mēl'io rāte, ex hil'a rāte, eon jūre', ad jūre', con dōle', e lāte', to question closely; to ask questions.
to show to be blameless; to pronounce innocent.
to request repeatedly and earnestly.
to appease; to overcome displeasure; to conciliate.
to make better; to improve what is bad.
to make glad; to cheer.
to implore earnestly, as by a sacred name. [oath.
to beg or command earnestly; to charge, as under to show sympathy in grief or trouble; to grieve with.
to fill with confidence; to elevate in spirit.

504

Con'crēte, com pos'îte, ag'gre gate, re plēte', rīfe, ple'na ry, po ten'tial, com po'nent, dom'i nant, im'mi nent. united into solidity; having form; not abstract. made into one from parts; compounded.
a collection of separate things into a whole; a total. filled; full; as, "The Bible is replete with wisdom." abounding; prevailing; as, "The air is rife with odor." complete; entire; full; without vacancy or error. possible; that may be; having the power to become helping to form, as one of the parts of a compound. ruling; controlling; having power; governing. overhanging; threatening; immediately perilous.

geography limited to places, as fields for war, etc. To pog ra phy, ro tund'i ty. roundness of form, as of the earth, an orange, etc. cine'tūre, a band worn round the head or body; a belt; a sash. roundness outside, as of the earth, a saucer, etc. con vex'i ty, con cav'i tv. hollowness; hollow form; opposite of convexity. ac cliv' i ty, a rising hill: a steep slope upwards. de cliv'i ty. a steep slope downwards. as cent', a rising higher; rise; eminence. as cen'sion, an act of rising or ascending. influence; authority; superiority; height of power. as cend'en cy.

506

Lus'cious (lush us), sweet; delicious to the taste. eatable; proper for eating. ed'i ble. mind. dis täste'ful. unpalatable; unpleasant, as to the taste or to the nu tri'tious. nourishing; giving strength. al'i men''ta ry, pertaining to food or nourishment. un sa'vor v. having bad odor or bad taste. fet'id. rancid; foul-smelling. vo ra'cious, greedy; very hungry. om niv'o rous. eating all kinds of food. ca dav'er ous, ghastly; like a corpse: very thin.

507 In'tro duce". to lead in; to make acquainted: to begin. in'ter min"gle, to intermix; to mingle. to throw light upon; to enlighten; to embellish. il lu'mine. il lu'mi nāte. to make clear, as by light; to illustrate. to examine closely; to judge; to censure. crit'i cīse. civ'il īze, to enlighten; to reclaim from barbarity. to pray against; to be opposed to; to wish otherwise. dep're cate, de pre'ci ate. to lower in price; to lessen in value; to dispraise. ded'i cate, to give to a cause; to devote; to apply to a purpose. des'e crate. to profane anything sacred.

D'val, in shape like an egg. descending in a line, as a family. lin'e al. belonging to the side; by the side. lat'er al. letter: exact. lit'er al. pertaining to the letters of the alphabet; to the lit'to ral. pertaining to the shore; on the shore. dī ag'o nal, from angle to angle; slanting. an'gu lar. like an angle; having sharp corners. tu'bu lar, like a tube: hollow. hŏr'i zon"tal. parallel with the horizon; level. another line. per'pen dic"u lar, at right angles with the horizon; at right angles with Inarration.

509

Pro pen'si tv. disposition of mind; desire. ar'ti fice. a trick; a cunning device; deceit. fab'ri ca''tion. anything artfully made or constructed, as a false com mod'i ty, an article of produce or merchandise: goods. hus band ry, farming; agriculture. hôr"ti cul'tūre. gardening; fruit-growing. fi nănce'. public moneys; funds; money. e mol'u ment. profit; advantage; salary; fees. leg'is la"tion. law-making. leg"is la'tūre, a body of law-makers.

510

Ac ces'sion. enlargement; growth in possession or power. ag gres'sion. an act of injury; an attack; an advance against. ab lu'tion, the act of cleansing with water; washing; bathing af fu'sion, the act of pouring upon, as with water. di ver'sion, a turning aside; amusement; play. variety; difference; unlikeness. di ver'si ty. dif'fi dence. want of confidence; backwardness. disagreement; discord; dissent. dis'si dence. con ten'tion. strife; contest; dissension. piness. con tent'ment. composure of mind; cheerfulness; calmness; hap-to defend successfully; to justify. Vin'di căte. to accuse falsely; to slander. ca lum'ni āte. to return, as injury for injury. re tal'i ate. to hint; to introduce artfully into another's mind. in sin'u ate. to urge; to incite, as to evil; to urge toward crime. in'sti gate, re mon'strate, to urge against with strong reasons or speech. ad'vo cate. to defend in argument; to plead in favor of; to support. ar'bi trāte, to decide, as between two opposing advocates; to judge. pre văr'i cate, to evade the truth; to quibble; to falsify. re crim'i nate, to accuse in return; to charge back.

512

Vërsed, skilled; practised; experienced. vest'ed. fixed, as by right, power, or law. meet, proper; fit; suitable: convenient for the purpose. fraught, laden; freighted; full; stored. [crime. o'vert. public; open; apparent; not concealed, as an open ĕr'rant. wandering; roving; unsettled; given to mistakes. li'a ble, responsible; accountable, as at law; bound; obliged. ten'a ble, that can be held, as a fort, etc.; defensible. stretched; strained, as the attention; not lax or loose. těnse, fri'a ble, capable of being crumbled, as soil.

513

Lard'er, a pantry; a room for provisions. lĕav'en, that which causes growth or increase of size, as yeast. di'et, food; daily food. con sump'tion, the act of consuming, eating, or wasting: a disease. stim'u lant, that which stimulates or gives sudden strength. in dul'gence, favor; kindness: gratification; lack of restraint. so bri'e ty, the state of being sober; temperance; seriousness. mod'er a"tion, temperance; sobriety; restraint: a state between a prescription, as in medicine or cookery. reç'i pē, extremes. pab'u lum, food; that which furnishes food, strength, or support.

Bri gade', co'hôrt, com'pact, con'clave, sept, com'mune, sen'ate. cau'cus. cab'i net. parlia ment, a body of troops composed of two or more regiments. among the Romans, a body of about five hundred a bargain; a close union; a partnership. an assembly, a private meeting; a secret assembly. a clan; a family. la community. a territorial district (France): the land or property of a body of senators; the upper house of a legislature. a meeting preparatory to an election; a consultation. ministers of state who-conduct the government. an assembly of lawmakers, as in England.

515

lēague. pact, sçhişm, rușe, fray, pique, pan'ic. hav'oc.

clan'gor,

ob'li gate.

Caste.

class in society; grade; rank. a confederation; a combination; a partnership. an agreement; a league; a compact. a division or separation, as in the church. a trick; a stratagem; deceit. a combat; a fight. spite; displeasure; vexation; slight anger. a sudden fright; unreasonable terror. great destruction of life or property. a very great noise; din.

516

to glide or fall away; to pass, as time.

grad'u āte, mod'er ate, qual'i fy, ac cel'er ate, prop'a gāte, rel'e gate, e lapse', Ac'qui esce" (ĕs), to yield consent; to assent; to agree; to comply. ac com'mo date, to cause to suit; to fit; to supply; to please. to bind to a performance, as by duty or promise, etc. to continue by degrees; to complete gradually; especially to confer a degree or diploma. to regulate; to prevent excess. to fit; to regulate; to soften; to modify. to hasten; to cause greater speed. spread. to increase in number or extent; to extend; to to send; to place: to banish.

In cor'ri gi ble. ī rŏn'i cal. ī rāte'. in im'i cal. ex ci'ta ble. īr'ri ta ble. ĭr're lĭ"gious. sac'ri le"gious. ig'no min"i ous, that cannot be corrected; hopeless. expressing one thing and meaning another. angry; ireful; having anger, or ire. hostile; unfriendly; like an enemy. pre sump'tu ous, arrogant; presuming; overbold; rash. easy to be excited. easily angered. not religious; wicked; sinful. profaning sacred things; heinously wicked. mean; shameful; disgraceful.

518

Dĕr'i va"tion. ter'mi na"tion, al'ter a"tion. dem'o li"tion, in'cli na"tion. de'vi a"tion. ad'ap ta"tion, de'mar ca"tion. gra da'tion. in'ter mis"sion. the act of discovering a source: origin; descent. the act of ending; an end; a conclusion. the act of altering or making different; change. destruction; the act of demolishing or pulling down a leaning, as of the mind or affections; bent; bias a wandering from a course: an offense. fitness of parts; the act of adapting or suiting. division; separation; boundary; limit. orderly arrangement by rank or class. an interval of time; a pause; an interruption.

519

Forth'com"ing, pur su'ant, un'de"vi at ing, cir cu'i tous, dis cur'sive. cur'so ry, ef fu'sive. spon ta'ne ous, spas mod'ic, ready to appear; about to happen. done in consequence of; following; because of. straight; not deviating, or turning aside. like a circuit or circle; round about. digressive; wandering from the subject. hasty; careless; lacking close attention. pouring out, as words; garrulous; talkative. without effort; originating in itself. acting by jerks or spasms: intermittent. in'ter me"di ate, lying between; in or near the middle.

shape; form; outline. Con tour'.

a roundabout journey; a circuit. de tour', tis'sue (tish'u), a web; a thin cloth or paper: a net; a snare.

a tinge; a stain; a color; an essence; an extract. tinc'ture.

pol'i tics, the science of government; public affairs. pol'i ty, policy of government: course to pursue.

fron'tier, the parts of a country farthest from the center.

fron'tis piece, a picture in the front part of a book.

power; any power of mind or body; ability. fac'ul ty, fa cil'i ty, ease; the opposite of difficulty.

521

In fringe', to break, as a promise or rule: to trespass. im pĭnġe', to strike against; to clash; to touch. ex pŭnģe', to blot out; to erase; to efface. ob trude', to introduce wrongfully; to force upon. pro trude'. to thrust through and project; to stick out. in'ter vēne". to come between; to separate; to interpose. su'per vēne", to occur; to come upon, as with a contrary influence. con'tra vene," to act in opposition; to defeat; to contradict. stip'u late. to contract or bargain: to demand. stim'u late, to excite; to arouse; to cause more rapid action.

522

Na'tūre. the universe: the laws that control all things. ģēn'ius, power of mind; talent; peculiar quality of mind. cul'tūre. cultivation; tillage; improvement through exercise. in'tel lect. the faculty that enables one to know. In'stinct. natural impulse; that which causes action in animals. sense; understanding: humor. wit, Tuse it. the quality of being wise; knowledge and the power to wis'dom. in'ge nu"i ty, skill; inventiveness; mental quickness. vir'tūe, natural excellence; merit: power; influence; strength; prin'ci ple, a truth; a doctrine; a fundamental law; a rule of action.

a hoax; a fabrication; a deceit. Ca nard'. prisoners. an agreement as to prisoners of war; an exchange of car tel'. a kind of riddle or word puzzle. cha rāde'. an old saying; a proverb. ad'age. operations. tac'tics. army and navy preparations and movements: skillful max'im. a generally received truth; a principle; a proverb. cli'max, an ascent from lower to high thought and expression. ba'thos. a descent in speech from high to mean thoughts. ten'et. a principle; a rule; a doctrine. an account handed down from age to age; unwritten tra di'tion.

524

relating to the sight. Vis'u al, oc'u lar. relating to the eye. clear; pure; transparent, as a stream of water. lim'pid. liv'id. discolored, as the appearance of a bruise; dark. stěr'ile. unfruitful: unproductive, as the soil of a desert, etc. fit for plowing; good, as land. ăr'a ble. ramp'ant. leaping: bounding: unruly. re cum'bent. lying down. rest'ive. uneasy; stubborn; unwilling to go. list'less. inattentive : heedless : dull.

525

De mor'al ize, to enfeeble morals; to weaken, as courage, etc. dĭ shev'el. to allow to hang loose and without order, as the hair. to deprive of force; to render null; to abolish. nul'li f₹, to make foolish; as, "By his own speech he stultified stul'ti f₹. himself." môr'ti f⊽. to humble, as with a sense of shame; to deaden. mod'i f₹, to change; to reduce in extent or degree. a base'. to lower; to humble; to degrade; to cast down. a dul'ter ate, to make base, impure, or of less strength. dis ôr'gan īze, to disarrange; to destroy order. con vulse'. to shake violently and irregularly, as by spasms.

Pat'ent. pre rŏg'a tive, hard'i hŏod. im mu'ni ty, tem'per a ture, tem'per a ment. tu I'tion. tu'te lage. va'ri ance. va'ri a"tion.

a legal form granting rights to an inventor. a peculiar right or privilege, as of a king, etc. boldness: audacity. or injury. freedom; privilege; exemption from punishment degree of heat in the air. the disposition, temper, or nature of a person. teaching; instruction; the work of a tutor. guardianship; protection; guidance. disagreement; difference; discord. change; deviation; diversity.

527

Môr'tal ly. in tent'ly, cred'it a bly. trem'u lous ly, rel'a tive ly, in ten'tion al ly, in'de scrīb"a bly. in sist'ent ly, in com'pa ra bly, re spect'ive ly, fatally; hopelessly; in a manner to cause death. with eager attention. praise or credit. honorably; with honor; in a manner worthy of in a trembling manner. comparatively; in relation to. purposely; with intention; not accidentally. in a manner that cannot be described. with insistence; persistently urging. in a manner or degree beyond comparison. as relating to each of two or more.

528

ae'o l⊽te, cat'e chu"men. cu'rāte, car'di nal. pri'māte. cher'ub, sĕr'aph. fiend, fay,

Dis ci'ple,

a learner; a pupil; a follower. officials. a companion; an attendant; a servant of church one beginning to learn the doctrines of the church. one who has the care of souls; a rector's assistant. one of the seventy high officials of the Roman Cath olic Church who are next the pope in dignity.

the chief of a national church; an archbishop. a kind of angel; a beautiful child. an angel of the highest order. an evil being; a monster; a demon.

a fairy.

Em'u läte. to strive to equal; to vie with; to rival. ăr'ro găte, to assume: to claim: to claim unreasonably. ab'ro gāte. to annul: to abolish, as a law, etc. mit'i gate, to render mild or less severe. fa cil'i tate. to make easy or less difficult: to lessen labor, etc. en hance'. to make worse or better; to heighten, as in price. e lim'i nate. to leave out; to set aside; to get rid of. ob lit'er ate. to blot out; to erase: to destroy: to wear out. de lin'e ate. to draw; to describe by speech, gesture, etc. de ci'pher, to explain; to unfold; to unravel.

530

Prel'āte. a bishop; a high dignitary in the church. ab'bess. the female superior of a convent. as cet'ic. a hermit; one who dislikes society. an'eho rite, a monk; a hermit. ehŏr'is ter. a singer in a concert or choir. clois'ter. a nunnery; a convent; a monastery. dev'o tee". one entirely devoted to a work or cause. ne'o ph⊽te. a new convert. [twelve disciples. a pos'tle (s'l), one sent forth, as to spread the gospel; one of Christ's a pŏs'tāte, one who has forsaken his religion for another; one who has forsaken his faith, principles, or party.

531

Con'fi dent, having a feeling of certainty; bold. ance. act or power of suffering without complaint; endurpa'tience. seep'ti cal (or skep'ti cal), unbelieving; questioning; doubting. cau'tion, prudence; care; pains to avoid danger or loss: a cred'u lous. believing; too ready to believe. [warning. con çēit', an opinion; a fancy; an idea; a whim; a notion. fŭl'some, offensive; nauseous; displeasing. hu mil'i ty, humbleness; lowliness; meekness. gâr'ish, glaring; gaudy; dazzling; showy. af'fec ta"tion. false pretense; insincerity; false show gran'u lāte,

532

Dis trib'ūte, to dispense; to deal out; to divide. to mention distinctly; to point out. par tic'u lar Ize, cir'cum scrībe, to bound; to inclose; to keep within limits. to shorten; to diminish. a bridge'. an nī'hi lāte. to destroy utterly; to slay all. to come apart; to come to pieces. dis in'te grate, an'a l⊽ze, to separate into original parts; to take to pieces for the purpose of observing construction. to cut into small pieces: to lessen. mince.

mas'ti cāte, to chew, as food.

to form into grains, as sugar, etc.

533

the act of willing or choosing; determination; choice. Vo li'tion. suā'șion (swā), the act of persuading; persuasion. warning; admonition; counsel; notice, as of danger. mo ni'tion, skill in negotiating, as in making treaties. di plo'macy, order. in junc'tion, the act of commanding or enjoining; a command; an risk; chance; accident; danger. haz'ard. sus pĕnse'. a state of doubt or uncertainty. ence. op'tion, the power of choosing; the right to choose; preferal ter'na tive. of two things one that may be chosen or rejected. uncertainty; the state of being in doubt. in cer'ti tude,

534

Lin'guist (gwist), one who is skilled in languages. one who makes a display of learning. ped'ant. wise"a'cre (ker), one who pretends to be wise. one who counsels or gives caution; an admonisher. mon'i tor. me'di a"tor. one who interposes; a settler of differences. bar'ris ter, a lawyer; one who pleads at the bar, or court of law. an equal; a companion; an associate. com peer', com pa'tri ot, one who is of the same country and feelings as anin sur'gent, a rebel; one who takes up arms against authority. vic'tor, a conqueror; one successful in war, etc.

Ver'si f⊽. to make verses; to tell in verses. vit'ri f⊽. to change, or turn, into glass. to increase in number. mul'ti pl₹. to increase in degree; to exaggerate. mag'ni f₹, min'i mīze, to lessen; to make as small as possible. e ner'vate (or en'er vate), to weaken: to enfeeble. ac cli'māte, to inure to a climate. ad dict', to apply regularly; to become accustomed. im bue', to become full, as the mind with any doctrine, etc. to become full or covered, as the hands, with blood, im brue', etc.

536

Am'nes ty, a pardon to all; a general pardon. al le'gi ance, duty of a citizen to his government; loyalty. at tach'ment. friendship; adherence; tie. fice. the act of renouncing; yielding; surrender; sacrire nun'ci a"tion. ab'ne ga"tion. surrender of interest; sacrifice; the quality which com punc'tion. remorse; sting of conscience. [induces renunciation. re'lax a"tion. the act of relaxing; loosening; play; amusement. re vul'sion. a turning away from, as through dislike. perverseness of disposition; waywardness; crossper ver'si ty, con'ster na"tion, dismay; great fear; alarm.

537

Lās'si tūde,
de bil'i ty,
ac tiv'i ty,
a ģil'i ty,
vī tal'i ty,
môr tal'i ty,
in'spi ra"tion,
in'car na"tion,
līve'li hood,
sur vīv'al,

heaviness; dullness, as from exhaustion; weariness. feebleness; weakness; infirmity; loss of strength. the state or quality of being active; quickness. the power of moving the limbs quickly; quickness. the state of being alive; life; strength. the state of being liable to death; death. the act of breathing in; the act of inspiring. the act of taking a body, especially Christ's act in support of life; means of living. [becoming a man. the act or state of living longer than another.

to take beforehand; to expect; to foresee. An tic'i pate, par tiç'i pāte, to share; to take part, as in any action. Son. ven'er āte. to reverence; to regard with respect, as an old pero rig'i nāte, to cause a beginning: to bring into existence. ģer'mi nāte. to sprout, as a seed; to bud; to begin to live. ul'ti māte, to come to an end: to bring to pass in the end. per pet'u āte. to cause to endure always. fillness. to renew strength, as by resting, or recovering from re cu'per āte, re ju've nate. to make young again. re sus'ci tate, to bring back to life.

539

Sal'u ta"tion, greeting: the act of welcoming or greeting. ap'pro ba"tion. the act of approving; approval; willing consent. suăv'i ty (swăv), pleasantness; agreeable softness, as of manners. ur ban'i tv. courtesy; politeness; refinement of manner. hu man'i ty, kindness; benevolence: the human race. mo ral'i tv. right conduct; the rules of right thought and action. phi lan'thro py, the love of doing good to men. gen'er os"i ty. liberality; great kindness; great-heartedness. prob'i ty, approved honesty; sincerity; tried virtue. sanc'ti ty, sacredness, as of life or manner; holiness.

540

Po'ta ble. drinkable; fit for drinking. port'a ble. that may be carried; not fixed in position. tract'a ble. that may be drawn or led; teachable; manageable sol'u ble. that may be dissolved, or separated. ef'flu ent. flowing out, as a river from a lake. e lu'sive, practising evasion; tending to escape; subtile. in tact'. whole; unbroken; unseparated; uninjured. in'te gral, whole; not fractional. el'e men"ta rv. primary; not compound; simple. fun'da men"tal. pertaining to the foundation: important; essential.

heat; warmth; ardor; zeal; warmth of feeling. Fer'vor. fŭl'gen cy. brilliancy; brightness; light. fer'ven cv. warmth: ardor: zeal. of attention. the state of being intense or stretched; fixedness, as in ten'si tv. strength; power; force, as of an argument. co'gen cv. ve'he mence. force; energy; violence; the sudden use of strength. im'pe tus. an impulse: anything that urges or pushes: a force. stim'u lus. a spur; anything that gives new strength; a stimulant. unc'tion. the act of anointing: ointment: warmth of devotional es'sence. the essential part: an extract: a perfume. manner.

542

Sym'pa thize, to feel sympathy; to feel with or for another. fra'ter nīze. to associate as brothers; to associate. ex'pi āte, to satisfy the law by suffering penalty; to atone for. in dem'ni f⊽. to make up for what was lost; to repay. su'per vīse". to oversee; to direct; to superintend. rec'ti f₹. to correct; to make right; to make better or finer. to give life or vigor as to a person, etc.; to rouse; an'i māte, to cheer; to urge. fquicken; to animate. viv'i f⊽. to impart life as to a plant, etc.; to enliven; te en rap'tūre, to gladden; to cause joy or rapture. in fat'u ate, to mislead; to inspire with a foolish passion.

543

a thin strip or sheet, as of flesh. Mem'brāne, flowers. fĕs tōon'. a garland; a wreath; an ornament, as of leaves or the folded front of a coat. la pel', pil'lion. a cushion placed behind a saddle so that two can ride, pillo ry, a frame of wood, etc., formerly used for punishment. a stick; a rod; a staff of office. bat'on, ob'e lisk, a slender column, as of stone; a monument. få'çāde," the front of a temple, mansion, or other structure. a do'be, sun-dried brick. făc'et. a small face, as one of the sides of a precious stone, etc.

a preface; an introductory speech. Pro'lŏgue, mon'o lŏgue, the speech of one person alone; a soliloguy. in'vo ca"tion. a prayer; a public prayer. dec'a logue. the ten commandments. Tetc. right; especially the right of a citizen, as in voting, fran'chise, com'mon weal", the public good. a frame, as of body or mind; the frame of government. con'sti tu"tion, a society, especially of workers. žuild. re gime (rā zhēm'), rule; government; administration. rule; government, especially as to what is eaten by reż'i men.

one careful of health.

545

relating to the future; looking forward. Pro spec'tive, fe lic'i tv. happiness; bliss. trying; attempting; experimental. ten'ta tive, reg'u la"tion, a rule; the act of regulating. exact; final; positive; certain; clearly defined. de fin'i tive, a yielding, as of territory by one nation to another. ces'sion, final; at the last; in the final event. e ven'tu al, control; complete power. mås'ter y, for a very short time. mo'men ta ry, sen sa'tion, excitement; feeling.

546

Ar'ehe t⊽pe, the first; the original; a pattern. ample. ex em'plar, a pattern; a person worthy to be considered an exfac to'tum, one who performs all kinds of work; a general servant. den'i zen (z'n), a citizen: an inhabitant. prog'e ny, offspring; descendants. bâirn, a child. (Scottish.) pos ter'i ty, descendants: the future generations. prō ġen'i tor, an ancestor; a forefather. ben'e dict. a married man. swain, a young man; a youth; a lover.

As suage' $(sw\bar{a}\dot{q})$, to soothe; to lessen, as pain or grief, etc. to make better; to improve, as a bad condition. a mēl'io rāte. in vig'o rāte. to strengthen: to impart life or strength. sur'feït. to fill to overfullness; to glut; to clog. sa'ti āte. to satisfy; to give too much of food, etc. ăr raign'. to accuse: to bring to trial: to question. to dispraise; to detract; to take away fame. děr'o gāte. im per'son ate, to act a part, as upon the stage. to represent: to pretend to be another. per'son ate. per son'i f₹. to endow with life by figure of speech; as, "Freedom shrieked when Kosciusko fell."

548

Ben'e fice. a benefit or advantage; a living for a minister. ben'e fac"tion, a charitable gift; a donation; a benefit conferred. ben'e dic"tion, a blessing; the act of blessing. be nig'ni ty, goodness; kindness; benevolence. so lem'ni tv. a solemn rite or ceremony: seriousness of mind. con trl'tion, sorrow for wrong-doing; repentance. me'di a"tion. entreaty in behalf of another; attempt to reconcile sal vation, the act of saving, as from death or destruction. ref'or ma"tion, correction, as of one's habits; amendment. ed'i fi ca''tion. instruction, especially in morals.

549

to perform the duties of an office. Of fi'ci āte. to unite in company; to keep company; to join. as so'ci āte, ap pro'pri āte, to take; to obtain; to take for one's own. to furnish proof; to make good an assertion. sub stan'ti āte, to do anything readily or offhand. im'pro vīse, to soften or palliate, as a crime; to lessen. ex ten'u āte. to study by night; to prepare by laborious study. lu'cu brāte. ā'er āte, to supply with air. to dig. ex'ca vāte. to take from a cavity; to make a cavity or cave; ex co'ri āte. to strip off the skin; to flay.

Cham paign', cham paign', cham pagne', as sid'u ous, de cid'u ous, com pli'ance, com plic'i ty, com'pli ca''tion, mal'e dic''tion, in'ter dic''tion, maeh'i na''tion, a flat, open country.

a sparkling wine from Champagne in France.

very diligent; constant; steadily industrious.

not evergreen; falling every year, as leaves.

act of complying; doing what is asked; assent.

partnership in evil, as in a crime.

an entanglement; a great mixture.

a curse. [what is prohibited.

prohibition: a curse threatened upon one who does evil plotting; a plot.

551

No ta'tion, com păr'i son, ac'cu ra cy, dis crep'an cy, con"tro ver'sy, com'pro mīşe, the practice of recording by marks, figures, etc.

the act of comparing one thing with another.
freedom from mistake; correctness, as of aim.
disagreement, as in counting.
dispute; disagreement in speech; discussion; debate.
an agreement to settle a dispute by each party yielding something.

req'ui şi"tion (rěk'wi), a demand; an order, as for supplies.

vo ca'tion, a regular business; occupation. [attention. av'o ca''tion, a calling; an unimportant business which calls for ac cu'mu la''tion, the act of heaping or gathering: a collection.

552

Sov'er eign, un ri'valed, con sum'mate, in im'i ta ble, ex'em pla ry, in gen'u ous, ben'e fi''cial, laud'a to ry, au thor'i ta tive, dic'ta to''ri al, authoritative: powerful.
having no rival; alone in degree.
complete; finished; perfected.
not to be imitated; that cannot be copied.
worthy of following, as an example in conduct.
frank; open; candid.
conferring benefits; helpful.
giving praise; praising, as a laudatory speech.
having authority; influential.
relating to a dictator or absolute ruler; overbearing.

to bring forward, as an assertion; to allege. Ad düce'. to explain; to show the meaning; to interpret. ex pound'. ex pa'ti āte. to speak largely upon: to range widely. rat'i f⊽. to confirm; to approve. com mute'. to change: to alter. re trieve'. to amend; to mend; to get back, as a loss. ex on'er ate. to excuse; to show excuses for. sanc'tion. to give sanction or approval; to consent. an nun'ci ate. to announce; to proclaim. fe lic'i tate. to wish joy: to rejoice with another.

554

Pu'ri tv. the state of being pure: cleanness: genuineness. sym'me try, graceful proportions; fitness and beauty of parts. par'i ty. equality: likeness: the condition of being equal. e'qui lib"ri um, a balance of force or weight. stat'üre, height of any living thing, as man. a level surface: one's limit of action. plane, po si'tion, place; rank; spot occupied; situation: condition. the place in which anything is. lo cal'i tv. in'ter im, intervening time; an interval of time; the meantime. in ter'stice. intervening space; an interval of space.

555

consistent: agreeable: suitable. Con'so nant. dis'so nant. discordant; noisy; boisterous. plau'di to ry, praising; commending; pertaining to praise. pu'ni tive, pertaining to punishment; inflicting punishment. crim'i nal, guilty of crime; relating to crime. ac count'a ble, liable to be called to account; liable to punishment. a me'na ble, answerable; accountable, as to the law; responsible. com pul'so ry, having power to compel; compelling; constraining. co er'cive, compelling; compulsory; relating to compulsion. im për'a tive. commanding; authoritative: required; necessary.

An'i mad vert', to notice; to censure; to turn towards, as in speech. to make of no avail; to destroy influence. neu'tral Ize. to mistake in meaning; to misinterpret. mis'con cēive". to omit; to pass by: to refuse to consider. pre'ter mit", to shut out; to prevent. pre clüde'. to forswear; to renounce or reject upon oath. ab jūre', con fūte'. to overcome in argument; to silence: to disprove. im pūte', to charge; to ascribe; to consider that one is guilty of. vil'i f₹. to slander: to defame: to traduce. per vert', to turn from right to wrong uses; to corrupt; to lead

557

Val'id, ef'fi ca"cious,
con dīgn',
in tense',
co'ġent,
a main',
a vĕrse',
in vĕrse',
re'flex,
ġĕr māne',

good; sound; not defective; having force or merit. having effect; effective; causing result.
merited; deserved, as condign punishment; suitable. strained; stretched; tightly drawn: earnest; severe. forcible; strong; weighty; having force.
with strength; by main force; by sudden force.
unwilling; opposed; disliking.
opposite; inverted; backward; opposed to direct.
of inverse action; reflected; bent back.
akin; like; being somewhat like; fitting; as, "This subject is germane to the other."

558

Com'plot, com'pe til'tion, lit'i ga''tion, in dem'ni ty, def'i çit, thral'dom, for'ger y, al'i mo ny, pre emp'tion, per'qui site, a plot; a conspiracy; a union in a plot.
contest, as in trade, etc.; rivalry.
contest at law; a suit in a law court. [loss.
security; payment or promise of payment against lack of enough, as in a treasury, etc.
bondage; slavery. [obtain money falsely.
a counterfeiting of another's signature in order to legal allowance of money to a divorced wife.
the act of buying first, as land from the state.
something gained, as fees, etc., added to a salary.

Spoil, ex ac'tion, u'şu ry, af'flu ence, par'si mo ny, in'di gence, ac'qui şï"tion, bo nan'za. mam'mon, booty; plunder; pillage. compelled. a demand; forcible demand; extortion; tribute too great interest charged for lending money; unwealth; riches; plenty. [lawful interest. niggardliness; stinginess. poverty; destitution; want. or earned. the act of gaining or acquiring; something gained ac quiş'i tive ness, desire of gaining or possessing; desire of property. great wealth obtained suddenly; a great prize. wealth: riches.

560

Re luc'tance, re pug'nance, um'brage, an'i mos"i ty, ab'ju ra"tion, ob'jur ga"tion, in dig'ni ty, in'dig na"tion, prof'a na"tion, pro fan'i ty, unwillingness; dislike to act. opposition of feeling; dislike; hostility; hatred. an affront; offense taken; displeasure. enmity; hatred. [denial. the act of abjuring or renouncing upon oath; a reproof; reprimand; scolding; chiding. incivility; insult; any unworthy treatment of anthe feeling excited by an indignity; wrath. disrespect; abuse, especially of sacred things. the use of profane speech; blasphemy; cursing.

561

Gen til'i ty, ġen'try, lin'e age, lŏn ġev'i ty, sçi'on, sēn'iŏr"i ty, çel'i ba cy, gen'e al"o gy, se nil'i ty, fu tu'ri ty, gracefulness; politeness; excellence of birth. the upper class; a refined class of people. race; family line; stock; blood. long life; length of life. a shoot; a twig; a branch: an offspring. greater age; priority of birth. the state of being unmarried. lineage family history; family succession; line of birth; old age; second childhood. the future; all time that is to come.

Su'per in tend', to oversee; to take charge of: to manage. to arrange in order; to make a system. sys'tem a tīze. con'sti tūte, to form; to frame; to compose; to establish. ģen'er al īze, to apply generally; to apply largely. to make ample or more extensive; to enlarge. am'pli fy, in'sti tūte. to establish; to set in operation; to originate. to begin; to start; to perform what is first necessary in I'ti āte, toward accomplishing a purpose. to perform; to bring to an accomplished end; to end. ex'e cute, pěr'pe trate, to commit, as a wrong, or a crime. ad min'is ter, to manage; to conduct, as business; to supply; to

563

Lan'guid (gwid), faint; weak; feeble: inactive. rev'er y, meditation; musing; a fancy; a dream; a day-dream. pal'pa ble, that may be felt; plain; distinct. pul sa'tion, the beating of the pulse; a beating; a throbbing. without strength; impotent. nerve'less. madness; distraction of mind; state of being frantic. fren'zy, sorrowful; to be lamented; sad. mel'an ehŏl v. the state of being numb, stupid, or insensible. stu'por. in a state in which the senses are inactive. in sen'si ble, the state of being torpid; numbness; sleep. tôr'por, pertaining to silver; like silver. Ar'ġent, ăz'ūre (or ā'zhur), blue; sky-colored. ra'di ant. shining; sending out rays of light; sparkling; joyful. eho'ral, like a choir; musical; melodious. e the're al, heavenly; spiritual; refined. sub līme', grand; lofty; raised high in degree; splendid. viv'id, very bright, as lightning; quick; full of life and vigor. fer'vent. ardent; eager; warm; zealous. trench'ant, keen; sharp; cutting, as a sword. ro'șe āte, rosy; red; reddish; glowing with red, as sunset.

564

h.

Mem'o ry. the power of retaining past events in the mind. a looking back; a review of the past, ret'ro spect. tit'u la ry. relating to a title. pagans. tu'te la ry, guarding; protecting, as the tutelary deities of the dul'cet, sweet, as music, etc. de lec'ta ble, delightful; giving great pleasure. its bullet. cal'i bre (or ber), size; capacity; especially the diameter of a gun or cal'i pers, a pair of compasses. cūe, a hint; a sign: a tail: a rod for playing billiards. lieu, place, as in lieu of, meaning in place of, or in stead of.

566 to temper, as glass by heat. An neal'. cal cine', to reduce to ashes or powder by heat. cal'e f₹. to make hot; to become hot. cau'ter Ize, to scar with a hot iron, as a wound. scăr'i f⊽. to cut; to bleed by cutting or cupping. cŏr'ru gāte, to wrinkle; to form into wrinkles. a mal'ga māte, to mix; to combine; to join together. mac ad'am īze. to make a roadway of stones or gravel. ma nip'u late, to handle; to work over with the hands. man'u fac"ture, to make or produce, as in a factory.

567

Im pal'pa ble, that cannot be felt; not palpable. ap'pa rl"tion, an appearance; a mysterious appearance; a ghost. dex'ter ous ly, expertly; skillfully. prepared; invented; designed; made. con trīved', o'ver awes", frightens; keeps in awe or fear. su'per sti"tious, credulous, as to unearthly spirits, etc. ret'i nue, a train or company of followers or attendants. ab'bot, the chief of an abbey or convent. de mon'strates. points out; shows; proves; makes plain. il lu'sion, deception; false appearance; deceit to the eye.

Prac'ti cal, what is or may be practiced: not fanciful; real.
in'sub ôr di na"tion, disobedience; unwillingness to submit to rules. prac'ti ca ble, possible to be done; that can be effected.
ma nœu'vre (or ma neu'ver), a stratagem; a movement of troops;
management.

peer'less, without a peer or equal; alone in excellence.

phal'anx, a compact body of soldiers.

shôrt'sīght ed, not far-seeing; not looking at results; imprudent.

truce, a cessation of hostilities, as for burying the dead.

cruel; not like human beings.

car'nage, the shedding of blood; slaughter.

569

In'ca pac"i ty. inability; lack of power for a purpose. weakness of mind: feebleness: infirmity. im'be cil"i ty, peevishness; stubbornness; obstinacy. per verse'ness, chi can'er v. trickery: fraudulent or mean devices to deceive. trib'u la"tion. sorrow; great trouble; affliction; distress. tur'bu lence. tumult; unruliness; riotous conduct. no'to ri"e ty. the state of being widely and unfavorably known. ŏs'ten ta"tion. show; pomp: pride. hy poc'ri sy, false appearance, especially in religion: deceit. a pos'ta sy, an abandonment of a faith or cause; desertion.

570

Im'pre cate, to wish one ill: to curse. deceive in words. to speak so that one is misled; to prevaricate; to e quiv'o cate, pred'i cate, to affirm; to assert; to declare. it'er ate, to repeat; to do again. re pu'di ate. to disavow; to cast off; to discard; to reject. hu mil'i āte. to lower one's pride; to humble; to shame. to hate; to have hatred for. a bom'i nāte, āl'ien āte. to render strange or foreign; to estrange; to banish con tam'i nate. to soil; to stain; to corrupt; to defile. in fu'ri ate, to madden: to enrage; to render furious.

In'di gent, poor; needy; of great poverty. sup'pli ant. one who requests; one who supplicates; a supplicant. im'pe cu"ni ous, without money; penniless. Istowed. re çip'i ent. one who receives; one upon whom something is beob se'qui ous, servile; submissive; fawning; excessively humble. sýc'o phant, a flatterer; a fawner; a hanger-on through flattery. rec're ant, cowardly; mean; base. vas'sal, a dependent; a bondman. dis'so lute. of loose conduct; loose; of bad habits. a subject. var'let, a scoundrel; a rascal: a footman or servant; a slave; having the nature of an island. In'su lar. co lo'ni al, relating to colonies, or a colony. ra'cial, relating to a race, or family. frace. gāel'ic. relating to the ancient Highland-Scotch language or arc'tic. relating to the far north; northern. al'pine, relating to the Alps Mountains. plu'vi al, relating to rain; rainy. noc tur'nal, relating to night; occurring at night. no mad'ic. wandering, as the Arabs, etc.; pastoral. pred'a to ry. living by prey or pillage; rapacious.

572

573

Ob'du rate, hard-headed; rigid; obstinate. mis'an thrope. a man hater; one who hates society. in force. ex ec'u tive, having power to act; having power to put the law in cum'bent. one who occupies a place or office. in dus'tri ous, hard-working; diligent; given to industry. ar'ti san. a workman; a mechanic. typ'ic al, like a type or model; like a pattern. me ehan'ic. a worker at a trade; an artisan. ven'er a ble, worthy to be venerated or reverenced. pa'tri ärch. an aged man with many descendants.

O

Ab struse', fab'u lous,
fig'u ra tive,
im ag'i na ry,
fal la'cious,
sup pŏs'i ti"tious,
in ex'pli ca ble,
in'com pat"i ble,
in op'er a tive,
nu'ga to ry,

not plain; obscure; difficult to understand; prorelating to fable; false. [found.
relating to figures, as of speech; unreal but similar.
not real; imaged to the mind; false.
true in appearance only; deceiving, as an argument.
supposed; not real; counterfeit.
not to be explained; unsolvable.
unfitting; not suited: inconsistent.
not to be operated or worked; inactive.
insignificant; having little value; worthless.

K7K

Can'ti cle, ca'dence,
a ro'ma,
am bro'gia,
nec'tar,
balm (bäm),
ruth,
ŏr'i şon,
ben'i şon,
mal'i şon,

a song: the song of Solomon. [tone; a sound, the lowering of the voice at the end of speech; a a pleasant odor; flavor; scent. the imaginary food of the gods. the fabulous drink of the gods. a plant; balsam; a soothing remedy. kindness of heart; mercy; compassion. a prayer. a blessing. a curse.

576

Bug'bear',
ef'fi gy,
im'age,
sphinx,
myth,
cen'taur,

an imaginary object of terror; a bug-a-boo; a scarean image, or any likeness, of a person. [crow.
a resemblance; a statue or picture; a mental picture.
a fabled monster with a woman's head and a lion's body. [or works.
a tale; a fable; a national story of fabled beings a fabled monster with a man's head and a horse's body. [etc.
a maiden: a fabulous being; a goddess of forests,
a prophetess; a woman who tells fortunes.
a fabled singer whose music led one to death.
a magician; a sorcerer; a conjurer.

nymph, sib'yl, si'ren, wiz'ard,

In'den ta''tion. a notch; a mark made; a dent. mind. a mark made by pressure: an effect, as upon the im pres'sion, di men'sion. space; extent in any direction: capacity. mag'ni tūde, size; greatness of mass or amount. pro por'tion. the relation of one thing or part to another. du ra'tion. continuance; the length of time anything endures. per'ma nence, fixedness; capability of duration. mu ta'tion. the act or process of changing; alteration; change. per'mu ta"tion, change; exchange; change of form. com'pu ta'tion, the act of reckoning or counting.

578

Cat'a clysm. a deluge; overwhelming destruction. a great calamity; disaster. ca tas'tro phē, aus'pi ces. protection: influence; power. cri te'ri on. a standard to judge by; a test. what to do. quan'da ry, a condition of doubt; a case of difficulty in deciding quar'an tine, the restraint of an infected ship or person to prevent the spreading of disease. person. me men'to, something given or kept in memory of an event or rem'i nis"cence, incident or matter recalled by the memory. de fôrm'i ty, ugliness; disfigurement; ugliness of form. e nôr'mi ty, greatness of crime; depravity.

579

Em'a nāte, to proceed from; to flow out; to arise; to spring. to emit or throw out sparks; to sparkle. scin'til late. grav'i tate, to move or be moved, as by natural force. li'brāte. to balance; to poise; to remain at a balance. un'du late. to move back and forth, as the waves; to wave. os'cil late. to sway back and forth, as a pendulum; to shake. mod'u lāte. to vary, as the tones of the voice in music or speech to return or be driven back, as sound; to echo. re verber ate. pre pon'der āte, to outweigh; to be of greater weight or force. con sol'i date. to join compactly; to make solid; to combine.

Pros'e lyte, dis fran'chise. man'u mit", en fran'chise. os'tra cīze, to banish; to exile; to exclude, as from society. nat'u ral īze. country. ab'di cate, de gen'er ate.

to cause to change, as from one religion to another. to deprive of the rights of citizenship.

to set free, as a slave; to release from slavery.

to bestow citizenship.

to confer citizenship upon a resident born in another farch.

to surrender, as the power and authority of a monto become worse; to decline in excellence.

ex'com mu"ni cate, to expel, as from the communion of a church; to deprive of church privileges; to forbid.

su'per an'nu ate, to enfeeble by age; to be unfit for duty on account of great age.

581

In ert'. in ane'. lit'er a ry, il lit'er ate. Ir ra'tion al. im'be cile. in'co he"rent. im pas'si ble, un're lent"ing, in ex'o ra ble, inactive; idle; motionless. empty; void; worthless; useless. belonging to letters; pertaining to books. ignorant of letters. with reason. unreasonable; lacking reason; not in accordance weak; helpless; shallow-minded; idiotic: an idiot. disjointed; unconnected; inconsistent. unfeeling; capable of neither suffering nor pleasure. relentless; hard in purpose; hard to appease. persistent in severity; not yielding to entreaty.

582

ce leb'ri ty. as cend'ant. pre fer'ment, prī ôr'i ty, spě'cial ty, Dis tinc'tion, separation or division; rank; fame; note. distinction; the state of being celebrated; fame. superiority; great power; rising influence; as, "His star is in the ascendant." Ition. the act of advancing in office or dignity; promothe state of being before in time; preference as to time. [ject, as in business, etc. something particular or special; a particular obplen'i tūde, plu ral'i ty,

ma tu'ri ty,
the state of being more than one; a greater number.
the state of being mature; ripeness; perfection of age.
[yearly.
an nu'i ty,
an annual allowance; a sum of money payable 583

Im per cep'ti ble, not perceived or seen; very small; of a very minute degree.

in el'i gi ble, not proper to be chosen or elected; not qualified, as for office, etc.

in du'bi ta ble, unquestionable; not doubtful; certain.

in com'pa ra ble, admitting of no comparison; far superior; without an equal.

in con'gru ous, unsuitable; inconsistent; unfit; improper.

unmuitable; inconsistent; unfit; improper.

unmuitable; lacking harmony; discordant.

in'har mo"ni ous, unmusical; lacking harmony; discordant.
un're gen''er ate, not renewed in heart; rebellious. [received. in'ad mis"si ble, not to be allowed; not proper to be admitted or im për'ish a ble, in'cor rupt"i ble, not subject to decay; indestructible.

584

An tiq'ui ty (tĭk'wi), ancient times. a person skilled in ancient things; a relic-hunter. an'ti qua ry, the science of the stars, planets, etc. as tron'o my, the pretended art of fortune-telling from the stars. as trol'o gy, something worn as a fancied protection against evil. am'u let, a pipe for smoking; a pipe smoked by Indians when cal'u met. making peace. de poş'i to ry, a place where anything is deposited; a depot; a storehouse. a person with whom anything is deposited. de poşî ta ry, dis'pen sa"tion, the act of dispensing or distributing; a period of time or rule: an exemption. dis pen'sa ry, a place for dispensing or distributing.

Un're mit"ting, dil'i gence, me chan'ic al, dex tĕr'i ty, en'vi a ble, at tain'ments, il lus'tri ous, mag na nim'i ty, su'per hu"man, sa gaq'i ty, incessant; continued without pause; constant. industry; careful attention to business, study, etc. relating to machinery; done as without thought. expertness; right-handedness; skill; cleverness. to be envied; admirable; excellent. what is attained by exertion or study; acquirements. worthy to be considered an illustration of greatness; greatness of soul; splendid kindness. [noble; grand. above the power of man. wisdom; discretion; skill.

586

Pre şen'ti ment, pre şent'ment, preş'en ta''tion, pre cl'şion, pre cl'şian, sta'tion er y, sta'tion a ry, stat'u a ry, in del'i ble, del'e ble, a previous feeling, as of something to happen. an appearance: an indictment by a grand jury. the act of presenting: an exhibition; a show. accuracy; exactness; the quality of being precise. one who is exact, as in small questions. the articles sold by a stationer, as paper, pens, etc. fixed; not moving; not to be moved. a number of statues; the art of making statues. that cannot be effaced.

587

A'que ous, sub'ma rïne", am phib'i ous, a quat'ic, bu col'ic, a gra'ri an, watery; made by water; having the nature of water. relating to the regions under the surface of the sea. having the power to live in the water and in the air. pertaining to water; living in the water, as a bird. rustic; rural; relating to country life or to shepherds. relating to agriculture; pertaining to the doctrine of an equal division of land.

ref'lu ent, re fŭl'gent, hu'mid, tīd'al, flowing back; returning, as the tide; ebbing. brilliant; shining; giving light; radiant. moist; wet; watery. relating to the tides; like a tide.

side of a structure.

588

something done before that serves as a rule to follow Prec'e dent, act of going before: superiority; priority. pre ce'dence, pre'sci ence (shi ens or shens), foreknowledge; foresight. 18'o la"tion, solitude: a state of complete separation. in'so la"tion, exposure to great heat from the sun. in'su la"tion, state of being like an island: separation; isolation lin'i ment, an ointment or salve. lin'e a ment, a line or feature, as of the face. el lipse'. an oval figure. el lip'sis, an omission of one or more words.

58Ω

Ap'po si"tion, placed in the same condition or case. jux'ta po şi"tion, the next or nearest position. nearness of position. pro pin'qui ty, prox im'i ty, nearness; adjacency. a solid pier or wall serving as a strong prop to a a but'ment, a flowing together, as of streams; a junction. con'flu ence, con'fôr ma"tion, agreement; the act of conforming: form. con junc'tion, state of being conjoined or united. ad junct'. something joined; an addition or added part. pro jec'tion, a jutting out; anything that projects or sticks out silent; of silent manner; not talkative. ready to respond; willing to comply or agree. displeased at being unworthily treated; justly angry. capable of being appeased; willing to forgive. calm; placid; undisturbed; unruffled, as the moon, that varies or changes; changeable. teachable; easy to teach; easily led. free from feeling or suffering. blunt; dull; dull-witted; not bright-minded. sharp at the point; pointed: keen; shrewd; quickwitted.

590

Taç'i turn, re spon'sive. in dig'nant, pla'ca ble, se rēne', va'ri a ble, doç'ile, im pass'ive, ob tūse', a cute'.

knowledge; applied knowledge; any system of Sci'ence. al'ge bra, a branch of mathematics. knowledge. natural philosophy; the science which relates to the phys'ics, laws of nature. the system of doctrines which teach right conduct. eth'ics. heathen gods. thē ol'o ġy, the science of divinity. a system of fables or myths; the history of the mỹ thol'o gy, the art of reasoning. dates in past time. loġʻic, a record of dates; the science of the succession of ehro nol'o gy. the art of pronunciation. ôr'tho e py, pleasant sound, as of words. eū'pho ny, learned: having extensive learning through study. Ĕr'u dīte, a composition discussing or explaining a subject. trea'tise. contrary to reason or logic. to base any reasoning. il log'ic al, a system of scientific principles; principles on which the'o ry, ō rig'i nal, first; at first hand; not copied. a question to be solved, as in mathematics, etc. prob'lem. lacking signature, as a book. a non'y mous, mas"ter piēce', a chief work, as of art: something done with great skill. not in usual or regular form; without ceremony. in fôrm'al, ex'hi bi"tion. the act of exhibiting or showing; a public show.

592

593

to point out; to particularize; to give particulars. Spec'i fy. to vary; to make different. di ver'si fv. to number; to call by names; to tell; to count off. e nu'mer ate. to pay for services; to repay. re mu'ner ate, to bluster; to bully; to act the lord rudely. dom'i neer", dom'i nate, to rule; to govern; to greatly influence; to subdue dec'o rate. to adorn; to embellish. to kill one out of ten: to effect great slaughter. dec'i mate, ex'tir pāte, to root out; to get rid of. from evil. ex'or cise. to expel: to drive away, as evil spirits; to purify Af'fir ma"tion, ac'cu sa"tion. rep'ro ba"tion, rev'o ca"tion. de nun'ci a"tion. dis'ser ta"tion. ar'bi tra"tion. ar bit'ra ment. sim'u la"tion, the act of affirming or assenting; assertion. the act of accusing; a charge; an offense charged. the act of severely condemning; disapproval. the act of revoking; annulling; repeal. a denouncing; information lodged against one. an essay prepared with thought and labor. the judging of a cause whose decision binds by decision, as of an umpire. mutual agreement. a pretending to be other than what one is. dis sim'u la"tion, a feigning not to be what one is: pretense.

595

Plac'id, pa cif'ic, be nīgn', con'trīte, boun'te ous. be nef'i cent, spir'it u al, spir'it u ous, im pe'ri al, im pe'ri ous, quiet; undisturbed; smooth; peaceful. peaceful; not given to war. mild; kind; humane; good. repentant; penitent; sorry for sin. [plentiful. full of bounty; kind-hearted; very charitable; doing good deeds; causing good. relating to the soul. belonging to distilled or alcoholic liquors. relating to an emperor; kingly; royal; majestic. haughty; domineering; commanding; dictatorial.

598

Gre ga'ri ous, sol'i ta ry, dis con'so late, sāne. de ment'ed, de pend'ent, in'ti mate, o'ver ween'ing. in'con sid"er ate. im prov'i dent, having the habit of assembling together, as herds, alone; without companionship. [etc. sad; sorrowful; lacking consolation. sound in mind; healthy; not insane. insane; mad; unsound in mind. thing else. not self-sustaining; hanging to; relying on somefamiliar; close; near, as in friendship. conceited; overconfident in one's self or power. thoughtless; careless; without due thought. careless of provision for the future; wasteful.

Al'le ga"tion, al'le go ry, col'lo ca"tion, con cat'e na"tion, cat'e go ry, co'a li"tion, ag'gre ga"tion, com mis'sion, com mun'ion, fellowship; conversation; a denominat con glom'er a"tion, a collection; a mass; the act of collecting.

an assertion; the act of alleging; a plea.

a fable; a fictitious writing that suggests much a placing together; an arranging in order.
a linking together, as the parts of an argument.
a class or order; an order of ideas or thoughts.
union into one mass: an alliance, as of nations, etc.
a joining together of many; a collection.
a number of men to whom some public business is committed: a charge; authority. [church. fellowship; conversation; a denomination or 598

An'no tāte, tab'u lāte, des'ig nāte, in cul'cāte, prog nos'ti cāte, de nom'i nāte, dis crim'i nāte, ac cent'u āte, com mem'o rāte, re'ca pit"u lāte. to make notes or comments. [of dates, etc. to make tables: to put in proper form, as a table to point out; to show; to specify. to tcach; to impress on the mind; to enforce. to know beforehand; to foreknow; to foresee. to entitle; to name. [ences. to distinguish; to judge; to judge delicate differto place an accent on; to show to be important. to keep in memory; to celebrate. [points again. to repeat in substance; to go over the principal

KΩΩ

E ques'tri an, eq'ui page, es'ca lade, es'ca pade, aë'rie, es'pi o nage, am'bus cade, ar'mis tice, al li'ance, af fi'ance, a horseman.

furnishings; fittings; equipment: a carriage.
a scaling of an enemy's works by means of ladders.
an improper speech or act: a caper, as of a horse,
the nest of a hawk or an eagle. [thing.
spying; watching others in order to discover some a lying in wait for the enemy; an ambush.
a cessation of hostilities for a time agreed on.
a union; a joining of forces; a league.
a marriage; a marriage promise.

Ab duc'tion, Ir rup'tion, āl'ien a"tion, al le'vi a"tion, at tri'tion.

the act of taking away a person by force or fraud. a breaking in; an inroad; an invasion. the act of alienating: estrangement: dispossession. a lessening or lightening, as of pain; relief. the act of wearing away by friction, as a river wears away its banks.

de tri'tion, op po'nent, as sail'ant, af'fi da"vit, a wearing away, as the banks by the river. one opposed; an enemy. attack. one who assails another; one who makes an a legal form of oath.

cog'ni zance (or con), observation; knowledge: a legal notice; trial.

601

Sump'tu ous, al'i ment, ex cru"ci āt'ing, costly; expensive; luxurious.

food; nourishment. tormenting; very painful.

in'di ges"tion (chun), illness caused by bad digestion of food. having a bad odor.

mal'o"dor ous. e met'ic, fan tas'tic, con tôr'tion, a medicine to relieve nausea; a vomit. fanciful; odd; irregular in form. a twisting or writhing of the body.

per func'to ry, formal; only as a form; indifferent; careless. in ter'ment, burial.

602

Con tin'u al, con tin'u ous, rev'er end. rev'er ent, pen'e tra ble, ad'junct, sit'u āte, sa'li ent, pro tu'ber ant.

without stopping; incessant, as a continual noise. joined; connected, as a line of railroad. to be revered: the customary title of a clergyman. revering; having reverence. that can be penetrated or passed into. in'sur mount"a ble, not to be surmounted or passed over. added to; joined to; united with. lying; placed; having position or situation. projecting, as an angle; pushing forward: leap standing out; prominent. ing.

Pre ten'tious. em'u lous. stren'u ous. sed'u lous, im pet'u ous. ra pa'cious, tim'o rous, ven'tur ous. vī va'cious, ob liv'i ous.

pretending to be great; assuming; presuming. desirous to excel or equal another. urgent; zealous; earnest; making strong efforts. diligent; earnest in application; constant; perseheadlong; violent; very rapid. vering. greedy; living on prey; voracious; given to pluntimid; easily frightened; fearful of danger. [dering. daring; bold; adventurous; intrepid. full of life; spirited; gay; lively. forgetful; causing forgetfulness or oblivion.

604

In ter'po late, păr'a phrāșe, e lu'ci date, phi los'o phize, chăr'ac ter īze, ex em'pli fy, e jac'u lāte, ex pos'tu lāte, ex as'per āte, in tim'i date, to insert, as a word or sentence into a book. to use another sentence having the same meaning. to explain; to throw light upon a subject. to reason wisely; to search into reason and nature. to describe particular points; to distinguish. to illustrate or show by example; to give an example. to exclaim; to cry out. a change of conduct. to reason earnestly with another in order to cause to displease greatly; to anger. to frighten; to cause fear; to deter, as by threats.

605

Trib'u ta ry, re cip'ro cal, sub ôr'di nāte, sub serv'i ent. con'fi den"tial, se d'itious, def'er en"tial, con tempt'i ble, subject; paying tribute, as one country to another. aux il'ia ry (aug zĭl'ya rĭ), helping; assisting, as auxiliary troops, etc. mutual; performed or felt by each for the other. of lower rank; inferior, as an officer. useful; giving help or service; subordinate. secret; privately confided or trusted. relating to sedition; disaffected toward government. con'se quen"tial, pompous; self-important. deferring to others; having humble respect to others. deserving contempt; mean; vile; base.

Na'sal, rep'e tl"tion. pe dan'tic, es'sav. a bom'i na ble, ped'ant ry. un'con nect'ed. re cīt'al. serv'lle, pli'an cy, pertaining to the nose; uttered through the nose. act of repeating; doing or saying again. pretentiously learned or wise; vain of knowledge. a short written discourse or composition. hateful; odious. [vanity. pretentious learning; knowledge displayed with not properly joined together; not connected. the act of reciting; a narration; an account. like a slave or servant; humble. the state of being pliant, or easily bent or changed.

607

cru sāde', cor'o na"tion, ac'co lāde". ō va'tion. re fection, was 'sail. fes tiv'i ty, rev'el rv. ôr'ġĭes, Mäs'quer āde'' (ker), a masked assembly for dancing, etc.; disguise. a war entered upon from religious motives; a holy war, as for the recovery of the Holy Sepulcher. the act and ceremony of crowning a monarch. the act and ceremony of making a knight. a public honor, as a reception by the people. refreshment; a lunch; a light feast. health-drinking; feasting and drinking. gayety; feasting; merriment; social pleasure. noisy feasting and merriment; jollity. drunken revelry.

Con'scious, in tu'i tive, con cēiv'a ble, ad mis'si ble, ŏs ten'si ble, sus cep'ti ble, sen'si tive, aus tēre', sat'ur nīne, aware of one's thoughts; having life and sense. receiving or gaining knowledge without effort. that may be understood or conceived by the mind. that may be admitted or allowed. in appearance; apparent; seeming. capable of admitting or receiving; not impossible easily made aware, as of touch, slight, scorn, etc. severe, as of manner; strict; rigid; stern. im'per tur"ba ble, that cannot be disturbed; unshaken; serene. melancholy; gloomy; dismal, as of countenance.

Ca det', le'gion. hōrde, co'ter iē". pan the'on, cav'al cāde. căr'a văn, ca păr'i son, cap'ri ōle, căr'rlage.

a younger brother: a student in a military school. a body of soldiers: a great number. a tribe; a great mob; very many, as people. an assembly, as for pleasure; a society. a temple for worship of all the ancient gods; a many people on horses; a procession. a company of travelers in the East, with horses, trappings, as for a horse, camels, etc. a leap, as of a horse plunging without progressing. the act of carrying; a vehicle: manner; behavior.

610

Mon"o gram', mon'o syl'la ble, big'a my, mo nog'a my, po lyg'a my, mo nop'o ly, mo not'o ny, mon'areh v. pol'y gon, bi'vălve, a single character used to abbreviate an entire a word of one syllable. Iname. the crime of double marriage. one wife. single marriage; the marriage of one husband and multiple marriage; plurality of wives or husbands. exclusive command or possession, as of a commodity. stantly repeated. sameness; lack of variety, as a single tone cona government whose head is one ruler or monarch. a plane figure of many sides and angles. a shellfish, or shell, in two parts which open and 611 .

El'e ment. es sen'tial. ru'di ment, in gre'di ent, con stit'u ent. par tiç'i pant, ac ces'so rv. re sid'u um, sup'plē ment.

an original or fundamental part; original matter. a necessary principle or thing; a first principle. a first or foundation principle. one of the parts of a compound. that which composes or helps to constitute; a ac com'pa ni ment, that which accompanies, as in music. sharer. one who takes part of anything; a partaker; a giving aid; contributing; helping on; abetting. that which remains, as dregs. a book. that which adds to something previously made, as

Em bra'sure. cāse'māte. pro ject'lle, cat'a pult, gal'le on, gon'do la, ar'go sy, păr'a chute, ab'a tis, an embrasure. a porthole for a cannon. a protected chamber for a cannon which fires through anything projected or thrown, as a cannon-ball. [etc. a war-machine of the ancients used for throwing stones, pal'an quin (keen), a kind of litter used in the East.

a great Spanish ship with three or four decks. a pleasure-boat used in the canals of Venice.

a ship. safely through the air. an umbrella-like contrivance used for descending felled trees, planted stakes, etc., to prevent the sudden approach of the enemy against a fort, etc.

613

Noi'some. mon'strous. pôr tent'ous. pre cip'i tous, a bys'mal, `in fer'nal, di'a bol"ic al, des pot'ic, hurtful, especially to health: unwholesome: destruclike a monster; horrible; dreadful; huge. tive. pre pos'ter ous, contrary to nature; against reason; foolish; absurd. foreshowing danger or harm; monstrous. tem pes'tu ous, like a tempest; stormy; violent; rapid; destructive. like a precipice: headlong; rash; hasty; violent. relating to an abyss; deep; bottomless. relating to the lower regions: fiendish: devilish. devilish. [having absolute power. having the power or character of a despot; tyrannical; anything established: an institution. a court of justice; the seat or authority of the judge. a district, or part of a country, as in Switzerland. a plot; a conspiracy. [usually in a bad sense. a party of men united to accomplish some purpose, [to transact business. number of members of a body necessary under its rules a proportional part to be given or received. an assembly of ministers, as of the Presbyterian an assembly of Jews for worship; a Jewish temple.

614

In'sti tüte. tri bu'nal, can'ton. ca băl', clique (cleek). con'vo ca"tion, an assembly. quo'rum. quo'ta, svn'od. syn'a gogue.

Vi'tal. relating to life; necessary to life. relating to the lips; uttered by the lips. labi al. pec'to ral. belonging to the breast: a medicine for the chest ju'gu lar, belonging to the throat or neck. lach'r∛ mōse. tearful: relating to tears. den'tal. relating to the teeth. gut'tur al, belonging to the throat. op'tic al. relating to sight. vľsion a ry, imaginary; given to visions; wild; irregular. pul'mo na ry, relating to the lungs.

616

A men'i ty, pleasantness of manner; civility. aus těr'i tv. severity; great vigor; rude strictness. dis păr'i ty, inequality; difference. dis păr'age ment, dispraise; derogation; detraction. de vo'tion, piety; worship; state of being devoted. dis'po şĭ"tion. arrangement: manner; inclination; tendency. iĕal'ous v. suspicion joined to dislike; envy; fear. jĕop'ar dy, danger; peril. fôr mal'i ty. a formal ceremony; an observance: order. fôr'mu la. a prescribed form; a model.

617

Mal'ice, evil design; hate; intention to injure. pre pěnse', thought out beforehand; intentional; premeditated. sôr'did, base; mean; low; vile; stingy; mean-souled. in grat'i tūde, thanklessness. no to'ri ous. infamous; having fame in a bad sense, as a crimshame; dishonor; disgrace; public contempt. ig'no min y, im'pi ous, wicked; not pious; opposed to piety. sac'ri lege, the profaning of sacred things. sub mis'sive, humble; yielding; subdued; willing to submit. pen'i tence, repentance; sorrow for wrongdoing.

Prev'a lent. cres'cent, ab sôrb'ent. in'du rāte. per'vi ous. vol'a tile. am'bi ent.

mo'bĭle. mu'ta ble. pon'der a ble.

prevailing; general; predominant. growing; increasing, as the moon before the full. drinking; swallowing, as a sponge, etc. obstinate; hard; hard-headed. sponge by water. capable of being penetrated or passed through, as a capable of passing or wasting away and changing to air: airy; gay; fickle; light; being like air. surrounding; encompassing on all sides, as the air. capable of being moved, or excited; not immovable. changeable; given to change.

that can be weighed.

619

con ces'sion, un're served". re sent'ment, ob'vi ous. e mo'tion. un lim'it ed. tol'er a"tion. ĕr ro'ne ous. ren di'tion.

Mag nan'i mous, high-souled; nobly kind. act of conceding or yielding: a grant. not kept back; not reserved; open. indignation: anger: displeasure. plain; manifest; clear; patent. a moving of the mind: feeling: passion. great; not bounded or limited; very extensive. endurance: the act of enduring or bearing. wrong: relating to error; incorrect. recitation. act of surrendering or giving: act of giving, as a

620

Ret'i cence. pub lic'i ty. in'ti ma"tion. in'ti ma cy. ob'lo quy, ob liq'ui ty. as sump'tion, re sump'tion, dis rup'tion. dis sen'sion.

concealment by silence: refusal to divulge. state of being public or well-known. a hint intended to cause action. familiarity of knowledge; closeness; friendship. disgrace; shame; slander; abuse. duct. deviation from a straight line, or right line of consupposition; the act of taking for granted. the act of resuming or taking again. a breaking asunder; a breach. a difference of opinion; a quarrel.

Su'per fi"cial, su për'flu ous, su për'la tive, su'per nat"u ral, su'per e rog"a to ry, su'per nu"mer a ry, in nu'mer a ble, mul'ti fa"ri ous, u biq'ui tous, in va'ri a ble, belonging to the surface; shallow.

more than enough; too much.

the highest degree.

belonging to matters above nature.

above what is asked; beyond duty above the required number.

too many to be numbered.

having great variety; manifold. [time.

having power to be everywhere at the same unchangeable.

622

Ab'er ra"tion, me'di oc"ri ty, en'ti ty, non en'ti ty, in an'i ty, de gen'er a cy, vul'ner a bil"i ty, im'pro pri"e ty, dër'e lic"tion, in'sta bil"i ty, the act of wandering; lunacy; derangement.

a middle degree, as of wisdom, dignity, condia thing, a real substance. [tion, etc. nothingness; worthlessness. [ity. emptiness; nothingness; senselessness; frivoldeparture from good as of morals, etc. the condition of being liable to wounds. unfitness; the quality of being improper. a fault in conduct; a wrong. [ableness. fickleness; unsteadiness; inconstancy; change-

623

te nu'i ty,
de duc'tion,
in duc'tion,
a bāte'ment,
a bāse'ment,
a bridġ'ment,
sev'er ance,

ex'ca va"tion.

Va cu'i ty,

pau'çi ty,

emptiness; worthlessness; vacancy; inanity.
fewness; smallness of number, or quantity.
thinness; meagerness; flimsiness.
subtraction: the method or art of inferring, etc.: inference.

a leading into, as into the knowledge of a prina lessening; diminution.
humiliation; a lowering, as of pride or dignity.
a making shorter, as a book, a sentence, etc.
the act of dividing, or separating. [ging, etc.
the act of making hollow; a cavity made by dig-

Im'ma te"ri al. not consisting of matter: unimportant. prob'lem at"ic al. doubtful: having the character of a problem. that may be asserted or affirmed. pred'i ca ble. con tin'gent. that may or may not happen: accidental. ehi měr'i cal, imaginary; wild; unfounded; deceitful; fanciful in def'i nite. not definite: undefined: not certain or exact. in cal'cu la ble. too great to be calculated. com pat'i ble. suitable; consistent; agreeable; accordant. com men'su rate. proportional: having the same measure: equal.

in val'u a ble, having value beyond calculation.

625

Te měr'i ty. rashness; foolhardiness; extreme boldness. trep'i da"tion, fear; a state of trembling. rus tiç'i ty, the condition or manner of rude country people. re fine'ment, elegance of life or manner; purity; culture. pro cliv'i tv. inclination towards; a tendency; a willingness. re pel'len cv. act of drawing back or repelling; repulsion. ad he'sion. the sticking together of matter of different kinds. the sticking together of particles of the same co he'sion. prel'ūde (or prē'lūde), an opening speech, song, or play. se'quence, anything that follows; a result; a consequence.

626

Vi'rile (or vir'il),strong; manly. bodily exercise. ath let'ic. like an athlete; strong; vigorous; relating to her cu'le an, very large and strong; like Hercules. having sinews; strong; muscular. sin'ew y, en'er get"ic. having energy; full of strength and zeal; forceful, hĩr'sūte, hairy; covered with hair or beard. ru'bi cund, reddish; somewhat red. fe'līne. like a cat; pertaining to the cat tribe. le'o nīne. like a lion; relating to lions. rav'en ous. voracious: eager to devour.

Di'a lŏgue. a conversation between two: a conversation. wit'ti cism. a witty speech or saving. fters, as shoe into hose an"a gram', one word changed into another by transposing letap'o thegm (them), a notable saving; a short, wise utterance. en co'mi um. a speech of praise; praise, [left road is the right road." ad'u la"tion. flattery. păr'a dox. a statement seemingly self-contradictory; as, "The păr'a grăph. several sentences collectively on the same subject. a burlesque imitation, as of a poem. păr'o dy, păr'a ble, a short tale or fable conveying moral instruction.

628

Pre'mo ni"tion. a warning given or felt before the danger appears. an evil omen; something that forewarns of evil. pôr tent', prod'i gy, a wonder; a marvel; a miracle; anything extraor-[flight of birds, etc.; an omen. dinary. the ancient practice of foretelling events by the au'gu ry. in'tu I"tion. the act of knowing without effort; consciousness. in'tro spec"tion. a looking into one's own heart or mind. div'i na"tion. the art of divining or foretelling: a prediction. păl'mis try, fortune-telling by reading the lines of the palms. sôr'çer y, the art of a sorcerer or magician; magic; enchantleg'er de main", trickery; modern magic; sleight-of-hand. ment.

629

Eg'o Ism (or $\bar{e} go$), extreme selfishness; love of self alone. Tothers. al'tru Ism. the opposite of egoism; devotion to the interests of ac'cla ma"tion. applause; shouting. ac'cli ma"tion. the state of being acclimated. nep'o tism, the practice of officials employing relatives. des'pot ism. tyranny; absolute power. balance. coun"ter poise', a balance of weights; the weight upon one side of a e"qui poise'. equilibrium; rest; balance. au tom'a ton, a self-moving machine. Superior government. au ton'o my, self-government; a government not dependent on a Flam beau (bo), a lighted torch carried in the hand.

sig'net, a seal; the seal of a monarch. cor'o net, a small crown; a duke's crown.

côr'nice, a molding overhead, as from the roof or ceiling.

cofffer, a money-chest: a treasure. chal'içe, a cup; a communion-cup.

tap'is (or ta pē'), a carpet; a tablecloth; what is offered for choice or action is said to be on the tapis.

ter'race, level land artificially formed on a hillside.

pär terre' (târ), a flower-garden. pär'a pet, a breastwork.

631

Fea'si ble. that can be accomplished; practicable. pro vi'sion al, conditional; for the time being; temporary. plau'si ble. seemingly correct or true; apparently right. in'con sist"ent, not consistent : unsuitable ; discordant. con'gru ous, suiting; fitting together properly; consistent. doubtful; relating to doubt. du'bi ous. ap'pli ca ble, that may be applied: suitable. ap'po site, proper; fit; suitable. ad ven'tūr ous, relating to adventures; bold; daring: hazardous. ad'ven ti"tious, accidental; incidental; not inherent.

632

one who practises medicine in public places: a quack Mount'e bank, a quack : a pretender. char'la tan. doctor; a pretender. a forerunner; one who is sent before for any purpose. pre cur'sor. a forerunner, to provide lodgings, etc., for the king. har'bin ger. ad'ju tant, the officer in a regiment who keeps the records, etc. co'ad ju"tor, a helper; an assistant; a co-worker. a'er o naut. a voyager in the air; a balloonist. ā'er o līte, a meteoric stone passing through the air. lap'i da ry, one who cuts and polishes precious stones. one who prepares and sells medicines. a poth'e cary, Ob'se quies. funeral rites; last duties rendered to the dead. çem'e ter y, a burial-ground. I they may be recognized. môrgue. a place where the unknown dead are exposed that a funeral pile for burning the dead. pyre, mau so le'um. a grand tomb or sepulcher. ceased. o bit'u a ry, an account or description of a person lately decôr tege' (tāzh), a train of attendants, as in a procession. bier, a vehicle, frame, or barrow, used in burials. cat'a combs (komz), caves or grottoes formerly used as a burial-place hec'a tomb $(t\overline{oo}m)$, a sacrifice of a hundred oxen; any great slaughter.

634

As sev'er a"tion. an earnest assertion; a positive statement. ab bre'vi a"tion, a shortening, as of a word; the letter or letters standing for a word. ab'ro ga"tion, the act of annulling or abrogating; repeal. e ll'sion. the act of cutting off, as a syllable from a word, etc. ex cerpt', a passage extracted, as from a book; an extract. in'ter lude. a piece of music played during an interval. pro vi'so. a provision or condition; a stipulation: a caution. dic'tum. an assertion; something positively spoken. ul'ti ma"tum. a last offer; a final proposition. re'con sid'er a"tion, a bringing up again for decision.

635

given to questioning; inquiring. In quis'i tive. com mu'ni ca tive. ready to tell anything; willing to communicate ex plan'a to ry. relating to explanation; descriptive. in com'pre hen"si ble, not to be understood or comprehended. in ap'pli ca ble, not applicable; unfit; unsuitable. con di'tion al, not certain; not positive; with condition. ex cep'tion a ble, liable to exception. ex cep'tion al. being an exception; not included; excepted. Ir ref'u ta ble. not to be refuted or disproved. ir rec"on cil'a ble. not to be reconciled.

ARA

Pu'er ile.

like a boy; childish.

pu'is sant,

mighty; powerful; great in power.

joe'und,

gay; lively; merry.

na'ive (na'ēv). trīte.

natural; unaffected. much used in speech. commonplace; worn-out, as a saying; hackneyed;

in sip'id.

flat; stale; tasteless; worthless.

un'so phis"ti ca'ted, unaffected; simple; unlearned in fashion, etc. u nique' (nek), me"di o'cre (ker), middling; common, especially in mental power. alone; having no equal; similar to nothing.

aes thet'ic.

relating to the beautiful, as in art,

637

Per'son age, chap'er on, em pir'ic, con'nois seur", con tem'po ra ry, ab'o riġ"i nēs. at ta che'. ty'ro, a person; a grand man; a famous man. a protector; a guide. out due knowledge. a quack; a charlatan; one who experiments witha judge in matters of art or taste; a critic. one living at the same time with another. the original natives of a country. a dependent; an adherent; a subordinate. a beginner in learning; a student. Tleader, etc. a rough soldier; a rude fellow employed by a

638

Chron'ic, ton'ic. nar cot'ic, san'a tive.

mỹr'mi don,

an tag'o nist,

lasting long, as a disease; hard to get rid of. giving strength, or tone, to the body. producing sleep, as a medicine, etc.

an adversary; an opponent; an enemy.

tu'mid,

healing; remedial. swollen; puffed up: proud.

feb'rile. re me'di al, relating to fever. ties of a remedy. healing; having power to cure; having the quali-quī es'cent, sop'o rif"ic, pro lif'ic, at rest; quiet; inactive: silent, as a letter. causing sleep; narcotic. fruitful; productive; fertile.

Ex pec'to rate, ar tic'u lāte, ma tric'u late, in côr'po rate. re'ha bil"i tāte, de cap'i tate. de pop'u late. di lap'i date. ca pit'u late, e vac'u āte.

to cough up; to throw out, as from the lungs. to pronounce: to put together by joints. to admit to membership, as into a class in college. to form into a body; to embody; to organize. to clothe again; to re-establish; to supply again. to cut off the head; to behead. to destroy or drive out the people. [to go to ruin. to fall down, as the stones of a building; to decay; to surrender upon terms of treaty. to quit, as a place: to discharge: to eject.

840

E'qua ble.

equal; even; uniform: having no harshness, as of temper.

ex tra'ne ous, in trin'sic. lux u'ri ous, lux u'ri ant, nau'ti cal, măr'i tîme. si'mul ta"ne ous, eq'ui ta ble (ĕk wǐ), just; according to equity or justice; right. not being a part of; without; foreign; strange. inward; relating to the interior or valuable part. delighting in luxury; given to pleasure. rich; rank in growth; very abundant. Itrade. relating to navigation; belonging to the sailor's belonging to the sea; having a seacoast.

happening at the same time. con tem'po ra"ne ous, existing at the same time.

641

Ven'om, pal'lor. te'di um, tryst, du ress'. do'lor, swoon. o'pi āte. si ĕs'ta. fāte, poison: hate; malignity. paleness, as of the countenance. weariness; tiresomeness; lack of interest. [place. an appointment, as for a secret meeting; a meetingimprisonment; captivity; restraint. grief; misery; great trouble. the act of fainting. a medicine to produce sleep. a short sleep after dinner. certainty; necessity: doom; destruction.

Su'per cil"ious, haughty; arrogant; disdainful. pā trī'cian. one of the higher classes, as in Rome; a noble. stal'wart. strong: hearty; resolute. a slave; a Russian slave (formerly). serf. un fledged'. not able to fly: helpless; inexperienced. par've nū, a newcomer; an upstart; one suddenly become rich. re frac'to ry. obstinate; incorrigible; unyielding. is unskilled. nov'ice. a new convert; a new or unskilled apprentice; one who per'ti na"cious, persistent; resolute; inflexible. mar"ti net', an exacting officer; a drillmaster.

643

to heap together; to increase. Ac cu'mu late. as food. to make similar; to absorb and make part of the body. as sim'i lāte. to cause inconvenience; to disturb; to trouble. in'com mode". im pĕr'il, to cause peril; to endanger. con"tro vert'. to dispute; to refute; to overthrow in argument. in hib'it. to prevent; to hinder. fas'ci nāte. to charm; to hold by enchantment; to enrapture. tan'ta līze. to tease: to torment with false hopes. in vēi'gle, to decoy: to allure: to entice. sim'u lāte, to feign; to counterfeit.

644

Clas'sic, relating to the best writers; relating to Greek or as a scientific word. relating to a science or an art: not in common use, tech'nic al, ra'tion al. reasonable; according to reason; having reason. rad'i cal, relating to the root or foundation: extreme. crit'ic al. exact: relating to criticism: dangerous. sec'tion al. relating to a particular section of country. [united. clan'nish. like a clan: holding together like a tribe or clan: civ'ic. pertaining to the state or city: not warlike or milimil'i ta rv. belonging to an army; relating to soldiers. tarv. mil'i tant, fighting; engaged in war.

Tran'sient. passing; staying but a short time. vexation; displeasure; a slight feeling of anger. cha grin', spell"-bound', held, as by a charm; enchanted; fascinated. delight; joy; great happiness. ee'sta sv. un'con fined", free; unfettered; boundless. en thu'si asm, great zeal: warm devotion: carnest purpose. de l'ir'i ous, light-headed; raving; insane. [through the brain. fan'ta sv. a state of mind in which many images or fancies go con viv'i al. festive; gay; pertaining to good companionship. ris'i bil"i tv. laughter.

646

Fis'cal. pertaining to money or the public funds. in tes'tāte, dying without having made a will. ju dľcial, pertaining to judges or courts of law. lu'cra tive. profitable: money making. mer'can tile. relating to merchandise or commerce. con'tra bănd. unlawful; against law; prohibited. clan des'tine. secret; hidden; private; unknown to the public. al'i quot, an exact measure, as in division in arithmetic. col lat'er al. side by side: of equal value. sub sid'i a ry, assisting; aiding; helping; auxiliary.

647

an apothecary's shop. Phar'ma cv. nos'trum, a quack medicine; an advertised cure-all. ef flu'vi um, an emanation, as from decaying matter. a lem'bic, a vessel used in distilling. al'co hol, pure spirit; highly rectified spirit. al'che my, the pretended art of changing the baser metals into gold ca lor'ic, heat; the principle or element of heat. tents. anything, as bag, box, etc., to receive any kind of conre cep'ta cle, a treasury, as of records, stories, dramas, etc. rep'er tō ry, al'ka lī, a mineral or earthy substance, like soda, potash, etc.

Pre lim'i na ry, ex për'i ment, in sid'i ous, in'no va"tion, def'i nIte, ap'pli ca"tion, dip'lo mat"ic, o'ver tūre, Ir rev'o ca ble, ne go'ti a"tion, previous; prefatory; by way of preface.

a trial; a test; a trying to discover some truth.
slyly aggressive: creeping up: treacherous.
something new brought forward; introduction of exact; particular; clear; plain. [novelty.
act of applying: an entreaty: hard study.
wise in regard to treaties between states: relating to treaties.
an offer, as of peace or friendship: a burst of music.
that cannot be revoked or recalled.

649

transaction of business: a treaty: a trade.

Eb'ul l''tion, in'cu ba''tion, per'co la''tion, in fu'sion, ab sôrp'tion, răr'e fac''tion, ex'ha la''tion, det'o na''tion, con cus'sion, dis'so lu''tion, the act of boiling.

the act or process of hatching eggs. [trickling. filtration; the act of filtering, or straining, or a pouring in; the act of infusing.

the act of absorbing, or taking into.

the act of making thin or less dense, as the air.

that which is exhaled; vapor: evaporation.

a noise of an explosion; an explosion.

a shock; the act of shaking suddenly.

the act of dissolving or coming apart: death.

650

E mer'gen cy,
ex pe'di en cy,
ex'i gen cy,
eri'sis,
di lem'ma,
vi cis'si tūde,
per'tur ba"tion,
hal lu'ci na"tion,
fa tu'i ty,
in'con gru"i ty,

a sudden occasion or need; a crisis.
fitness; utility; propriety; suitableness.
want; need; urgency; pressing need. [moment.
a time of danger; an important time; a decisive a case of difficulty in deciding between two things.
change; an occurrence bringing change.
disquietude; disorder; uneasiness; anxiety.
an error of fancy; a blunder; a mistake.
foolishness; stupidity; weakness of mind.
unfitness of parts; inconsistency.

Com pen'di ous, stu pen'dous, ho'mo ge"ne ous, het'e ro ge"ne ous, ce ru'le an, cim me'ri an, qen trip'e tal, du'pli cate, quin'tu ple, short; abridged; astonishing; stupe similar in nature. different in nature. blue; sky-colored; very dark; gloomy tending or drawing flying from the cen double; twofold: ouble; twofold:

short; abridged; summary; concise.
astonishing; stupefying with wonder; alarming; similar in nature.
different in nature.
blue; sky-colored; like the heavens.
very dark; gloomy; black; like night.
tending or drawing toward the centre.
flying from the center.
double; twofold: exactly similar.
fivefold.

652

Col'lo quy,

crī tīque' (tēk), cŏr'ol la ry, ex'pli ca''tion, ep'i taph, di plo'ma, an al'o gy, tau tol'o gy, an'gli çişm, gal'li çişm, a conversation, especially a conversation abounding in questions and answers.

a criticism; a critical review, as of a book. [etc. a consequence, as a dependent part of an argument, interpretation; a clear and full explanation. an inscription on a tomb or monument. [college. a certificate showing duty or work performed, as at likeness; similarity; resemblance. the error of repeating ideas in a sentence. an English idiom or phrase.

a French idiom or phrase.

653

Stol'id, te naç'i ty, del'e te"ri ous, leth'ar gy, per cēiv'a ble, heş'i ta"tion, in scru'ta ble, is'sue ("sh'u), pre em'i nent, des'ti ny. dull; heavy; unfeeling; unmoved; stupid; foolthe act or power of holding fast. [ish. having a bad influence; injurious; harmful. inaction; indisposition to action: dullness. that can be seen or perceived. indecision; delay; reluctance; doubt. unsearchable; hidden; very mysterious. conclusion; that which comes to pass. eminent above others; superior in excellence. necessity; fate; end; what is sure to come.

In'to na"tion. in flec'tion. ac claim'. ac'cent. al lit'er a"tion. rhvthm. rhap'so dy. an'them. sym'pho ny.

a tone; manner of sound, as in speech, a bending: a turn, as in the voice. applause; shouting; a welcome. a stress upon a syllable. ac cent'u a"tion, the act of accenting or stressing. the use of the same letter at the beginning of words. the pleasant flow of words, as in verse. a wild, irregular song, speech, or soliloguy. ship. a sacred song or hymn: music used in public worconcord of many mingled sounds; grand music.

655

Ver'te brate, spe'ciēs, pli'a ble, păr'a sīte. flex'i ble, splint, re frig'er ant, ap'pa rā"tus, nôr'mal, re frac'tion.

having a backbone or spinal column. a number of things embraced in a class or order. easy to be bent; flexible; pliable; yielding. a climbing plant, or vine; a dependent; an adhethat can be bent. [rent; a flatterer. a thin piece or strip of wood. cooling; cold; lessening heat. or art. tools, appliances, or instruments used in any trade regular; according to rule. deviation of a ray of light,

656

Soph'ist ry, fal'la cv. tru'ism. věr'i ty, coun'ter part, sim'i lē. sar'easm, de ri'sion. in'nu en''dō, pa'thos.

what falsely seems to be wise reasoning. deceitful argument: a statement containing error. a truth that has become old; a commonplace truth. truth; a truth; true utterance. a part that corresponds; a copy. another. a figure of speech in which one thing is said to be like reproach conveyed in form of a taunt or bitter jest. mocking; scorn; scornful treatment. an injurious hint; a harmful suggestion. speech or writing that affects the emotions.

Au'to graph, bī og'ra phy, ps⊽ ehol'o gy, bī ol'o ġy, phĭ lol'o gy.

lit'er a tūre, mis'cel la ny, ar'chives. cal'ends.

one's own writing; one's signature. a history of some one's life. au'to bī og"ra phy, an author's biography of himself. the science of the mind; mental philosophy. the science of life or of living things. the science of language; grammatical learning, especially affecting the derivation of words. learning; letters; the body of learned writings. a mixture, especially a book of mixed literature. government records: a place for keeping records. the first days of the month in the Roman calendar.

858

Per'emp to ry, ju'bi lant. im pas'sioned, res'o nant, sten to'ri an, man'da to ry, min'a to ry, bla'tant, so no'rous, ex'e cra ble, positive, as a command; decisive; absolute. joyful; rejoicing; praising. as in speech. having passion or warmth of feeling; animated, resounding; returning sound; echoing. loud; with a loud voice. directory. relating to command or precept; by command; threatening; menacing. loud; noisy; rough; blustering. sound. high-sounding; having strength or fullness of to be hated; hateful.

BED

Mer'çe na ry, ad min'is tra"tor. ve'nal, cu pid'i ty, un scru'pu lous, def'al ca"tion, in ac'cu rate. sched'üle, in'con cēiv"a ble. tur'pi tūde, desirous of gain; influenced by money; hireling. one appointed by will to manage an estate. purchasable, as a man's honor, etc.; base. base desire for wealth; eagerness for gain. not nicely honorable. officer's breach of trust. a lessening, as of public moneys, caused by an not accurate; having mistakes; erring. a form; a list; a paper showing a system. not to be conceived or understood. wickedness; crime; wrong.

Ef front'er v. impudent boldness: brazenness of manner. rib'ald ry, vile speech: brutal language. con"tu mē'ly. insolence; reproach; insult; scorn. in vec'tive. angry abuse: violent speech. dis'so nance. noisy discord; clamor; uproar; disagreement. per'ti nac"i tv. obstinacy: persistence. in e'bri a"tion, drunkenness. ran'cor. hatred; malignity. Trior. rep're hen"sion, reproach; condemnation; censure, as from a supecus'to dy, the act of holding or keeping; arrest; imprisonment.

661

Rec're a"tion. rest: refreshment: amusement. Tetc. ab'sti nence. the act of abstaining from or doing without, as food, hī lăr'i ty. gayety; jollity. ē bri'e ty, drunkenness. gas tron'o my, the act or practice of eating palatable food. Tetc. côr'nu co"pi a, the horn of plenty; abundance, as of fruit, grain, cui sine' (kwe $z\bar{e}n'$), a kitchen; cooking. es'cu lent, a food plant. nu'tri ment. food: nourishment. môr ceau' (so), a small piece; a morsel; a tidbit.

662

Au gust'. grand; great; majestic. governor. ex ec'u tive, an officer who sees that the laws are executed, as a wandering; journeying constantly. I tin'er ant. co me'di an, an actor who plays comedy. ward. pre co'cious, having ability beyond one's age; early-ripe; foram"a teūr, one who at times practises art, etc., for love of it. cen so'ri ous. full of censure; severe in reproach. growling. cyn'ic, a morose man; a snarler; a philosopher given to hy'per crit"ic al, too critical; fastidious in criticism. a harsh or severe critic. cen'sor, Aus pi'cious, con spic'u ous, am big'u ous, an al' o gous, e gre'gious, pro mis'cu ous, of fi'cious, punc til'ious, pre ca'ri ous, vi ca'ri ous, having omens or signs of good fortune.

plainly visible; prominent. [tions doubtful; having two constructions or interpretasimilar; like; resembling.

remarkable, as an error; noticeable; one by itself. mixed; mingled; various. [unnecessarily. meddlesome; forward, as offending by helping very precise as to forms; nice in observances. uncertain; doubtful: depending on another. in place of another; done or suffered for another; substituted.

884

Ir rep'a ra ble, in sol'ven cy, fraud'u lent, re course', on'er ous, li'a bil"i ty, mis'cel la"ne ous, as'sets, un'in tel"li gi ble, res'i due, that cannot be repaired; ruined.

debt beyond ability to pay; bankruptcy.
containing fraud; criminal; deceitful.
a source of strength or supply; ability to secure aid.
burdensome; heavy; difficult.
the state of being liable or accountable.
composed of variety; various; mixed.
property to be applied to the discharge of debts.
that cannot be read or understood.
remainder; what is left.

665

Cör rob'o rāte, in val'i dāte, af fil'i āte, an tag'o nīze, in gra'ti āte, as perse', in ten'si fy, mol'li fy, gen'er āte, cul'mi nāte, to strengthen; to confirm, as testimony.

to make worthless; to destroy the value of.
to adopt as a son or daughter; to associate with.
to oppose; to combat; to contest.
to please; to gain affection for one's self.
to vilify; to defame; to slander.
to render intense; to increase a quality.
to soothe; to lessen, as anger or hate.
to bring into existence; to cause to exist.
to rise to the highest point or degree.

Ac cretion. stra'tum. im'pact, seg'ment. trac'tion. cor ro'sion, de bris' (dā brē'), al lu'vi um, flot'sam. jet'sam.

increase; growth, as of coral islands, etc. a layer, as of gravel, rock, sand, etc., found in the a striking together; a collision. fearth. a part cut off; a section. the act of drawing, as a wagon. the act of corroding or eating away, as by rust, etc. parts remaining; fragments; ruins. earth washed ashore by rivers; rich lowlands. goods floating after a wreck. goods thrown into the sea in a storm.

667

In dif'fer ence. in dis'po şī"tion, as'si du"i ty, a vid'i ty, a rid'i ty. e ma'ci a tion, sa ti'e ty, pre'di lec"tion, af fin'i ty.

carelessness; want of concern. [desire illness: having no disposition or desire; want of constant industry; strict application, as to study. pro cras'ti na"tion, the act of putting off to another time. greediness; voracity; eagerness. barrenness; unfruitfulness. leanness; thinness. fullness to repletion; excess; surfeit. a previous liking. Tattraction. relation, as by marriage: likeness of disposition:

BBB

La'tent. .pï'quänt (pē'känt), pa'tent, de void', tagʻit, in vi'o late, im pliç'it, pol'i tic, profi'cient. de fi'cient, hidden; secret; inactive for a time. Speech sharp; biting to the taste: bitter or sharp in plain; evident; manifest; clear. empty; vacant; deprived of; free from. silent; not expressed but understood; implied. uninjured; safe; unprofaned. from outside. implied; contained in itself; needing nothing prudent; pursuing good policy or plan; shrewd. expert; having full knowledge, as of a trade. faulty on account of something lacking; imperfect.

Rap'tūr ous, so lil'o quy, pa thet'ic, quo ta'tion, ve ra'cious, cre den'tials, vo lu'mi nous, me mo'ri al, he red'i ta ry, ju'ris dic"tion, having rapture; blissful; ecstatic.

a talk to one's self.

moving the emotions; touching, as a description.

a passage from another writer: a saying.

true; truthful; abhorring falsehood. [or belief.
papers or proof that the holder is worthy of credit having volume; large. [serve one in memory.

a written request: a monument; anything to prebelonging to a family; from father to son.

legal authority; the extent of a judge's authority.

670

support; the act of maintaining. Main'te nance, with. ab'o li'tion, overthrow; the act of abolishing or doing away hab'i tūde. habit; long habit. des'ue tūde (děs'wē), disuse. so lic'i tude, anxiety concerning another; concern; care. tran quil'li ty, the state of being tranquil: quietness of mind or the act of obtruding: an unwelcome intrusion. ob tru'sion, ex pul'sion. the act of expelling or driving out. ad'mo ni"tion, a warning; solemn advice. maker. in'ter ces"sion. the act of interceding or coming between as a peace-that which repels; driving away; offensive. Re pul'sive, fretful; peevish; irritable; easily angered. splen'e tic, lu gu'bri ous, gloomy; sorrowful; melancholy. pu'sil lan"i mous, cowardly; cravenhearted. rep're hen"si ble, blamable; censurable; deserving reprehension. prof'li gate, very wicked; given to vice; abandoned to vice. cal'lous, hard; hardhearted. rep'ro bate. one lost to virtue; a person abandoned to evil. des'pi ca ble, contemptible; mean; base. ab hor'rent. hateful: repulsive: to be abhorred.

671

Pro pi'tious, a lac'ri ty, pre cip'i tate, ce lĕr'i ty, im prac'ti ca ble, en'ter prīṣe, in su'per a ble, ap'a thy, de vo'tion al, ab strac'tion, favorable; kind; betokening good fortune.

ready cheerfulness; quickness of spirit.
headlong; rapid; impetuous.
rapidity; swiftness of motion.
not to be done; impossible under the circumstances.
an undertaking; an attempt; an adventure.
not to be overcome; too difficult for success.
indifference; want of feeling.
pious; prayerful; relating to devotion.
separation; the act of fixing the mind on one subject to the exclusion of all other thought.

673

Con jec'tūre, su'per stī"tion, cre'dence, per cep'tion, scru'ti ny, in'fer ence, pur'view (vū), pen'e tra"tion, per'spi caç"i ty, pro fun'di ty, speculation: opinion; guessing. [doctrine. false worship or belief; credulity concerning false belief; credit; trust. [ment. the power of perceiving; understanding; discernan examination; a looking into. [ous statement. anything inferred; something drawn from a previlimit; sphere; scope, as of one's knowledge, etc. the act of penetrating: insight; perception. quickness of sight or perception. depth of place; deep knowledge.

674

In noc'u ous, in nox'ious, ob nox'ious, sa lu'bri ous, hy gi ĕn'ic, con ta'gious, in fec'tious, spo rad'ic, per ni'cious, vir'u lent, harmless; not hurtful.

free from poison; harmless. [subject.
odious; unpopular; liable to punishment or loss;
healthful; salutary; wholesome; promoting safety.
relating to the laws for the preservation of health.
imparted by touching, as a disease. [contagious.
received through the air, clothing, etc., as a disease;
scattered; not epidemic, as a disease.
hurtful; mischievous; ruinous; destructive.
poisonous; malignant; having destructive influence.

In sa'tia ble, not to be satisfied.

greediness for riches; too great desire for wealth. av'a rice, tran'si to ry, passing quickly; fleeting; momentary.

op'u-lence, wealth; riches: abundance.

pe cūn'ia rv. relating to money.

sub'si dy, aid in money to help a nation in war: a supply.

gra tu'i tous. without cost: given for nothing.

per'qui şï"tion, a search; a legal search.

ex pe'di ent. necessary; fit; proper; suitable.

tar'iff. customs duties; a list of rates for customs duties.

676

Souve n'ir' $(s\overline{o}ov \ n\overline{e}r')$, something kept as a memento.

so bri quet $(s\bar{o}\ bri\ k\bar{a}')$, a nickname. [an abbreviation, as C for carbon.

of a family, etc.

sym'bol. a sign, as $: a figure or object used as an emblem; ex po'nent, a sign of power, as in algebra. es cutch'eon. a figure, as on a shield, showing the arms or emblem min'i a tūre, a small picture or likeness. sky. a side view, as of the face; an outline against the pro'file.

sem'blance, likeness; resemblance; false resemblance; counterfeit an exact copy or resemblance. făc sim'i lē.

si mil'i tūde, comparison; copy; resemblance.

677

Duc'tile. that may be drawn out, as metal into wire: easily ex pan'sive, spreading; swelling; extending. $\lceil led.$ fran'gi ble, that can be broken.

sticky; having power to adhere. ad he'sive, in sol'u ble. that cannot be dissolved or melted.

tex'tIle, relating to fabrics used in weaving; woven. mal'le a ble. that can be extended by hammering; not brittle.

e las'tic, springy: readily rebounding.

te na'cious, holding fast; adhering closely: retentive.

um bra'geous, shady, as an umbrageous tree.

In'ci den"tal. in'ter course. ad'van ta"geous. as so'ci a"tion, com pla'cent. e'qua nim"i ty, phe nom'e nal. apt'i tude. in'tel lec"tu al. ev'o lu"tion, occurring as by chance; happening by the way exchange of speech or opinion: connection. beneficial; helpful; bringing advantage. unison; connection; partnership. pleasant in manner; affable; mild; untroubled. evenness of mind; composure. remarkable: causing wonder: very strange. aptness; fitness; power to adapt; skill. relating to the mind or intellect: mental: an unfolding; a growth. [talented.

679

Op'por tune". pre'ma türe, per pet'u al, ev'a nes"cent, pris'tIne, an'ti qua''ted, prī môr'di al, cō e'val. im'me mo"ri al, e phem'er al, seasonable; occurring at the proper time. previous to maturity or ripeness; occurring too lasting forever; not periodical. soon. remaining but a short time; not lasting. relating to the beginning; earliest; first; origold; old-fashioned; out of date. [inal. original; first in order. of the same age with another. memory. too long ago to remember; beyond the reach of lasting but a short time, as a plant, insect, etc

880

Quon'dam, pe'ri od"i cal. sem'i an"nu al, an'te-me rid"i an. sem'i cir"cu lar, cen ten'ni al, cō e'qual, in op'por tune. in'aus pl''cious, former. [time; regular as to time, occurring at periods, or close of intervals of occurring every half-year. ridian. before noon; before the sun reaches the mehaving the form of a half-circle. occurring once in a hundred years. ex tem'po ra"ne ous, extemporary; made or composed at the time. of the same power or rank, etc. venient. not opportune; untimely; unseasonable; incopnot auspicious; unpromising; unlucky.

A vail'a ble. sta tis'tics. il li'cit. dis'til la"tion, con clu'sive. as sav'. in dis'pu ta ble. an'nals, glos'sa ry, that can be used. Country. tables of facts; a collection of facts in regard to a illegal: against the law. the art or process of distilling, as liquors. relating to the conclusion or end: final a trial or test, as in testing metals. that cannot be disputed. history: historical documents. com'pre hen"sive, extensive; broad; including much. a dictionary of uncommon or difficult words.

tal'is man, pan'o ply. păl lā'di um, ioŭst. bal'dric. chev'a lier. gāge, Hĕr'ald ry,

ran'som.

etc. something kept or worn on the person as a charm. complete armor for defense. [tion of one's country. a protection; a safeguard, as a flag or the reputaan exhibition of knightly combats; a tournament. a girdle; a belt: the zodiac. of a monarch, etc. eq'uer ry (ěk'wer), a stable; an officer who has charge of the horses a knight; a brilliant soldier; a cavalier. a pledge; a pawn: a measure. price paid to relieve one in captivity: release.

the art relating to coats of arms, family escutcheons.

In ex'tri ca ble. in dis'so lū ble, im pon'der a ble, im per'vi ous, per'me a ble, re fran'gi ble, re vert'i ble. in tan'gi ble, men'su ra ble. com'pa ra ble, not to be extricated; lost in a tangle. that cannot be dissolved; inseparable: firm. having no weight; that cannot be weighed. impenetrable; impassable. that may be passed through or permeated. that may be refracted or bent, as a ray of light. that may revert or come back; returnable. that cannot be touched or handled; immaterial. that can be measured; measurable. that can be compared; worthy of comparison.

In tol'er ance. severity; want of toleration; unkindness. a cerb'i tv. sourness of temper; peevishness.

al'ter ca"tion. a quarrel; a fight.

Per'ti nent.

rel'e vant,

hom'i cīde. the killing of a human being.

harshness; bitterness of temper; roughness. ae'ri mo ny.

a troc'i ty, any great crime; a murder.

in'sur rec"tion, a rising up of the people; a rebellion. an'arch y. want of any government; disorder.

het"er o dox'y. departure in belief from the church's creed.

her'e sy. departure in belief and act from a creed.

885

appropriate; properly relating to the matter in hand. appropriate to the matter in hand; pertinent.

ver bōse'. indulging in many words; wordy.

ver'sa tile, quick to vary; ready; apt; having many aptitudes. sen ten'tious. brief; forcible; pithy; short; energetic in speech.

fo ren'sic, belonging to courts of law, as a forensic argument. pro sa'ic. like prose; not adorned, as speech; dull.

whim'si cal, full of whims; odd; notional.

stupid; drunk; in a drunken manner. maud'lin, bac'eha nal, drunken; relating to drunkenness.

686

Com'plaï sănt, polite: showing a desire to please. fanother. par'tiăl"i ty. the condition of being partial; preference for one over relentless; not to be placated or pleased.

im pla'ea ble, an tip'a thy, hostility; enmity.

sal'u ta ry, safe; relating to safety or health; useful. len'i ty. mercy; kindness; disposition to forgive.

ehol'er ic. angry; easily angered.

as pěr'i ty. roughness of temper: bitterness.

in clem'ent, rough; severe; unkind.

ad ver'si tv. misfortune; distress; affliction; poverty.

phe nom'e non, ehi me'ra. sat'el līte, spec'ter, gar'goyle, ig'nis fat'u us, sar coph'a gus, cat'a fălque", ne crop'o lis, Met'a môr"pho sis, change of form, shape, or body; transformation. anything wonderful caused by the forces of nature. a fearful creation of the imagination, as a monster. a planet revolving around another; a dependant. a ghost. figure representing a monster. a water-spout or gutter ornamented with a carved a false light; a will-o'-the-wisp. a kind of stone coffin. corpse of a noted person. a temporary structure for showing or carrying the a "city of the dead"; a cemetery.

688

In glo'ri ous, ped'i gree, he red'i ta ble. cog no'men, con temp'tu ous, ap'pel la'tion, sar cas'tic, ep'i thet. con ven'tion al, in cog'ni to, shameful; disgraceful. lineage; family line; descent. that may be inherited. a surname; a family name. scornful; full of contempt. a name; a title; a term. cutting in speech; having sarcasm. a word that describes; a term; a title. according to rule or fashion; agreed upon. unknown condition: assumed name.

ARD

Chi rog'ra phy, hi'e ro glyph'ics, ver'si fi ca"tion, cir'cum lo cu'tion. an tith'e sis. an'ti cli'max. e pit'o me, an al'y sis, syn'the sis, im prov'i sa"tion, the art of writing; one's handwriting. symbols used by nations unacquainted with letters. the art of making poetry. the speaking of many words to convey an idea. a contrast; a word or sentence in opposition. a sentence that begins loftily and ends meanly; an abridgment; a summary. bathos. a separating into parts; an examination of parts. combination; building; the opposite of analysis. the making of music or poetry extemporaneously.

Ab'o rig"i nal, pertaining to the aborigines, or first inhabitants. di'a lect, a tribal form of a general language: a language. in cip'i ent. freshly begun; recently commenced: not mature. con cep'tion, an image in the mind; thought; notion. pre çēd'ent, going before; preceding; previous. ep'i sōde, an event; an incident; an unlooked-for occurrence. an te'ri or. before in time; prior. a date; a remarkable period of time. ep'och, ul te'ri or. farther: lving beyond. col lapse', a fall; a falling together of the parts of a body.

691

Ōr'tho dox. not heretical; agreeing with the church. e'van gel"ic al. relating to the gospels; of strict faith. phar'i sa"ic, like a pharisee; only outwardly religious: proud. prag mat'ic, impertinent; rudely positive: dictatorial. the'o ret"i cal. relating to theory but not to practice. syn thet'ic, relating to synthesis, as opposed to analysis. ex'pli ca ble, capable of being explained or accounted for. om nis'cient (nish'ent), all-wise; having all knowledge. pre'ter nat"u ral, beyond what is natural; above the ordinary course mi rac'u lous. having the nature of a miracle: marvelous.

692

Sed'en ta ry, relating to inactive employments; sitting. ġym nas'tic, relating to athletic exercises. som'no lent. inclined to sleep; sleepy. com'a tōse, relating to heavy sleep; drowsy; lethargic. [gent. su pine'. lying on the back: indolent; thoughtless; neglief fēte', worn-out; decayed in strength: unproductive. ex tinct'. dead; not in existence, as a species of animals, etc. ex'tant. in existence; not destroyed, as writings, etc. de funct', dead, as a person. pŏst'hu mous. after burial; after death.

inherent; native: pertaining to the inner nature. In'nate. per'son al"i tv. proper or individual person; a person's own being. pre req'ui site (rēk'wi), something required beforehand. qual'i fi ca"tion, capacity; fitness: limitation; condition. having meaning; meaning something. sig nif'i cant. a feature or peculiarity of character. trait, om'i nous, threatening; betokening ill; of evil omen. appearance; look; countenance. wise as'pect, wise: sagacious: ostensibly wise: ostentatiously sa'pi ent. âir, demeanor; appearance; manner of carriage or look.

694

Im'mo la"tion. sacrifice; the offer of sacrifice, as of a victim. ab'so lu"tion. a declaration of innocence by a judge: remission. ab'di ca"tion. a surrendering of authority and power, as of a king. ex pa'tri a"tion, banishment from one's country. ex'tra di"tion. the delivery by one nation of fugitives from another. ex'or cism. the driving out of evil spirits; expulsion of evil. e'dict. a decree; a proclaimed law or command. dog'ma, a doctrine, or law, of the church. a law, or rule, of the church. can'on. man'i fes"to. a public declaration of a ruler or government.

695

In vid'i ous, offer ma lev'o lent, wish ca pri'cious, full men da'cious, sin'is ter, pre cip'i tant, in ôr'di nate, irregab nôr'mal, not mon'grel, of mon'de script, an a offensive; hateful; causing envy or ill-will.

wishing evil; hating; having ill-will; hostile.
full of caprice; fanciful; not stable in conduct.
untruthful; given to lying.
suspicious: not right; threatening.
headlong; in too great haste.
irregular; excessive; beyond proper limits.
not normal; opposed to rule; irregular.
of mixed race or breed.

[out a name.
an animal or thing not yet described; a thing with-

ROB

 $\mathbf{\check{A}s}$ tute'. ad'vo cate. spē'cious ly. waived. in hēr'ent. su prem'a cy, log'ic al ly, pre'con cēiv"ing, ee cen'tric, con'se quen ces, cunning; shrewd; wise. a defender. one who pleads the cause of another; a lawyer; sincerely only in appearance; plausibly. refused to take advantage of; surrendered for the inborn; existing as a part of; native. supreme power; superiority; the highest degree according to logic; with reason. seeing or conceiving beforehand. deviating from the center; wandering; irregular; results following.

697

Coş'mo pol''i tan, som nam'bu list. ven tril'o quist, in'ter loc"u tor. a man'u en"sis. an'te di lu"vi an. in cen'di a ry, am'a zon, vī ra'go, one attached to no particular country; a citizen one who walks in his sleep. of the world. one who speaks so that the sound seems to come not from himself. one with whom conversation is held. one who writes what another dictates. one who lived before the flood of Noah. lat'i tūd'i na"ri an, one who is liberal in religious opinions. one who commits the crime of arson; a housea female warrior; a warlike woman.

698

a turbulent woman.

Sanc'ti mo"ni ous, big'ot, ruth'less ly, stig'ma tīz eş, un'as sūm'ing. sect. ab ste'mi ous. vo'ta ry, es chews', gran'deur.

holy in appearance; seemingly religious. one blindly attached to some doctrine or belief. cruelly; without mercy. disgraceful acts. reproaches; brands with shame; charges with meek; modest; humble. a religious body or society; a denomination. frugal, as in eating; very temperate. otee. one devoted to any cause; an adherent: a devavoids; shuns; forsakes; has distaste for. greatness of life; greatness; majesty.

A nat'o my, au'top sy, di'ag no"sis, symp'tom, viv'i sec"tion, an'aës thet"ic, cat'a plaşm, pan'a cē"a, an'ti dōte, an'o d⊽ne, ţ

the science of the structure of the body.
an anatomical examination of a body after death.
examination and decision as to the nature of a disease.
a sign, as of disease; an indication. [of science.
the practice of dissecting live animals in the interest a preventive of pain, as chloroform, ether, etc.

a poultice or plaster used as a remedy.

a remedy for many diseases; a universal medicine.

a preventive; a remedy; counteraction.

a remedy used for soothing or assuaging pain.

700

O'le aġ"i nous, having the nature of oil; oily; unctuous. unc'tu ous, oily; greasy; slippery: oily-tongued. relating to smell; having the sense of smell. ol fac'to rv. e mol'lient (e mol'yent), softening; making soft; removing roughness, sap'o na"ceous. soapy; relating to soap. ăr'o mat"ic. giving out aroma or odor. sharp; biting or acrid to the taste. pun'gent, suc'cu lent. juicy, as a vegetable or fruit. sed'a tive. anything, as a medicine, that soothes or gives relief. al'ter a tive. causing change: a medicine that makes a slow change.

701

excessive; more than enough, as words in a sentence. Re dun'dant. vol'u bil"i ty, excessive talk; great volume of words. pas'sion ate, having passion; earnest; eager; animated. vo cif'er a"tion, speaking with a loud voice; shouting. ob tru'sive. that which obtrudes; unwelcome; intrusive. răil'ler y (răl), banter; teasing; jesting, etc. Ir rev'er ent, not reverent; having no regard for age or wisdom. pêr si flage' (flazh), mockery; banter; raillery; idle talk. op pro'bri ous, reproachful; scornful; offensive. rod'o mon tade". blustering talk; low, pretentious speech; bragging Pan'the ist. ag nos'tic. ma te'ri al ist. sec ta'ri an. an'ti chrīst, ī con'o clăst, an'arch ist. ni'hil ist. so'cial ist.

fa'tal ist,

one who believes that God is universal nature. one who denies that man can know spiritual things. one who believes that nothing exists but matter. one who belongs to a religious sect: pertaining to an enemy of Christ; Satan. sects. a breaker of images; an enemy of superstitions. one who believes in having no government. one who believes in destroying all governments. a believer in socialism, i.e. the doctrines of equal distribution of property and labor. one who holds that nothing can prevent what occurs

703

Prej'u dï"cial. děr'e lict. ne fa'ri ous. quĕr'u lous, ob strep'er ous, scur'ril ous, con'tu ma"cious. fla gl'tious, I ras'ci ble. de rog'a to ry, injurious; hurtful; damaging; detrimental. abandoned; forsaken: unfaithful. very wicked; abominable; atrocious; vile. habitually complaining; cross; peevish. loud in manner or conduct; noisy; clamorous. abusive; foul; coarse in speech. stubborn; perverse; wilful; obstinate. wicked; villainous; heinous; openly corrupt. easily angered; fretful; cross-tempered. tending to lessen, as reputation; injurious.

704

Ad'o les"cence. ĭr'i des"cence. quin tes'sence, ex cres'cence. ef'flo res"cence. ef'fer ves"cence. ac'qui es"cence, be nef'i cence. co in'ci dence, youth; the time or condition of youth. con'va les"cence, the act or state of recovery after sickness. colors similar to the rainbow. a very strong essence or extract; fivefold essence. something growing out, as a wart, a mole, etc. the time of flowering: an eruption of the skin. a commotion, fermentation, etc., as of liquors. compliance; consent; the act of agreeing. good deeds; kindness; great charity. the act of coinciding; agreement.

Pleth'o ric, full; swollen; puffed out.

phleg mat'ic, cold: dull; lacking emotion; unfeeling.

at ten'u at ed, very thin; meager.

ex u'ber ant, abundant; plentiful; flourishing; rich; luxuriant pro d'gious, great; huge; of immense size.

in'fin i tes"i mal, infinitely small.

e quiv'a lent, of equal value; alike.

syn on'y mous, meaning the same or nearly the same, as words.

ver nac'u lar,
ob'so les''cent,
going out of use, as a word; becoming obsolete.

706

Un qual'i fled, unprepared for the work at hand; unfit; not having the requisite ability.

ar'ehi tect, one whose profession is to plan houses, bridges, etc.

in'di rect"ly, not directly; in a roundabout manner. im pugned' (pūnd), attacked in speech; spoke against.

con'sci en"tious (shi), honest; sincere; upright.

en'gi neer", one who builds or manages engines; a surveyor. sen'su al. relating to the senses or passions; unspiritual.

in sol'vent, unable to pay debt; bankrupt.

in'sin cere", not sincere; deceitful.

par'si mo"ni ous, very frugal; stingy; tenacious of money.

707

Ca nine', relating to dogs; like a dog. bo'vine, relating to cattle; like an ox.

ce're al, relating to grain; any grain, as wheat, corn, etc.

lac'te al, milky; having or giving milk.

laeh'ry mal, tearful; causing tears.
cu ta'ne ous, relating to the skin.
in car'nate, having a body of flesh.

in çi'sive, sharp; pointed; having ability to cut.

in'côr po"re al, not having a body; unmaterial. [sky neb'u lous, cloudy; like a nebula or cloudy appearance in the Phra'se ol"o gy. pa tois' (pa twä'), no"men cla'tūre. con côrd'ance. ĕr ra'tum. ad den'dum. re dun'dan cv. per'o ra"tion, pal'imp sest.

manner of speech or writing; diction; style. a dialect or local language, as in France. a system of names or terms: vocabulary. an index, as to the Bible, etc. an error, as in printing. something to be added, as in books at the close. excess in the words of similar meaning. the last part of an oration. an old parchment with the original writing partly effaced, and another writing inscribed. a burlesque: a comical or contemptuous imitation.

trav'es ty,

709

Seho las'tic. con'ver sant. col lo'qui al. dog mat'ic, ex tem'po ra ry, val'e dic"to ry, sue cinct'. dif fūse', ver ba'tim. rhe tôr'ic al, relating to a scholar or school: formal; pedantic. well acquainted, as with a subject; familiar. relating to common conversation. bearing. positive in manner of speech; arrogant; overcomposed at the time, as a speech; extemporanea farewell address or oration, as at college. brief; concise; laconic; expressed in few words. scattered; spread; with many words. word by word; in the exact language. [oratorical. relating to the rules of rhetoric or composition;

710

El'i gi ble. ap'pli cant, for tu'i tous ly, su'per sēd"ed, im pol'i tic, oc'cu pant, a ver'sion, mal prac'tice, fa tal'i ty, fit; proper, as a candidate; suitable. one who applies for a place; an office-seeker. by chance; accidentally. took the office, place, or seat of another. not politic; unwise; imprudent. one who occupies; one who has possession. hate; disgust; abhorrence. sion. com mis'er a"tion, pity; sorrow for the distress of others; compasbad or wrong practice, as in medicine.

a certain or fatal occurrence; death.

Vet'er i na ry, gū'ber na to"ri al. mu nic'i pal, cos'mic al. oe'ci dent"al, ex of ic. in dig'e nous, ex trin'sic. in'ter ne"cine.

pertaining to the art of healing animals. el'ee mos"y na ry, relating to public charity, as a hospital, etc. pertaining to the office of a governor. relating to a city or its government. relating to the universe as a whole; universal. relating to the west; western. plant, etc. not native; introduced from a foreign country, as a native; not exotic; not transplanted. external; not intrinsic. deadly; destructive; mutually destructive to two sides, especially applying to civil wars.

712

Pro bos'cis. ehrys'a lis, fos'sil, an ten'naë. an'a con"da. an'i mal"cule. le vi'a than, eoch'i neal, ver mil'ion. al bu'men.

the trunk of an elephant. an insect in its first stage. the petrified form of an animal or plant. the feelers or horns of an insect. a large serpent of South America. a very minute animal. a whale; a monster; a large animal. a dye made of certain small insects. a beautiful red color. the white of an egg, etc.

713

Ca'ri ous, cal ca're ous. bib'u lous, bī ba'cious. sump'tu a ry, ad'i pōse, côr po're al, phys'ic al, psy'ehie, aq'ui lĭne, decaying, as a tooth. having the nature of limestone. absorbing, or drinking up, as a sponge, etc. addicted to drinking. relating to expense; regulating expenditure, as a material. fat; fatty. bodily; relating to the body; having a body; relating to force, or the laws of force. relating to the laws of mind. of the nose). curved, as the beak of an eagle (applied to a form Ul'ti mo. prox'i mo. max'i mum, min'i mum. tan"ta mount', păr"a mount'. pes'si mişm, op'ti mism, de sid'er a"tum. ter'mi nus.

the last preceding, as the last month. the next to come, as the next month. the greatest amount. the smallest amount. equivalent; of equal amount or value. of more than equal value; exceeding in value. a belief in the worst; looking on the dark side. a belief in the best; looking on the bright side. that which is desired. an end; a termination, as of a road.

715

Saç'er do"tal, pen'i ten"tial, om nip'o tent, tĕr res'tri al. be'a tif"ic, mun'dane. me'di aë"val. feū'dal. de mo'ni ăc. hal'cy on, relating to sacred things; priestly. repentant; having sorrow for past evil conduct. having all power, as the Deity. relating to the earth. blissful; happy; heavenly. relating to this world; earthly; worldly. relating to the middle ages. [condition of service. relating to feudalism, a system of holding lands on like a demon; devilish. peaceful; placid; quiet: delightful.

716

De lin'quent, av'a ri"cious, pred'e ces"sor, de te'ri o rāt ed. ef'fi ca cy, pa ro'ehi al, in'sti tu"tion, sur'rep tl"tious, ag gran'dĭze ment, faulty; remiss; guiltily idle; failing in duty. greedy for wealth. one who has preceded or gone before, as in office. un ques'tion a bly (chun), in a manner not to be doubted. made worse; lessened the value. power to cause effect; effectiveness; efficiency. relating to a parish. [society; a law, etc. anything instituted or established; a school; a secret; stealthy; underhand.

increase, as of wealth, power, etc.

vast; huge; like a giant. C⊽ clo pe'an, au to mat'ic. am'bi dex"trous. ec lec'tic. pi'na ry, mul'ti fôrm. having many forms. cu ne'i fôrm, co nif'er ous. cis al'pine. trans'at lan"tic.

like an automaton; having power in itself. having skill with both hands. chosen; selected; choosing parts from several double; dual, as binary stars. ters of the Persians, etc. having the form of a wedge, as the written characbearing cones, as the pine tree. relating to the countries on this side of the Alps. relating to the other side of the Atlantic.

718

Pan'e ġyr"ic, el'e gy. eŭ'lo ġy, sol'e çişm, syl'lo gişm, aph'o rism, syn op'sis, a pos'tro phē,

ep'i gram,

a speech of praise; an encomium. a funeral speech. a speech of praise. other author. pla'gia rism (ja), the act of dishonestly using the language of ana mistake in speech; ungrammatical construction. a logical form of argument; as, "All men are mortal; John is a man; therefore, John is mortal." a short, pithy sentence; an adage. of a subject. an abridgment; a summary of the principal parts an address to a person or thing: the mark ('). a short pithy sentence containing wit or wisdom.

719

Sa vänt' (vän), san'i ta"tion, dy nam'ics, dy'nas ty, a cous'tics. mne mon'ics. a'er o stat"ics. a'pex. mol'e cule, ģe ol'o ģy, a wise man; a man learned in science. the preservation of health, as of a city. the science of motion, or of moving forces. a race of successive monarchs. orations, etc. the science of sounds, as applied to public halls for the art of developing the memory. the science of air-force, etc. the highest point, as of a mountain, a cone, etc. a small particle; a union of atoms. erals, etc. the science of the structure of the earth, its min-

Per du', hidden; in hiding: lost. secret; unknown; very mysterious: spiritual. oc cult'. empty; barren; immature; unripe; green. je june'. nas'cent. beginning to exist; being born. first in time; original, as a forest. prī me'val, not infinite; limited; having beginning and end. fi'nīte, fac ti'tious. artificial; not natural: existing in the mind only. rec'on dite. hidden; secret: abstruse; profound. torture. cru'cial, severe, as a test; searching for the truth, as with pseü'do. a prefix meaning false or spurious.

721

a raincloud: halo over the head of a holy person. Nim'bus. a song of triumph or praise. paē'an, re'qui em. a hymn imploring rest for the dead. splendid effect; brilliance: applause. e clat (e cla'), pag'eant (pāj'ant), a show; a procession; a display. a session; a sitting. se ance' (sa ans'), followers reckon dates. flight: the flight of Mohammed, from which his he ģi'ra, hī ā'tus. a vacancy: a rent: an opening: a wide breach. the half of anything. moi'e ty, rest; quiet: end, as death. qui ē'tus,

722

E lyş'i um, paradise of the ancient heathen; a happy place. lē'thē, in fables, a river of the infernal regions: oblivion. em'py re"an, the highest heaven containing the original principle of fire before the creation. of Christ. mil len'ni um, a period of a thousand years; especially, the reign eha'os. confusion: a condition without order, as matter. pan'de mo"ni um, the hall of demons: riot; chaotic uproar. păr'a dīse. a place of blessedness; heaven. [prevails. ehris'ten dom (criss'n), the part of the world in which Christianity al'co ran, the scriptures of the Mohammedan religion. a poc'ry pha, books of the Bible whose inspiration is doubted.

Ör nāte',
ex'qui şīte,
in ef'fa ble,
tran scend'ent,
af'flu ent,
ef fūl'gent,
per spic'u ous,
pel lu'cid,
e lÿ'ṣian,
im mac'u late,

adorned; decorated; beautiful. [mired. delicately beautiful; elegant; greatly to be adunspeakable; unutterably excellent or glorious. highly superior; beyond ordinary excellence. [etc. flowing in, as a river, etc.; increasing, as in wealth, shining; glowing; emitting radiance. [stood. clear to the mind; capable of being clearly underallowing a degree of light to pass; almost transpertaining to elysium: happy; blissful. [parent. spotless; pure; without blemish.

724

Spīr'it u al işm, hy poth'e sis, am'bi gu"i ty, an ach'ro niam, a nom'a ly, par'a gon, lim'i ta"tion, en vi'ron ment, char'ac ter is"tio belief in communication with spirits.

any doctrine assumed but not yet proved; some thing assumed.

doubt; uncertainty as to meaning. an error as to time.

a violation of rule; an irregular or strange thing. a pattern; a piece of perfection; a perfect model. that which limits or bounds.

en vi'ron ment, surroundings; influences all around. [character. char'ac ter is''tic, that which marks the character; a feature of the id'i o syn''ora sy, a peculiar disposition or characteristic; a peculiarity.

725

Or gan'ic, sa'line,
sac'cha r'ine,
gla'cial,
la cus'tr'ine,
lig'ne ous,
ig'ne ous,
a'er i fôrm,
au rif'er ous,
fêr ry'gi nous,

relating to a necessary part, as of the body, etc.
of the nature of salt.
of the nature of sugar.
icy; relating to glaciers.
like a lake; widening out into lakes, as a river.
wooden; having the nature of wood.
relating to fire.
having the form or nature of air; resembling air producing gold, as ore; golden.
having the nature of iron; containing iron.

Mon'o ma"ni ac, a maniac on one subject; one controlled by a single idea.

bel'dam, an old woman, especially a hag.

fa nat'ic, one who is wild and unbalanced, as in religion.
sto'ic, a person who controls his emotions or feelings; an unfeeling person.

po'ten tate, a person having power, as a king, etc.

bar'on et, one of a rank of noblemen.

cham'pi on, a hero; a defender; a warrior. [child, etc. pro té gé ($pro't\bar{a} zh\bar{a}''$), one cared for by another, as an adopted in'ter $1\bar{o}''$ per, one who intrudes where he is unwelcome. [etc. nom'ad, one of a tribe of wanderers, as Tartars, Bedouins, keenness of intellect; sagacity. A cu'men, artifice; stratagem. fĭ nĕsse'. or purpose. a wandering of the thought; a whim; an odd fancy va ga'ry, pee'ca dil"lo. an offense; a petty fault. ā'li as, otherwise: another name by which a person is al'i bī, a plea that the accused was in another place when the crime was committed. the strong point. förte, the art, practice, work, etc., in which a person excels, pres'tige. the influence of success; power; popularity. aē'gĭs, anything that protects; a shield. er'mine, a small animal with fine fur: the dignity of a judge (whose robe was lined with ermine fur).

727

• ·

•

•

		-
		-

.

.

.

,

. .

